HEALTHY CHILDREN ALWAYS SLEEP WELL

The healthy child sleeps well and during its waking hours is never cross but always happy and laughing. It is only the sickly child that is cross and peevish. Mothers, if your children do not sleep well; if they are cross and cry a great deal give them Baby's Own Tablets and they will soon be well and happy again The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation, colic and indigestion and promote healthful sleep. They are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates and may be given to the newborn babe with perfect safety. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Need of Population.

For the five years 1909 to 1914 Canada received about 1,861,000 immigrants from all sources, or an average of 372,000 a year. If this rate had been maintained the succeeding eleven years would have brought the Dominion over 2,500,000 new citizens from outside. If for domestic reasons the pace had somewhat slackened, the increase in population from outside from 1914 to 1921 would surely have exceeded 2,000,000.

But the War intervened and the tide of immigration ceased to flow. The influx of newcomers fell off to a mere dribble. Great Britain and the Continent of Europe were practically eliminated as sources of population and the stream of American settlers dwindled to a minimum. During the whole seven-year period we received only about 550,000 from all sources, or 2,000,000 fewer than might have been expected had the world's peace been undisturbed. Nor must sight be lost of the fact that the outbreak of the War and the progress thereof caused great numbers of newly arrived foreigners to leave the country. Tens of thousands joined the colors of the allied armies. Other tens of thousands fled to the United States to escape service. Add Canada's sixty thousand dead Overseas and the children that should have been theirs. Altogether the action of Germany in July and August, 1914, has robbed Canada of perhaps 3,000,000 men, women and children who otherwise would have been hers to-day.

This primarily is what is wrong with Canada at the present moment. But for the War the Dominion would have had more people on the land and consequently fewer unemployed in the towns and cities. Under such conditions the nation would have made some show at keeping pace with the overhead charges imposed by two new trans-continental railways constructed before their time. There would have been a growing volume of freight and passenger business which naturally would have reduced the heavy deficits on these roads and gone far to place the whole country on a sound financial basis.

The lesson is plain. More population is the cure for Canada's fiscal and economic ills. The leeway lost during the last seven years must be recovered. Once the general election is over, the government of the day must devote special attention to the task of getting more people on the soil. From 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 acres of idle land along the Western railways must be brought under the plow. There is ample room for tens of thousands of additional farmers in old Ontario, New Ontario, British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces. Closer settlement of the land will mean a growing volume of exports, a wider home market for the products of Canadian factories, the reduction of unemployment in towns and cities, healthier industrial conditions everywhere, rising public revenues, and a progressive easing of the per capita burden of national taxation.

The kind of settlers desired are available in adequate numbers in Great Britain, the United States, Norway, Sweden and other approved countries. What is needed is a forward constructive immigration policy—a policy which while taking note of existing unemployment and safeguarding the interests of organized labor, will not only remove unnecessary obstacles to an intensive land settlement movement but actively promote such a movement in keeping with the needs of the nation. In the working out of such a program invaluable co-operation may be expected from the railways, the Provincial Governments, Colonization Associations and other immigration agencies. That way lies the road back to national prosperity and economic stability for all classes in the community.

A Book to Read.

It is a truth worth repeating that the best of books in all the engulfing flood of the best sellers of the day is that masterpiece, age-old yet ever new, the Bible.

The modern man, even through the cloak of sometimes archaic forms of speech, is surprised to discover the modernity of the text for him. If he is capable of learning from an object lesson of experience, he will find it in this unfolding of human nature so singularly consistent and persistent through the centuries. The great writers have paid tribute to the influence of the text in shaping their own style, quite apart from any influence upon the conduct of life. Were the Bible a chronicle of the doings of good men only, inspiration itself could not save it from tedium. But if one wants to thrill to the deeds of villains—some of the worst of men are in the best of books.

No reader need look far to find the mirror held up to his own nature. It is a drama of the human race without a parallel. It is a book to be read, not merely revered.

"Cascarets" if Sick Bilious, Headachy From the Bowels

Get a 10-cent box now.

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach of sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from liver and carry out of the system all the constipated poison in the bowels. A Cascaret physic to-night will straighten you out by morning.

Let Eggs Time Themselves.

Since very ancient time sandglasses have been used for timing the boiling of eggs. Even nowadays they are in common use for this purpose in hotels and restaurants.

A new twist is given to the idea by William A. Corbett, of Winnipeg. He makes the eggs time themselves, and, when they are cooked, lift themselves out of the boiling water—with the help of a modification of the sandglass idea.

