"Quiet Day" At Nanticoke

On Tuesday a goodly number of the members of the Anglican Churches of the Deanery of Haldimand gathered for a "Quiet Day" at Nanticoke. The parishes of Caledonia, Cayuga, York, Jarvis were all represented as well as a number of Nanticoke friends. Upon arrival the Holy Communion was administered at Christ's Church, the Ven. Archdeacon Perry, M.A. and the Rev. J. Hirst Ross, R.D. officiating. After service adjournment was made to the Grove where beside the lake a most delightful meal was served. Threatening clouds caused the main proceedings of the afternoon to be commenced early and after a hymn and prayer the Rev. J. Hirst Ross asked the Archdeacon, whom he said all present welcomed very heartily indeed, to give his address.

Archdeacon Perry introduced his subject by speaking of the great interest which we all must feel to-day in watching prophecy being fulfilled before our eyes and in seeing the Jews preparing to return to their inheritance in Palestine. Persecuted and prescribed, despised and suffering they had been for oenturies, their history is one of bloodshed and cruelty, yet in spite of all the national spirit has snrvived and now very many, though by no means all, are hastening back to Palestine. Here we might see direct fulfillment of Old Testament Scriptnres, and as we watch the way in which God was working his purposes out it was of supreme importance that we should endeavor to fall in line with the divine purpose in these wonderful days and by prayer and devotion, by self-sacrifice and self-surrender, seek as much as in us lies to make Canada ready for the return of our Lord from heaven. Christ is the only hope of this present age. He alone can bring peace and order out of the present all prevailing political and social chaos. Archdeacon Perry's address was listened to with the utmost attention and not even the bursting of the storm which necessitated a retreat under cover to an adjoining house and the completion of the address there could detract from the very deep interest with which it was followed. At the close of the proceedings Mr. Brand voiced the gratitude of all present to the speaker for his weighty words, and the Archdeacon expressed the thanks of visitors to the Nanticoke ladies for their hospitality and efforts for their comfort.

Undoubtedly but for the threatening weatner a much greater number would have been present, and it is hoped that this meeting may be regarded as the first of a series of such gatherings to deepen and promote the spiritual life of the Church in this part of the Diocese.

BASEBALL

Jarvis Beaten at Rainham Centre in Opening of League —Game Protested.

The Haldimand County Baseball League season opened on Thursday last, the Jarvis team going to Rainham Centre for the opener. The game was played under proteet on the grounds that the Rainham Centre players were ineligible their certificates not having been signed by the Secretary of the league. Jarvis decided to play the game and leave the ruling in the matter to league officials.

The game was won by Rainham Centre 8 to 4, but the play looked more even than the score indicates. The locals are a young team, this being the first season for some of them, and they certainly made a creditable showing against more experienced players, and will no doubt show considerable improvement before the season closes. The umpires were Bev. A. W. Hare, of Jarvis, and Mr. R. Dumoresq, London, and their work gave general satisfaction to both teams. The following score tells the story :—

Institute Meeting

The Summer meeting of the Jarvis Women's Institute will be held in Chambers' hall here on Friday afternoon, when Varency, Nanticoke and Sandusk Institutes will meet here also. The meeting will be held at 2.30, and will be addressed by Miss Jean Grant, Beecher, whose subjects are "Some Things Worth While," "Improving our Country Communities," "The Home Library," "Institute work—Its Advantages and possibilities," and "The Food Problem of To-day. Light lunch will be served. Everybody welcome.

About 35 acres of tobacco will be grown this year in Haldimand. It is said that a return of 30 cents per pound on tobacco makes a good paying crop. The market is said to be somewhat of a gambling proposition, however.

A few of the band boys went to Caledonia on Sunday afternoon and assisted the Caledonia Band in leading the Oddfellows march to the Methodist Church, where the service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Copeland.

John Walker, one of our popular Short Horn Breeders, recently sold a calf to Russell Middleton, of Lucknow, for the nice price of $300. Mr. Walker is not only a breeder of good individuals but his herd is composed of a milking strain as well rarely to be found.

Mr. Thos. Cowan. of Walpole, met with a very painful accident on Saturday, having the misfortune to get kicked on the leg by one of his horses, causing a very bad fracture below the knee. Dr. Leatherdale was summoned and he was taken to the hospital in Hamilton.

A Message From The Far North

A Christian Indian, belonging to one of the tribes living near to the banks of the Mackenxie river, had been absent a long time from his home, hunting and trapping. At length he returned, late in the evening. He found, however, all the adult members of the tribe away. They had gone fifty miles away to attend a Communion service that was to be held on the morrow.

Tired and exhausted as he was, the man, despite his long journey, started out afresh and travelled all the night through across the snow, the bitter cold causing the deer-skin throngs to cut deeply into his feet. All the night through he kept on his way but the service had already commenced when he arrived. And when he left his place to kneel at the Lord's Table he left footprints all the way up the aisle, marked with blood which had melted in the warmth of the church.

Fifty miles to attend a church! A long night journey in mid-winter alone across the snow and ice. Does not the story put to shame many of our easy-going church members with whom we are acquainted. How many of us profess to follow a crucified Saviour? We sing hymns lustily about "warfare and pilgrimage," we have solomnly declared that our duty towards God is to believe in Him, to fear Him and to love Him, to worship Him and to give Him thanks, and yet we readily allow the most shallow and trivial excuses to deter us from being present at the services of God's house and offering Him that worship which He requires.

There is no need for us to make a fifty mile journey across ice and snow. A very few minutes' walk will suffice to take us to the church door. But in winter we say "Oh it is too cold to venture out" despite the fact that the following evening we fully intend to drive 12 miles to a euchre party, and forgetful that our fathers in former days wonld allow neither wind nor storm to keep them from their place in the house of God.

In summer again "Oh it is too hot in church" and we prefer a rocking chair on the veranda to taking our part in the worship of Almighty God.

The question after all that needs to be settled is this: Is our Christianity anything more than a name? If it is not, then by all means let us be done with sham and humbug and pretense. Let us not again trouble to attend any church, let us live

"Just as if Jesus had never lived,
As if He had never died."

"Let us eat and drink, remembering that to-morrow we must die." Let us make the most of this world, its gaudy toys and fleeting pleasures. Only let us remember that God hath appointed Him a day in which He will judge the world by that man whom He hath ordained, whereof He hath given assurance unto all men in that He hath raised Him from the dead. And let us remember too that the excuses that now come so readily to our lips for our neglect of His service we must make to Him whose eyes are as a flame of fire and who will by no means clear the guilty,

But if our religion is to us the golden chain whereby we are linked to God, if we attend our service not as a matter of habit but as a means of grace to our souls and as a means oi influencing others, then we ohvll not rest until our churches here in Canada are at least as full on the Sunday as our places of amusement are full during the week.

Above all let us remember that people will go for what they want. If they want Christ they will go where His name is preached and His gospel proclaimed, His mercy made known, and the converse is also true, if they neglect the worship of the house of God, they are saying by their actions, if not with their lips, "We will not have this Man to reign over us." "Away with Him, crucify Him, but release unto us, Barabbas."
