SOMETHING NEW FOR HIM

He said with a sigh
This is Easter morn
And I haven't a thing
That I have not worn.
His wife gave a smile,
Now, don't make a heller,
You have something new,
The starch in your collar.
But if you are envious
Of me looking so neat,
You can have something new
By washing your feet.

House. The game of the Senate was the absence of any representation for the "Thirteen" on the special committee named by the House to deal with the Government's proposed agreement with Sir William Peterson to get control of ocean freight rates. After some warm exchanges, especially between Robert Forke, leader of the Progressives, R. H. Halbert (N. Ontario) and Mr. Good two members of the Progressive party who were proposed for the Committee, Mr. Halbert and Harry Leader (Portage La Prairie) offered to vacate their places to make way for a member of the "Thirteen." The offer of Mr. Leader was accepted, and the next day the Prime Minister announced that Mr. Leader's place on the committee would be taken by Joseph T. Shaw (West Calgary).

SPEECHES OF THE WEEK

Important contributions to the Budget debate were made during the week by two members of the Cabinet —Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, and Hon. Dr. James H. King, Minister of Public Works (Kootenay, B.C.). Both of these ministers delivered excellent speeches, the best from either in two or three sessions. While both were subjected to considerable interruption both from the Conservatives and the Progressives, they made good headway and firmly established the points they sought to make. To Dr. King must be credited one of the neatest retorts of the session. Hon. H. H. Stevens (Centre Vancouver), one of the Conservative speakers who took part in the debate earlier in the week, spoke rather boastfully of the fine response which had met his utterances in Great Britain last summer. Dr. King reminded Mr. Stevens that the latter had probably confused response with courtesy.

Hon. Mr. Stewart, in his speech, devoted considerable time in refuting Conservative arguments calculated to show that Canada's position, financially and commercially, was very bad and that the future offered no bright promise unless the Conservatives were returned to power. His concluding words were:—"I have pointed out to Hon. gentlemen opposite that the picture they have painted is not the picture that should be painted of Canadian industry or agriculture, but rather that we in Canada are suffering only in common with the United States and Great Britain and the continent; that we are going through exactly the same experiences. I wish to point out the fallacy that hon. gentlemen hold up to the House and the country, that a change in the tariff, high protection, will be the panacea and cure for all our ills. Upon that statement I rest content, leaving it to the judgment of the country and of this House."

NO SECTIONAL APPEALS

Hon. Dr. King denied the Conservative stories that in his visit last fall to Western Canada the Prime Minister delivered speeches different from what he delivered in the East. He told of a newspaper man who had accompanied the Prime Minister thru the Western provinces and who also went to Toronto to report the great meeting in Massey Hall. Dr. King said the reporter told him that after the meeting he simply wired to his Vancouver paper that the Prime Minister delivered the same speech in Toronto that he had made in the West and that there was no need of wiring a report of it again. "I believe," said Dr. King in conclusion, "the people are desirous that the Government should proceed in an even and proper manner with the business of the country. I am satisfied that there exists throughout Canada today a general opinion among the people that the affairs of the country are being properly administered, particularly having regard to the difficulties which the Government have to confront and to the conditions which have been prevailing."
