TRANS-CANADA PHONE LINE

In January, for the first time in history, it will be possible to make a long-distance telephone from Nova Scotia to British Coldmbia without troubling Uncle Sam to do any relaying of the message for us. This is the gist of an article by Leslie Roberts in MacLean's Magazine for January 1, wherein he explains just why and how the new trans-Canada telephnoe trunk line has been brought to within a few steps of practical accomplishment. Mr. Robert states:

"It cost $8,000,000 to bring the trans-Canada line into being. First, seven operating companies—four private companies and three provincial government systems—had to discover a working basis. Agreement reached, engineers had to be put to work to ro-ordinate and standardize the equipment of the seven systems. Equipment had to be decided on, ordered, manufactured, shipped, delivered and erected. Endless miles of wire had to be slung across virgin country. Twenty-two repeater stations, to re energize faltering voice waves, had to be built along the line or refurbished. A new line of wire had to be cut through the once impregnable Rockies. An organization of men and women, trained to maintain hair-trigger activity along 4,000 miles of telephone highway, had to be impressed into service. These were some of the items requiring attention when gentlemen of commerce decided to prove by a new method that the old theory which says 'Never the twain shall meet' belongs in the dustbins of fallacy.

The trans-Canada telephone system in fine brings into the realm of fact an all-Canadian, coast to coast telephone trunk line equipped with the latest devices in voice transport, and guarantees conversations between Halifax and Vancouver that will be almost as sharply etched as those which now take place between Toronto and Montreal.

Twenty-two repeater stations catch and revive tiring words and speed them on their way with renewed vigor. Four times before they reach Montreal—at Amherst, Saint John, Edmunston and Quebec—westbound voice waves must pass through vacuum tubes and be re-energized. In Montreal the process is repeated again. To the west other stations have been erected at DeBeaujeu, Smiths Falls, Oshawa—where the line swing north after meeting the branch line from Toronto—North Bay, Chapleau, White River, Fort William Dryden in Ontario; Winnipeg, Virden, in Manitoba; Regina and Swift Current in Saskatchewan; Medicine Had, Calgary and Blairmore in Alberta; and Nelson and Princeton in British Columbia. These repeater stations are non-stop ports of call, though the term is a contradiction. Words, it seems, can take their nourishment while they run.

Construction was tricky, entailing the stringing of wires and the erection of poles along the banks of roaring torrents, down mountain passes and alng the fringes of gorges and precipices. Linemen risked their neck day in and day out, stinging wire from pole to pole on precipitous mountain sides, along which narrow avenue had been cut through primitive forest to permit the line to go through.

The system will operate a clearing house in Montreal through which all its inter-partner accounts will be covered and settled. Thus, when a subscriber in Manitoba places a call to St. John, he will be billed for it on his regular phone account at home. The Manitoba Government will deduct a small 'originating' commission and forward the balance of the cash it recieves to the clearing house There, operating costs, interest charges and depreciation allowances—in brief, the costs of running the system will be deducted, and profits will be divided seven ways, according to the mileage operated by each of the partners in the system. Deficits, if they occur, will be arranged for a decided improvement. on a similar basis. That is the working plan of the Trans-Canada Telephone System."

ISLAND NOW MOTOR CONCIOUS

Figures for highway mileage and number of cars in Prince Edward Island are interesting in view of the fact that it is only a few years since the Island was closed to motors. Now there are 3,550 miles of road and a car for each 11.6 persons on the Island. The Island is one of the agriculturally-prosperous areas of Canada and car sales have been on the increase. General Motors of Canada reports encouraging activity in that province.

BE KIND TO YOUR INNER TUBES

From Carrick Township, Ontario, comes a story of faithful service that is worth chronicling. An inner tube that had seen ten years of road work recently gave up the ghost. The casing got badly slashed, and the long-suffering tube gave way under the strain. The owner, Robert Kahl, while dictating an affectionate obituary for the inner tube, mentioned that his car, a Chevrolet, was still going strong.

SAVING WINDOW LABOR.