The device for the purpose is a tube containing a number of lead balls. It is attached by a little bracket to the edge of a saucepan, and from the end of it is suspended a wire basket to hold the eggs in the boiling water.

A branch of the tube contains a sandglass, in such a position that the upper bulb of the latter keeps the lead balls in place. But this upper bulb is made of rubber and, when the sand has run out of it, it collapses, allowing the balls to run down into the hollow handle of the tube. The transfer of their weight to the handle causes the end of the tube to rise and lift the egg-containing basket out of the water.

World's Deepest Gold Mine.

Australia is said to possess the deepest gold mine in the world. It is situated at Bendigo, Victoria, and is known as the New Chum Railway Mine. The miners who work in it are obliged to travel down a shaft nearly three-quarters of a mile deep.

The heat in the mine is terrific, the temperature of 108 degrees being so weakening that it is necessary to spray the bodies of the miners continually with cold water from above ground.

Away from the spray the men could not stand, and it is as much as they can do to work moderately under the spray. Few will begrudge these men the money they earn.

Surnames and Their Origin

CHESMAN.

Variation—Chessman.
Racial Origin—English.
Source—An occupation.

This is another family name of English origin, which is traceable to the occupation of the persons who first started its use in the hereditary sense.

You might suspect from its obvious formation that it has some reference to the ancient game of chess, but this is not so. The doubling of the "s" in one form of the name is but a modern development.

If you remember that the "ee" so often occurring in modern English is a strictly modern development of spelling, and that in nearly every case it was originally an "e," and that the "ee" was only rarely met with back in the days when family names were being formed, you get your clue to the origin of the name.

The word "cheese," for instance, was spelled "chese" or "ches" in some cases, for there was no universal standard of spelling in those days such as has developed since the growth of the printing industry and the publication of grammars and dictionaries. This would give ground for the theory that the name originally meant "cheeseman." Actual historical record of the period when the name was used in the descriptive sense absolutely substantiates this.

The original Chesmans were dealers in, or makers of cheese, and knowing what we do of the industrial and commercial system of medieval England, the assumption that they were in the most cases both is reasonable.

CALHOUN.

Variations—Colquhoun.
Racial Origin—Scottish.
Source—A locality.

This family name, Calhoun being a modern variation of the true form of Colquhoun, comes from the name of one of the clans of the Scottish Highlanders, who derived it from the name of the locality in which they established themselves, the Barony in West Kilpatrick (or Kirkpatrick), in Dumbartonshire.

Beyond this, the mists of the past cloud the search, for the origin of the place name. By some the name of Colquhoun is supposed to be derived from the given name of "Conachin." By others it is explained as 'Coigch-uoin," a personal name, meaning "war-dog," and virtually the same as the name of that great Irish warrior of antiquity, "Chuchulin." The spelling does not look alike but remember that the gutterals of the Gaelic are rather difficult to indicate, and that the Gaelic speech itself has undergone changes from its ancient form, just as English, French and German have done.

The Clan Colquhoun, however, dates only from about the year 1240 or so. It was organized and founded by one Humphrey de Kilpatrick, who, though not himself a Gael, had received a grant of land in that section from the Earl of Lennox in the reign of King Alexander II. of Scotland.

Why should you follow a crooked path?

Often a cowpath has been allowed to become a village street, and as the village expanded, tradition has made the winding way an expression of a cow's will.

Habit is always forging chains to enslave us, so that what has been found bearable by the fathers is accepted by the sons.

As children, we were not permitted to drink tea or coffee, because it would stunt our growth or make us nervous and irritable. When older, however, we craved a hot drink with meals, and custom gave us our tea or coffee.

Finally upon the instructions of the doctor, Mother gave up her tea and coffee. But that meant nothing in our young lives. Our vitality was then strong enough to throw off any ill effects.

But our time came, and we learned by experience that we could not drink tea or coffee. When we had it for breakfast it put our nerves on edge. When we drank it at the evening meal, we tossed about in wakefulness most of the night.

And then we found Postum, a pure cereal beverage, free from the harmful drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee. We liked the rich, satisfying flavor of Postum—and also the better health which resulted. And, too, we were surprised to find how many of our neighbors had made the same discovery—had learned the value of "health first."

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

A DESIRE TO EAT WHAT YOU WANT

Stomachs Can be Restored to a Healthy Condition.

Not to be limited in diet, but to eat whatever he pleases is the dream of every dyspeptic. No one can honestly promise to restore any stomach to this happy condition, because all people cannot eat the same things with equally satisfactory results. But it is possible to so tone up the digestive organs that a pleasing diet may be selected from articles of food that cause no discomfort.

