It is reported that several young boys in Jarvis have been seen smoking. Over and above the injury to their health and growth in this practice these lads must not forget that the law of the country absolutely forbids boys under 18 years of age to use or have tobacco. There is a call to parents here to watch their boys, and to merchants to be careful to whom they sell tobacco.

The members of the Women's Institute have every reason to feel elated over the success which attended their social function, which took place at the home of Mrs. T. E. Morrow on Friday afternoon of last week. The home was thrown open to the visitors. The apron counter which was presided over by Mrs. A. Meehan and Mrs. G. Histed was the centre of attraction while they lasted, and judging by their smiling countenances they fairly "coined the cash" as the saying is, nevertheless when the last apron was sold $16.75 was collected. From 4 to 8 tea was served, small tables being laid in different rooms and every one appeared to be enjoying the tempting deliencies set before them. Death of Bishop DuMoulin

Canon Belt received a telephone message this morning announcing the death of Bishop DuMoulin. Arrangements for the funeral will be made at a meeting of the Standing Committee to-day. Bishop DuMoulin was in his 75th year and after winning a foremost place in the Canadian Church was consecrated Bishop of Niagara on June 24th, 1896. To Our Subscribers

The Record's subscription list has been corrected to March 25, 1911, and we find we have considerable money coming to us. Look at the label on your paper and see how you stand. If you do not understand the label see us about it. As we are building a new home for The Record this summer we need all the ready cash we can get, and ask YOU to kindly help us by paying up for YOUR paper. A few weeks ago we sent out a large number of accounts for subscriptions and quite a number have been paid, but not nearly as many as should have been. To those who have paid we thank, and to those who have not we say please pay up. On a number of these accounts we wrote that "If not settled by March 31st they would be placed in other hands for collection." We intend to do as we said and to charge $1.50 per year for same. We do not want to be hard but when people owe us from three to eight or nine years its time to make them settle. Settle if you you do not want costs added.

Fess--Underhill Nuptials

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Underhill was the scene of a quiet yet pretty wedding, on Wednesday, March 22nd, when their eldest daughter, Miss Clara M., became the happy bride of Frederick Fess. At 3:30 the bride appeared, gowned in a handsome travelling suit of King's blue, and looked the picture of lovliness; she was attended by her sister Miss Ella, while Charles Parkinson did the duties of best man. The mystic words that made these two one, was pronounced by Rev. Arthur Clare Eddy, in the presence of only the immediate friends of the family. After a dainty luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Fess left on the 5.30 train for Hamilton and Buffalo, where they are enjoying their honeymoon. Both the bride and groom are very popular and we bespeak for them a happy and prosperous wedded life. The gifts were numerous, dainty and costly. They intend taking up their residence in the house at present occupied by Isaac Jacques.

Death of Mrs. Jackson

On Friday, March 17th, death removed from our midst a much respected member of the community, in the person of Mrs. W. F. Jackson. Deceased's maiden name was Annie Ross, and she was born in Port Dover in 1868. She was united in marriage with Frederick W. Jackson in 1890. She had been in poor health for about five months, death being due to heart failure. Mrs. Jackson was a member of the Anglican church and took great interest in all church work. She had a very kind and loving disposition and was devoted to her family. A husband, two daughters, one son, four sisters and three brothers survive. The funeral took place Monday, March 20th, and was one of the largest ever held in this vicinity. The service was conducted by Rev. H. J. Leake.

Millinery Openings

Friday and Saturday of last week were the opening days in the millinery departments at J. A. Burwash's and Miller, MacFarlane Co. The weather was all that could be desired and the ladies turned out in large numbers. Spring was suggested everywhere.

As for the millinery itself, what better praise could there be than this: Many a woman who came to look came also to quick decision to buy, satisfied that to wait would be folly, when the flower of [illegible]

J. A. BURWASH

The show room was tastefully adorned, Flowers, Palms and Foliage in profusion had been arranged to enhance the beauty of a brilliant array of head gear. Miss Little and Miss Shirley Rodgers catered to the wants of the ladies. As to the hats themselves much might be written to little purpose in the way of giving an idea to the endless variety of beautiful forms in which they are confected. Speaking generally small hats are popular for early spring. Beautiful hats are featured in a superb showing of moderately priced millinery. The brims are sweeping or close fitting to meet different tastes; the braids employed are chiefly tagel, mohair, and chip; and wings mounts and flowers are leading features of trimming—also swathing appear in adaptations of silk, velvet, ribbon, lace and net.

MILLER, MACFARLANE CO.

