A Money-making Municipal Railroad.

"Mark my words," once said Sir William Van Horne to a deputation of the citizens of Guelph, "the day will come when that little railway of yours will just about pay all your taxes."

The big railroad magnate referred to the Guelph Junction Railway, a short line some fifteen or sixteen miles in length, extending from the centre of the city to Guelph Junction, a point near Campbellsville on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Built by the people of Guelph away back in 1887, it seems destined to fulfil Sir William's prophecy, for last year it earned the City of Guelph over $27,500, and year by year its earnings are increasing by leaps and bounds.

It is by no means the first or only example of a municipally-owned steam railway. The unique feature about this little railway is not that it is owned by a municipality, but that in process of time it has become a link in what is destined to become a most important feeder of a transcontinental road, viz., the Guelph and Goderich branch of the C. P. R. with all its existent and projected auxiliary lines, traversing a rich and fertile section of old Ontario. Furtermore, when, as is not improbable, the Guelph and Goderich line is pushed eastward to Hamilton and Buffalo, its importance will be still more enhanced, for it will then become part of a through line, over which coal and other American merchandise will be carried cheaply to a large section of Western Ontario. At the present time, under the terms of its agreement with the C. P. R., every ton of freight originating on the Guelph and Goderich division, or its branches and billed to any point beyond Guelph, must pass over the Guelph Junction Railway Company's line and pay its toll to the people of Guelph.—Arthur Conrad in June Busy Man's.

The Advantages Of Out-Door Sleeping.

A good many people are discovering that it pays to sleep out of doors and the pity of it is that so many have waited until they have no lungs to speak of before making the discovery. But now in this year nineteen hundred and ten there is what I came near calling a wave of interest in outdoor sleeping, but perhaps it is only a wavelet. In certain communities this wavelet has rolled up in a sort of fad, and it is spreading out and rolling higher month by month so that in course of time it will doubtless become a strong, husky breaker that shall sweep away our indoor maladies. For where outdoor sleeping has once become a fad it soon becomes a fixed habit. No one who has thoroughly enjoyed his bed in the open, night after night and summer and winter, ever willingly relinguishes it and is generally eager to get back to it. And here are some of the reasons;

The sweet feeling of naturalness and bodily well-being.

Freedom from insomnia, for which outdoor sleeping in an absolute specific.

The wonderful recuperative and vitalizing process of which one quickly reaps the benefit, even though at first badly run down in physique.

The consciousness of escape from conditions that hamper if they do not actually threaten human life.

Immunity from colds and diseases as they engender.—June Busy Man's.

Child-Wife Took Poison.

Kingston, June 13.—Mrs William Benn, Earl street, the fifteen-year-old wife of Hosery Mill, a weaver, in a spirit of bravado after a quarrel with her husband on Saturday night, drank about an ounce of laudanum. Her husband snapped the bottle from her and hurried out for a doctor, who had the girl removed to the General Hospital. After treatment and being walked about the corridors all night the child-wife was able to return to her home to-day.

Try The Money-Back Cure For Indigestion.

Nine times out of ten stomach derangements are responsible for sallow complexion, dull eyes and thin body.

It is the stomach that supplies nourishing blood to the muscles, the nerves, and skin If the stomach is healthy, plenty of nutritous matter will be absorbed by the blood. If it is not healthy, the food will ferment, and undigested, will pass along through the bowels, furnishing so littles nutritous matter that the blood becomes improvished and the glow of health vanishes.

If you suffer from nervousness, sick headache, belching of gas, sour taste in mouth, heaviness after eating, or any other miserable stomach disturbance, you need Mi-o-na, and the sooner you get it the quicker you will be healthier and happier.

It will relieve any distressed stomach condition almost immediately. It will cure if used according to directions. T. E. Morrow sells it for 50 cents a box, and he thinks enough of it to guarantee it to cure indigestion.

Gas Ring

For heating the house during chilly spring and autumn days

You can have the GAS RING Attachment with the Sunshine furnace. This is a recent McClary invention—and a very desirable convenience.

After you let out the furnace in the spring, and in the early autumn before the winter's coal supply is ordered, there are often chilly days when some warmth from the furnace is desirable. Then the GAS RING is appreciated. Just light it for an hour or two and the house will be comfortable.

Unlike a gas log, the GAS RING does not require removing or the gas pipe disconnected. Instead, it's a permanent feature. It simply takes the place of the lower section of the fire-pot.

The GAS RING is always ready for use. It cannot be clogged up with dust or ashes. It's very economical. If your coal fire should go out you can easily start it going again by lighting the GAS RING.

If our agent cannot give you complete information about the GAS RING write direct to us. 49