Every motorist, at one time or another, has experienced difficulty in getting car windows to slide smoothly in their channels. When car windows are hard to raise or lower, a preparation of graphite and paraffin will make them work easily. Mix, by weight, equal parts of melted paraffin and powdered graphite and form the mixture into a stick by pouring it into a tube made by wrapping paper around a lead pencil. When hardened, rub the stick over the felt window channels, and you will find

HOCKEY NEWS

Much to the dissappointment of the boys the game scheduled with Waterford on Monday evening, January 4th, was unavoidably postponed due to lack of ice, and from present indications dissappointments will prove the rule in the near future at least. However, J. C. Walker has been putting the boys through a tough old grind insofar as training is concerned. He has made a rule that all players must run to and from work before they will be eligible for the team. And boy you should see some of them travel. Its a good thing Percy Williams lives in Vancouver. C. Bingleman left work at twelve sharp on Monday last, took one hour to eat his dinner and was back at five minutes to one, and this is only one instance. The Boys are scheduled to play to-night in Simcoe with the American Can, if weather conditions are favorable.

CHASING THE RAINBOW!

(By Jay Scruggins)

Farmers—

When the very funny graduate asked the wisecrack—"why is a hog and how long?" he quite unknowingly pictured the economic trends of recent and perhaps of one or more succeeding years. And when Mark Twain wondered why somebody don't do something about the weather when everybody was talking about it, he pre-visioned the attitude of the modern mind toward the aforesaid economic upheaval and Bobby hangs a tale.

Bobby's unselfish generosity and blind trust landed him more than once into an economic slough. There is no record of buckets of crocodile tears. He did not even ask for a moratorium. Rather, more than likely, just a whimsical smile as he tightened his belt and retraced again the ladder of success. All of which points to general

Truly we have been chasing the rainbow and doing it at high speed. Just like river bugs—on the way and getting nowhere. Like the snowball rolling downhill, increasing in size and momentum in its course.

Auto suggestion—perhaps. There's more than a smattering of truth in the idea. Boasted advancement, civilization, science, discovery—dead and gone. What's the use?

Let's quit chasing the rainbow and face the sunrise.

CARD OF THANKS

It is customary sometimes for those who have contested elections to express thanks for votes received; and so it pleased me to see that quite a number appreciated my feeble efforts to assist in the proper management of our school.

With recriminations cast aside to the limbo of gone, forgotten far-off things and battles long ago, I will say to some of those who follow take up the torch and raise it high.

Yours in C. H. and P.

R. G. Howell.

Lea Marshall, Ivan W Holmes
Reeve Clerk

After the meeting had adjourned discussion centred on the necessity of a more suitable town hall. It was unanimously decided that such a factor was greatly in demand.

Several ideas were presented by those present, however with due respect to the present slump in the times the most prominent idea was to move the present hall east about ten feet, which in so doing, would ensure the safety of traffic on that street, due to the fact that vision is completely shut off with regards to traffic coming from either direction with the building where it is. To place a cement foundation under the building; put a cement floor in the fire hall; completely remodel the interior and remove the present siding and stucco the building. It being decided that such steps would serve the purpose for the present at least. The town have a very favorable balance this year, in what more suitable manner could they make an expenditure. Surely gravity has not grappled the pride of Jarvis to such an extent that it cannot at least afford a decent council chamber. There is no doubt whatsoever that sufficient revenue could be collected to pay at least 15 percent on their total expenditure yearly, besides providing a good fire hall and, if possible, a couple of cells for the convenience of transients, which would no doubt cut down considerable of the expense on charity. This matter has been brought up at different times in the last few years but no action has been taken, however, let us sincerely hope that the present agitation will have favorable results.

BORN

To Mr. and Mrs. John Hodgson (nee Alberta Davidson) in Jarvis, on Tuesday, January 12th, 1932—a daughter—Greta Sue.

WHO WILL BE WARDEN?

The above subject is being widely discussed at present throughout the County. In justice to all concerned the municipality of Jarvis should stand a fair chance of claiming the Wardenship for 1932. Every municipality throughout the County has claimed this honor since Jarvis, when our present clerk, Mr. I. W. Holmes occupied the position in 1916.

Our present Reeve, Mr. Les Marshall, possesses all the qualifications necessary to fill the chair of Chief Magistrate of the County, and, if elected to that position, would be an honor to the municipality which he represents, and a credit to the County of Haldimand.