When the stomach lacks tone there is no quicker way to restore it than to build up the blood. Good digestion without rich, red blood is impossible, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer the best way to enrich the blood. For this reason these pills are especially good in stomach trouble attended by thin blood, and in attacks of nervous dyspepsia. Proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of indigestion is given by Mr. John A. McDonald, Tarbot, N.S., who says: "Every sufferer from indigestion has my heartfelt sympathy, as I was once myself a bond slave to it. Eating at all became a trial, and as time went on I became a mere skeleton of my former self. I took all sorts of recommended medicines, doctors' and advertised, but to no avail. Then a friend said to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a box and I thought before they were done I could feel a change. Then I got six boxes more, and by the time they were used I was eating my meals with regularity and enjoyment. My general health is now good, and it is no wonder that I am an enthusiastic advocate of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can procure Dr Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

On International Diet.

Two Tommies turned punsters went into a restaurant over on the eastern front and said to the waiter: "We want Turkey with Greece."

The waiter replied: "Sorry, sirs, but we can't Servia."

"Well, then, get the Bosphorus."

The boss came in and heard their order and then said: "I don't want to Russia, but you can't Rumania." So the two Tommies went away Hungary.

Christian Name.

In a certain primary class the teacher had been at great pains to explain the distinction between surnames and Christian names. Then she called upon the children to give examples of each kind from their own names and those of other members of their families.

When Charles was asked to tell in one statement the surname and the Christian name of his father, he responded, after some hesitation, "My father's surname is Tompkins, and his Christian name is a Methodist."

BITS OF HUMOR FROM HERE & THERE

She Tried to Be Agreeable.

Sea Captain (introducing friend to his old mate)—"This is my old friend, Barker; he lives in the Canary Islands."

"How interesting," murmured old auntie, and, gathering all her wits, she added: "Then, of course, you sing."

Not Forehanded.

"How did you order your steak, sir?" the waiter returned to ask after having been gone what seemed like a week to the hungry diner.

"Like a fool, I did it personally," bellowed the patron. "If I had any sense I'd have ordered it by mail, a month in advance."

Bad Symptom.

Hostess—"Well, Tommie, when you get home, you can tell your mother for me that you are the best behaved boy at table I ever met."

Tommie—"Thank you, ma'am, but I'd rather not."

Hostess—"Rather not! And why, pray?"

Tommie—"She'd think I was ill, ma'am, and send for the doctor."

That Sort.

Two men were discussing who was England's cleverest man. Said one:

"I say Lloyd George is!"

"Yes," was the reply. "You would have to get up early to take him down."

"Ay," said the first speaker. "And when you got up early, you would find he had been up all night waiting for you."

Far Too Dark.

Two Irishmen were being shown round a colliery for the first time. When they saw the coal coming up the shaft from the pit, Mike remarked to his companion:

"Sure, I'd like to see the men who put those great lumps of coal in the skips! They must be terrible strong!"

"Don't be silly!" said his friend Pat. "Why, it's that dark down there they can't see what they're lifting!"

625,000 BOTTLES SOLD IN NEW YORK

ENORMOUS DEMAND IS UNPRECEDENTED.

Tanlac Biggest Thing of Kind Ever Seen There, Says Big Wholesaler.

The fact that 625,000 bottles of Tanlac have been sold in the state of New York since its introduction there less than one year ago, is a big business item that will attract unusual attention throughout the entire East, for nothing like it has ever happened before. It breaks all records.

Mr. George B. Evans, manager of the Gibson-Snow Company, the well-known wholesale druggists, with branches in Albany, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, recently announced that the preparation was now selling in their trade territories alone at the phenomenal rate of approximately 500,000 bottles a year.

"If the present rate continues," said Mr. Evans, "this state alone will probably require considerably over 750,000 bottles a year. This is a tremendous figure, but I am really conservative in making this statement."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere. Adv.

Mother, Quick! Give California Fig Syrup For Child's Bowels

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

THIS WOMAN'S MISERY

Ended by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Remarkable Recovery of Mrs. Church.

Smiths Falls, Ont.—"I suffered with falling of my organs, pains around my heart and in bowels and down my legs, neuralgia in my face and head, and that terrible sinking feeling. I felt that I could not live and would fix my house in order every night so there would be no trouble if I dropped off in the night. My husband went to the druggist to get the best remedy he had and he gave him Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and felt a lot better. I will always recommend the Vegetable Compound, and you can use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. O. Church, Box 845, Smiths Falls, Ont.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from nervous prostration, displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion and dizziness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.
