REAL THING PICTURED

Natural Scenery Fine Background for "To The Last Man"

The genuine backwoodsman is apparently replacing the scenery carpenter in the construction of motion picture sets for work on location. Improved lighting and photography and the fact that most audiences are "from Missouri," have made it necessary, state directors, to build the real thing instead of false sets.

In the filming of "To The Last Man," a Zane Grey production, coming to the Regah Theatre, Hagersville, next Friday and Saturday, an exact reproduction of a pioneer settlement in the rugged mountains of Arizona was made in the Tonto Basin. On this trip into the wilds, the scenery carpenters were left behind and a group of axmen enlisted who could hew real logs rather than juggle paper mache. A reproduction of a settlement consisting of twelve dwellings, the lower stories of which were built of stone, was made. Logs and rough-hewn boards and shingles were used to complete the buildings.

Victor Fleming directed the picture for Paramount and the featured players are Richard Dix and Lois Wilson with Noah Beery, Robert Edeson and Frank Campeau in support. The story is that of a feud fought out literally to the last man. It was adapted from a novel by Zane Grey.

TO FACE TRIAL ON MURDER COUNT

HAGERSVILLE WOMAN COMMITTED BY MAGISTRATE AT CAYUGA

CAYUGA, July 10.—Mrs. Nellie Gilbertson, of Hagersville, must face trial on a charge of murdering her husband, George A. Gilbertson, whose death occurred on June 22, under suspicious circumstances. The accused was committed for trial by Police Magistrate Massie here this afternoon at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing, which opened in Hagersville on Tuesday.

The crown alleges that Mrs. Gilbertson caused her husband's death by administering strychnine.

Two witnesses were examined at the resumed hearing today. Dr. McCracken, of Hagersville, who was called to the Gilbertson home on the 22nd of June by Fred McDonald, testified that he found Mr. Gilbertson ill. The patient said he had taken a quinine capsule and Mrs. Gilbertson had corroborated this and said she also had taken one of the capsules. A part of this evidence was objected to by R. S. Colter, defense counsel.

STRYCHNINE INDICATED

Dr. McCracken told the court that while he was in the house the deceased had three convulsions and died while he was absent for about six minutes to return to his office. He believed that death was due to strychnine poisoning and gav as one symptom, on which he based his conclusion, that Mr. Gilbertson was clear mentally between these spasms. Such a condition was unusual except in cases of strychnine poisoning. He conducted the postmortem on the day following the death and sent the stomach to Toronto for analysis.

Rev. J. M. Whitelaw testified that in December, 1920, Mrs. Gilbertson wrote him, asking if he could obtain her a divorce from her husband. The session of the church had taken the matter up and had informed her that it was not possible.

Asked at the conclusion of the hearing whether she wished any of the evidence read, or had anything to say, Mrs. Gilbertson's eply was a simple "No."

In arguing the case for the accused Mr. Colter contended that no evidence had been produced to prove that Mrs. Gilbertson had anything to do with her husband's death. Crown Attorney Arrell, on the other hand, declared that evidence given at the sitting in Hagersville showed motive and that no evidence had been brought forward to indicate suicide.

POULTRY DEMONSTRATIONS IN HALDIMAND

The plan outlined in poultry extension work for Haldimand County is as follows:

"Instead of culling individual farmers' flocks, we have arranged for public demonstrations at five points in the county, the idea being to have a large number of farmers come to each of these points and learn to cull the poultry for themselves. In this way, we will reach a larger number of people and hope that more good will be accomplished. At the poultry demonstrations, the farmers will have an opportunity of learning how to cull and kill their own birds."

The demonstrations will be held at the farms of Mr. George Wharton, Cayuga, Monday, July 28th, at 2 p.m.; Mr. M. B. Shaver, Canboro, Tuesday, July 29th, at 10 a.m.; Mr. Carl Schumacher, Fisherville, Tuesday, July 29, at 2 p.m.; Mr. Ross Martindale, York, Wednesday, July 30th, at 10 a.m.; Mr. J. J. Persons, Jarvis, Wednesday, July 30th, at 2 p.m. The program for each of these demonstrations is as follows:

(1) Demonstration, Culling. Practical work by the audience.

(2) Demonstration, Killing. Practical work by the audience.

(3) Address, "Marketing Poultry Produce."

(4) Questions and Answers on Poultry.

Everybody welcome to attend. Ladies especially invited.

As the expert from Guelph College is spending only three days in the county, we especially request that anyone interested in poultry will avail themselves the opportunity of attending at least one of these demonstrations.

NANTICOKD W. I.

The Nanticoke Women's Institute was held at the home of Miss Julia Evans, on Thursday, July 10th.

The meeting was opened in the usual manner, after which the minutes were read and confirmed.

It was decided that the Nanticoke Institute accept Varency's invitation for the August meeting. It was also decided that $10 be donated to Mr. Bilger, also $5 to the Navy eague. Mrs. W. H. Evans kindly offered her home for the September meeting.

A splendid paper was given by Mrs. W. H. Evans on "Mother, What She Owes to Herself, Home and Community." Comic songs were given by the Junior boys. Miss Bannister favored the Institute by a piano solo. Interesting reports of the County Convention held at Hagersville were given by Mrs. Oakes and Miss Julia Evans. After a dainty luncheon served by the hostess, the meeting was brought to a close. There were 19 present.
