Toronto Man Dies in Hamilton

Hamilton, Sept. 6.—About 11.30 this morning the body of N. L. Alderson 186 Evelyn Ave., Toronto, was found in a bathroom at the King George Hotel, he having succumbed to heart trouble shortly before. Drs. Anderson and Hopkins were called in, and it was decided that an inquest was not necessary. He was identified by a card in his pocket bearing his name and address. His relatives in Toronto were notified and took charge of the remains.

Mr. Alderson had not been feeling well for some time, and had been affected with heart trouble. He went out on a business trip about two weeks ago. He was 62 years old nd was born in Summerville. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

N. L. Alderson was a brother of Mrs. (Dr.) Bennett, and Mr. Murray Alderson, formerly of Jarvis. Deceased's wife was formerly Miss Phoebe Ivey, a daughter of the late Henry Ivey.

The funeral of the late N. L. Alderson took place from the morning train from Ha nilton this Wednesday morning, the Rev. J. G. Foote officiating with interment in the Methodist Church cemetery.

FRUIT NEWS

Burbanks, GGages and Bradshaw Plums also Triumph Peaches are now at their best for canning. The thrifty Housewife will put up more fruit this year than ever before—Plums with their numerous varieties present a change for table dessert which is not possible with any other variety of fruit. Peaches, are especially favorable as a home-canning and preserving fruit—easily preserved and delicious when served on the table. Grocers are quite willing to book orders ahead and house holders should see their dealers in good time as this year is a home canning year if ever there was one.

Norfolk Man Was Popular

Sergt.-Major Bottomley Was Well Liked by His Men —Died Heroically.

(Simcoe Reformer.)

Mrs. J. W. Bottomley has been the recipient lately of a couple of letters describing the gallant death in action of her husband, Sergt-Major J. W. Bottomley, at Bukoka, German East Africa, on June 23rd. One letter was written by his commanding officer, Major Leitch, and the other was written to a friend of Sergt.-Major Bottomley, C. A. Hood, of Leeds, England, and sent by the latter to Mrs. Bottomley. Norfolk is the native county of "Jack" Bottomley, and his many friends will be interested in hearing of the brave end of one who lost his life in attempting to defend the unselfish and great aims of the British Empire.

The letters follow,—

In the Field,
June 26, 1915.

Mrs. J. W. Bottomley,
Niagara Falls, Ont.

Dear Madam,—

In extending to you and your family my sympathy at the death in action on June 23 of your gallant husband, (my Sergt.-Major), I wish to place on record the splendid work he had done in the regiment from the date of his joining up to he hour of his death. He was loved by all ranks, and all remember with pride his heroic conduct in the feild. He fell (as he would have wished to fall) at the head of his men, charging the German guns. He died peaceably and almost instantly, and was buried the same evening in the park of the captured town of Bukoba, German East Africa, surrounded by his men whom he had so gallantly led, and who had died with him.

Having come from Hamilton, Ont., myself, and knowing your husband previously, we had become very close friends and his loss was a great blow to me.

Your obedient servant,
JOHN S. LEITCH,
Major Commanding C. Co'y.
25th Royal Fusiliers.

17 Lynton Road,
W. Croydon.
Aug. 9, 1915.

Dear Sir,—

Thanks for yours of the 9th ult. I have received the enclosure from the war office. There is a man in Croydon who says that he was in the trench with our friend Jack when he was killed. This man is home suffering from shrapnel wounds in the leg. He says that Jack was wounded three times during the morning, but refused to go back to have his wounds attended to, saying that his place was with his men. Soon Safter this a Maxim gun finished him, and there were twenty-four wounds on his body. There was a howl of rage in their trench when it happened. If anything more should be heard, I will at once forward, as perhaps you may think it right to pass same on to Mrs. Bottomley. If you do, will you be so kind as to express to her our deepest sympathy.

We felt his loss more than you might suppose after such short acquaintance. We would be pleased to hear from Mrs. Bottomley if she cared to write.

Although what this soldier says is more than the official statement, I quite believe it to be true, as know how all his men, without exception, loved him.

I am, sir,
Yours faithfully,
GEO. ADAMS.

C. A. Hood, Esq.,
Leeds, England.

A RECORD WITHOUT PARALLEL

New York Herald.—"In view of the activity of the German and Austrian submarines in the present war, the comparative imunity from loss has been the more remarkable when the enormous proportions of the traffic are considered. A report to the British parliament by the first lord of the admiralty stated, that in the first six months there had been moved by sea, including Belgian and French troops, more than one million men without any accident or loss of life. Another six months passed since this statement was made before the loss of a transport occured—a record truly without parallel in the history of warfare and a tribute to the efficiency of the Allies' sea power.

Contracts Awarded

The Good Roads Committee of the County Council met at the Court House, on Friday, and awarded the the tenders for seven bridges. Mr. Frank McMullen got the two in S. Cayuga; Mr. Mel. Runchey got three on the third line in Seneca; Mr. D. S. Winger, Springvale, got the big bridge at St. Anne's Church, Walpole, and also the building of the abutments on the Boston Creek bridge between Hagersville and Caledonia. Messrs. McMullen & Runchey, jointly build the bridge at Sinclairville.

Forty French Airmen bombed Saarbrucken, thus avenging the German raid on the open town of Luneville.

Vetch Being Grown on Norfolk's Sandy Soil

Farmers on the light land in Norfolk have been experimenting with a mixed crop of rye and vetch, and the result is encouraging. Some of the farmers in Walsingham tried it out this year and were delighted with the results. It is likely that a larger acreage will be put in next year. The crop lends itself to pasture or fodder for the winter.

September Rod and Gun

Rod and Gun for September is out and is a special duck shooting number. Bonnycastle Dale the naturalist writer contributes the opening article, a readable one, on "Live Decoys, Ducks and Shooting over Them." "Duck Shooting in the Cariboo" is an amusing story of the experiences of two duck hunters who saw plenty of ducks but failed to shoot any. "After the Black Ducks", "Two Hundred Miles of Geese," "Duck Breeding in the Park Country, Alberta," are other stories that give a wild duck flavor to this number, and in addition there are other interesting stories of outdoor life besides the regular departments devoted to gunning and fishing. W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., are publishers of this magazine of outdoor life.

MODERN LIFE.

Kansas City Journal.—"Guess you have time to play another game of pool." "Wont your wife scold about keeping dinner waiting?" "No. I think I'd better allow her a little leeway about dinner. I just saw her scudding by with a bridge prize under the other."

FISHERVILLE WINNERS.

Mr. Richard Fess, of Fisherville, won prizes on his 'Winter King' fall wheat, at the Field Crop Contest at Toronto Exhibition.

ASKS $10,000 DAMAGES.

Ben Cohen of Dunnville, has issued a writ against B. L. Depotty, for $10,000, the action arising from the recent accident in which Mr. Cohen's little son was killed by defendant's car.

The Gackwar of Baroda has given $160,000 to provide aeroplanes for use on the British front.

The body of Major Duval, of St. John's N.B., on its way home for burial, was lost on the Hesperian.
