

Hon. C. Edwards Lester,

Late U. S. Consul to Italy, author of "The Glory and Shame of England," "America's Advancement," etc., etc., etc., writes as follows:—

New York, August 1, 1886.
122 E. 27th St.
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen:—A sense of gratitude and the desire to render a service to the public impel me to make the following statements:
My college career, at New Haven, was interrupted by a severe cold which so inflicted me that, for ten years, I had a hard struggle for life. Hemorrhage from the bronchial passages was the result of almost every fresh exposure.
For years I was under treatment of the ablest practitioners without avail. At last I learned of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

which I used (moderately and in small doses) at the first recurrence of a cold or any chest difficulty, and from which I invariably found relief. This was over 25 years ago. With all sorts of exposure, in all sorts of climates, I have never, to this day, had any cold nor any affection of the throat or lungs which did not yield to AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL within 24 hours.
Of course I have never allowed myself to be without this remedy in all my travels and travels. Under my own observation, it has given relief to vast numbers of persons; while in acute cases of pulmonary inflammation, such as croup and diphtheria in children, life has been preserved through its effects.
I recommend its use in light but frequent doses. Properly administered, in accordance with your directions, it is

A Priceless Blessing

in any house. I speak earnestly because I feel earnestly. I have known many cases of apparently confirmed bronchitis and cough, with loss of voice, particularly among clergymen and other public speakers, perfectly cured by this medicine.
Faithfully yours,
C. EDWARDS LESTER.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Catarrh Throat Cured.

Listen to W. H. Storey, Esq., of the firm of W. H. Storey & Sons, Acton, Glove Manufacturers, &c.

Dr. Washington, 215 Yonge Street, Toronto.

Dear Sir:—I assure you I feel grateful to the radical cure you have effected in my throat trouble, and though I dislike having my name appear in connection with the testimonial business, yet, having a regard for those who are similarly afflicted, as well as having a desire to recognize the results of your treatment, I make a departure in this case. Prior to my acquaintance with you, I suffered for two years from repeated attacks of catarrh sore throat, each succeeding attack being more prolonged and violent than the former. At these times I had violent fits of coughing, and would discharge large quantities of mucus. Feeling alarmed I sought the best medical skill available, including a much noted Specialist and took almost everything known to medicine without experiencing a particle of relief. Last spring I went to Europe. The change did me good, but on my return the old trouble was renewed. Seeing you advertised to visit this place, I thought I would consult you although I confess with not much hope of receiving any benefit. However, I was favorably impressed with your candor, and resolved to give your treatment a trial.
The result, I am happy to inform you, is a complete cure, and one so marked in its character as to surprise both myself and my friends. From the first your medicine seemed adapted to my case and gave relief. In two months I was entirely well, and have continued during the most unfavorable season of the year. You are at liberty to make what use you please of this letter, and I shall be pleased to answer any enquiries relative to my case.

Yours very truly,
W. H. STOREY.

JARVIS RECORD.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 18, 1888.

W. C. T. U. Department.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U.
Union will be held in the Temperance Hall, on Friday, April 20, at 3 p.m. sharp. The Band of Hope will assemble on the same date at 4 p.m.

"We do not force you to believe that all intoxicating beverages are poisons and never either food or fuel; that they are in every instance positively injurious; and that there is nowhere in the Bible a single passage that contains an explicit approval of intoxicating wine." Total abstinence has, if possible, a more emphatic "Thou shalt not" for its basis than can be urged against slavery, polygamy, and the dance of modern society.

Twist separate texts by skilful exegesis hither or thither, there is solid rock in those grand and most Christ-like principles of self-renunciation—"None of us liveth to himself;"—and self-consecration—"For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord." Every man seeking another's wealth. Christ's strong man carrying the weak in the arms of his heroic love. Each emulating the other in helping the little ones, and every one striving to make straight paths for their feet, lest that which is honest be turned out of the way." Paul balded on this rock when he said, "it is good neither to eat flesh nor to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth or is offended or is made weak." And again: "If meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend."

Alcohol may or may not be a poison, let the doctors disagree. Any use of alcohol drinks may or may not be stu-pifying; let the casuists contend. But the brood of evils which follow the cick of the wine-glass are every day facts.
And science and experience have settled it that the mass of men are "made weak" by the touch of strong drink.
Paul's principle is founded upon a case in which the offence arises from a morbid imagination. Eating meat offered to idols was an artificial sin; idols were nothing to strong men. But "wine is a mocker and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." The cup may be the utter ruin of the soul. Paul commanded men to "abstain from all appearance—or every form—of evil," and pledged himself to cut off wine and flesh while the world stood, sooner than give offence. We have to-day in the drinking habits of society a needs be that all Christians should lay aside every weight, and enter upon a life-long course of self-denial, looking unto Jesus and running the race with joy.

"DO YOU UNDERSTAND?"

"I will not believe anything but what I understand," said a self-confident young man.

"Nor will I," said another.

"Neither will I," chimed in a third.

"Gentlemen," said one who sat close by, "do I understand you correctly, that you will not believe anything that you don't understand?"

"I will not," said one; and so said each of the trio.

"Well said the stranger, "in my ride this morning I saw some geese in a field eating grass; do you believe that?"

"Certainly," said the three subscribers.

"I also saw the pigs eating grass; do you believe that?"

"Of course," said the three.

"And I also saw sheep and cows eating grass; do you believe that?"

"Of course," was again replied.

"Well, but the grass which they had formerly eaten, had by digestion turned to feathers on the backs of geese, to bristles on the backs of swine, to wool on the backs of sheep, and on the cows it had turned to hair; do you believe that, gentlemen?"

"Certainly," they replied.

"Yes, you believe it," he rejoined,
"but do you understand it?"

They were confounded and silent, and ashamed.

"GET A BUCKET."

Some people profess a great deal of sympathy with the temperance movement, although they drink themselves. They remind me of the conduct of a man at a fire.
When the fire broke out, a line of men was organized to pass along the buckets of water. One man came up, and as soon as he saw what was the matter, he cried "Fire! Fire! Fire!" but another man, who was hard at work said, "Hold your noise, man, and get a bucket." A good many people are denouncing the evils of drunkenness, but to them I would say, "Hold your noise, man, and get a bucket."

So overpowering are the effects of stimulants after years of use, that the beautiful sentiments of the heart and the aspirations of the soul, are buried so deep that they never see the light. Only utterances of despair pass the lips, whence cheerful inspiring words for good might have sprung, but for the curse of ruin.

Suppose liquor does not make everybody a drunkard and a murderer; will any one have the effrontery to say that millions of people are not ruined by liquor?

Prudent parents do not give deadly weapons to their children, because they cry for them. Men and women are but children of a larger growth. Should a government be so unwise and careless of the welfare of its people as to permit the sale of the deadliest of weapons, ruin?

Prevention is a thousand times easier than cure. Prevent the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicants, and the cure will take care of itself.

"There are more prohibitionists in America to-day than there were Aboli-tionists in America ten years before." Mr. Lincoln signed the proclamation that made the slaves, and just as certain as that God was on the side of the Union cause and the emancipation of the slaves He is on the side of Prohibition, and the Proclamation will be signed that will send the death knell of the liquor traffic and make all these slaves of drink free.—Sun Jones.