Wedding Bells

IONSON—FLEMING

On Wednesday afternoon, January 6th, at 2 p.m. a very pretty wedding was solemnized at Wesley United church, Jarvis, when Doris Elizabeth Ionson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ionson of Walpole; and Mr. Erwin Samuel Fleming of Hamilton, youngest son of Mr and Mrs. John Fleming of Ottawa were united in marriage. The Rev. P. E. Deein officiating.

The bride, escorted by her father, was becomingly attired in a gown of blue velvet, and carried a corsage of violets and roses. Her attendent, Mrs. H. A. Miller, was atired in a gown of black lace,and also carried a corsage of violets and roses. Mr. H. A. Miller supported the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy party returned to the home of the bride's parents, where a beautiful luncheon had been arranged.

The bride and groom left on the 5.10 train for Hamilton and points east. Upon their return they will reside at 540 King St. East, in Hamilton.

Mr. Fleming is a licensed embalmer and funeral director with the J. H. Robinson Co. Limited, Hamilton, with whom he has been employed for the past three years.

Southern Ontario Highway Association

Reliable statistics taken from the records for the year 1931 prove that as many as 2,000 cars passed over No. 3 highway in one afternoon; that 150,000 cars have passed over this famous Lake Erie North Shore Trail this year; that hundreds of thousands of dollars in American cash is left along this highway; that the money set in circulation in any town is a benefit to all. However, wheat does not fail as 'manna' did, neither do tourists come without advertising The tourist industry is now predicted as the largest of any industry in Canada.

The Southern Ontario Highway Association is the only organization advertising No. 3 Highway in the United States, where tourists may be found; and is the only organization broadcasting No. 3 Highway and is the only medium of general distribution at the borders.

This Association has no paid officials, the executive being composed of a group of men picked from Buffalo to Detroit. But they do get results and can show $100.00 returns for every $1.00 paid by each municipality. (Ask your local banker the amount of American money sent back and be assured.)

This year the executive have outlined a more extensive advertising programme and in order to help defray expenses are offering memberships to the merchants located along this route. The fee is to be regulated according to the class of merchandise handled. For instance, the fee for garages and restaurants will no doubt be more than for barbers and beauty salons.

We feel that due to the respect and good will held by the tourists for the Association, the S.O.H.A. emblem will be a drawing card wherever it is displayed.

Mr. Geo. L. Miller, editor of the Jarvis Record has been confined to his bed for the past week, his condition at this time is slightly improved.

Mr and Mrs Bruce Smith called on Mr and Mrs H. A. Miller on Wednesday evening of last week.

Mr C. S. McCarter made a business trip to Hagersville on Wednesday last.

Thomas Harris has been confined to his home for the past few days with a sprained back.

Mr and Mrs I. W. Holmes entertained a number of friends last Wednesday evening.

The inquest of the late Harvey A. Schweyer was held on Wednesday, Jan. 6th, in the Temperance Hall. The Jury bringing in a verdict of accidental death.

Mr and Mrs Gideon Snyder are in Hamilton for an extended visit.

Robert Smith has been confined to his home with a severe cold.

JARVIS AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Jarvis Agricultural Society is to be held on Saturday, January 16th, at the office of the Secretary; for the purpose of electing officers and directors for the year 1932, and receiving the annual statement for the year 1931.

1932 will be the seventy ninth consecutive year for the society to operate, which is a long time for such an organization to exist considering the number of slump periods in that time, and it is indeed a credit to Jarvis and Walpole. Although the Agricultural Society has not made any great leaps to the foreground, it has maintained a 100% standard of showing and their financial position has always been sound, which we might say has been the defection of a large number of such societies.

The benefit derived is not thoroughly conceptd by a large majority of the citizens. At the present time there are quite a number of the farmers in this district showing at the Royal and at a number of the other larger shows. They started off at Jarvis, they received the encouragement from the little old Jarvis show necessary to compete in the larger rings, But is that where they place the credit—if not, they are not placing credit where credit is due.

The Annual Meeting should be an event of unusual interest to every citizen in the Township, and they should be present to give their veiwpoint, in an effort to aid the Directors in the betterment of the Society.

