The Moratorium

This Act was passed at the last session of the Legislature and assented to by the Lieutenant Governor on 8th April, 1915, but by express provision therein contained, the Act took effect as of August 4th, 1914. It is distinctly a "War Measure." When the draft of the Act was first presented to the House it was called "The Moratorium Act," but objection was made to such name on the ground that it would injure the credit of the Province abroad and the name was therefore changed to "The Mortgagors and Purchasers' Relief Act."

It affects only mortgages and agreements of sale made or executed prior to August 4th, 1914.

By reason of its provisions no action can be taken for the collection of principal moneys due under a mortgage or agreement of sale, entered into before said date, until the Mortgagee or Vendor has applied for and obtained the permission of the Court. Upon such application the debtor has a right to be heard and if he can show that his inability to pay is caused either directly or indirectly by the war, then the Court may refuse to allow the Mortgagee or Vendor to enforce his security or it can make such terms as to payment or give such extensions as to it may seem just. But if default is made as to rent, insurance, taxes or other disbursements which the mortgagor or purchaser has has covenanted to pay then the rights of the Mortgagee or Vendor are the same as if the Act had never been passed, with this one exception, viz., the Mortgagor or Purchaser has the righ tto pay such arrears into Court and thus prevent the Mortgagee or Vendor from continuing his proceedings until he obtains the permission of the Court.

In concluding, I will point out briefly the chief features of the Act.—

First—It does not affect the rights of parties to a Mortgage or Agreement of Sale made after August 4th, 1914.

Second—It does not prevent a Mortgagee or Vendor from taking proceedings to collect arrears of interest, taxes, etc.,

Third—If interest is paid to date, it requires a Mortgagee or Vendor to obtain the permission of the Court before commencing to exercise his right of foreclosure, sale, forfeiture or other remedy reserved to him in his security.

Fourth—If interest is in arrears it does not affect a Mortgagee's or Purchaser's rights with the one exception noted above.

The operation of the Act may be determined at any time by the Lieutenant Governor in Council, but in the absence of an order from this body the Act will have effect during the continuance of the war and for a period of nine months thereafter, unless in the meantime a session of the Legislature is held in which case the Act will cease at the expiration of thirty days from the close of such session.