If pleasing styles in all the picturesque elegance of their designing and trimming will produce results then this parlor was the centre of attraction. The styles selected were exclusive to meet the taste of each lady. Stylish shaped turbans, large Mohair shapes, handsomely trimmed with shaded rosee, straw and velvet, rolling brim shapes, trimmed with wings, velvet and mounts, in beautiful new and effective shades, also some very neat and stylish black straw hats trimmed with new effects were to be seen in large numbers. Miss Britton and her able staff were kept busy and many the pleasing remark was heard of the novel creation in hats in this pretty little show room.

Where is J. Y. Murdoch?

Three Warrants Sworn Out Against Him

Informations were laid and three warrants sworn out on Friday evening against J. Y. Murdoch, for theft, embezzlement and forgery. Crown Attorney Murphy came to Jarvis Friday morning and on his instructions the necessary documents were sworn to before Mr. Chas E. Bourne, J.P. Mr. Murphy states that he has the assurrance of the Attorney-General that the department will do everything in its power to bring the absconding lawyer back from wherever he may be. Application will be made by Mr. Murphy to the Attorney General's Department for Murdoch's extradition, if he be in the United States. It is stated positively that Murdoch was seen in Chicago on March 14th.

The three cases which have been chosen as typical in which to prosecute are those of John L. Waters, Jarvis; Mrs. Chas. Jackson, widow of Jarvis; and John Mulholland of Toledo, Ohio, on behalf of his wife. The charges are the theft of $1,350 from John L. Waters in a transaction in September, 1908. Mr. Waters, along with Wm. Overholt, was the executor of the estate of former's late mother and they had this money in trust for Waters' infant son. Mr. Waters gave the money into Murdoch's charge to invest. According to Waters, Murdoch represented to him that he purchased a mortgage with it on the farm of Daniel Kendry of Nanticoke. After Murdock's disappearance inquiry was made which revealed that there is no mortgage on this property. Mr. Waters himself did not know whether there was or not, he had never seen a mortgage and had taken Murdoch's word for it.

John Mullholland of Toledo claims that his wife, formerly of Jarvis, had left Murdoch to collect $1,700 for paying off a mortgage on a property near Drayton. This money is said to have come to the bank here and to have been withdrawn by Murdoch just the day before he went away. Mr. Mullholland being a native of the United States, will appeal to the Attorney General at Washington to work in conjunction with the authorities of this country to bring Murdoch to justice.

The alleged forgery is the signature of the name of William Sallou to a false mortgage for $1,500 which Murdoch had sold to Mrs. Jackson. Sallon had lived near Port Dover, whereas the property the mortgage is made out for is near Jarvis.

The daily papers of Saturday published the following dispatch:—

Calgary, Alberta, March 24.—J. Y. Murdoch, the defaulting lawyer of Jarvis, Ont., who disappeared from that town after robbing his clients of $70,000 or thereabouts, was in Calgary two days ago. This statement was made this morning by [illegible] Calgary man, who knows Murdoch well, and saw and spoke to him, but he has not been seen since. Chief Mackie stated this morning that he had received no request for Murdoch's apprehension, so that he could walk down 8th avenue unmolested to-day so far as the local authorities are concerned.

Cases in which details are known of people in Jarvis and vicinity having lost money through the disappearance Murdoch are as follows:—Mrs. Chas. Jackson, $1,750; Mrs. John Mulholland, nee Miss Tillie Rodgers, $1,780; Watters Estate, $1,250; Alex. Bartlett, $1,400; Mrs. Hoover, $500; William Parkinson, $300; John McMicken, $250; William Chambers, $200; F. M. Hewson, $150; Dr. Newell, $150; Wm. Ashbaugh, $100; Thos. Harris, $50.

The Queen's Maries

On the occasion of the Coronation of the Queen it is proposed that the Maries of Canada shall unite with their namesakes throughout the British Empire in offering a gift to her Majesty. The Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire have been asked to collect for the gift in Ontario. Contributions will be received from 5 cents to $5, and may be given only by those who bear the name of Mary, May, Maria, Marian or Marie. The amount collected is not so important as the number of names. A list of contributors will be forwarded but not the amount given by each. The choice of the gift will be left entirely to the Queen. It is hoped that the Maries of Canada will appreciate the opportunity of showing their affectionate loyalty to Queen Mary. The list must be closed by April 20th. As the time is so short it would greatly help the Committee if all who are interested will send in contributions, with names in full as early as possible to Mrs. (Mary) Belt, The Rectory, Jarvis, or to Miss Plummer, Sylvan Tower, Toronto.