OBITUARY

MRS. R. A. WEIR

Of United Empire Loyalist stock, Mrs. R. A. Weir died Late Sunday evening at her home. Born in Lundy's Lane she was the fourth daughter of W. Lemon and would've reached her 80th birthday January 31st. Mrs. Weirs grandmother, on her fathers side, was a granddaughter of Earl of Marr, who in 1715, after being defeated by the forces of the Stuarts, made his escape to the New England States. Many of his descendants were among those who first migrated to the Niagara Peninsula after the war of 1776. The late Harry Lemon K.C., who practiced law in Kitchener with the father of Rt. Hon W. L. Mackenzie King, was a brother. Mrs. Weir, who was predeceased by her husband some time ago, was a Liberal and a Baptist. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs John Carswell of Red Deer, Alta., and Mrs. Thomas Cole of Los Angeles and two daughters, Mrs Arthur Kirchmann and Mrs. Ernest Shildrick.

Many will remember Mrs. Weir when she was a resident of this community residing with her father and mother, Mr and Mrs. Willis Lemon on the farm now occupied by Mr and Mrs. J. J. Parsons

OLD LANDMARK REMOVED

Something over forty years ago, there grew up on the west side of Main Street, a short distance from the stage road corner, a small poplar tree. When it was about two inches in thickness, a cow that used to walk past on her wayto pasture rubbed herself against it and broke it off so that the little tree fell across the sidewalk and looked to be destroyed However, what might be called a samaritan raised it, spliced it, and the little tree grew until January 1932 and reached a height of perhaps 70 or 80 feet when someone decided to cut it down. Now for some years Jarvis has had a beautiful black squirrel that gamboled about the trees, poles, wires and yards of the village. He was quite tame and was protected, or supposed to be, by the citizens generally. When considerable progress had been made in taking the poplar down, it was discovered that the squirrel was away up in the very peak, with no other tree high enough for him to jump for safety. The trunk had been cut around high up, a long rope had been attached, and willing hands at the other end tried to pull it down; the shaking caused the squirrel to come down half way, and had the agitation continued a minute longer, the little animal would undoubtedly come down to safety. Unfortuately the shaking ceased, the trunk was cut further, and squirrel and all jerked violently to the solid concrete roadway. There is a vast difference from dropping to soft leaves in the woods and dropping to solid rock. After some minutes the squirrel recovered sufficiently to amble feebly away to the protection of some convenient bushes. Was he hurt?—well his actions spoke louder than words. And so ended, it is to be hoped, as fine an example of savage and unnecessary cruelty as could be desired by those who liked it.

In this Village, blessed with so many comforts and advantages, why allow these little animals who come here to live among us, to be treated so. In the big towns firemen are often asked to remove a cat from the top of a pole or some other place from which it is afraid to come down and they do it gladly. Children can learn more about animals by studying them in real life than they ever can from books and pictures at school.

A very noted man once said that he counted no one among his list of friends who would needlessly put a foot upon a worm.

Poplar trees are like other trees, if they are not properly trimmed and taken care of they will scatter their leaves about. When they grow tall they are a protection against lightning. The house near this poplar was struck by lightning years ago, and who knows but that the tall tree saved it many times since.

R.G.H.

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree;
A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed
Against the Earth's rich flowing breast;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
A tree that looks to God all day
And lifts its leafy arms to pray;
Upon whose bosom snows have lain
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by such as me,
But only God can make a tree.

Diamond Wedding

Lifelong residents of Walpole Twp. Mr and Mrs. David Lindsay, on Friday January 8th, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding at their home near Hagersville. They are receiving congratulations of relatives and friends. Mr. Lindsay was born in Walpole in 1850 on the farm beside his present home. His wife, Mary E. Gledstone, was born in Walpole township in 1848. Their marriage was solemnized by Rev. Mr Black at Caledonia. In 18[illegible] Three of their 5 children are living. They are Mrs. [illegible] Kelly of Caledon; Mrs J. E. Woodwork of Binbrook and W. D. Lindsay on the old homestead in Walpole. There are [illegible] grandchildren. Mr and Mrs Lindsay are both enjoying excellent health. The 'Record' takes real pleasure in congratulating Mr and Mrs. Lindsay and wishes for them many more years of health and happiness.
