WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

Watch for Fire Blight Cankers When Pruning Pear and Apple Orchards

Growers will recall last season the sudden appearance in their pear and apple orchards of dead twigs and branches with the browned or black ened leaves clinging to affected parts This disease, known as fire blight, is caused by a bacterial organism which, under favourable conditions, is capable of very rapid multiplication and spread. The bacteria remain alive over winter at the margin of the cankers resulting from the infection, and with the return of growing conditions in the spring they renew their activity and produce a gummy substance known as bacterial ooze. This ooze appears as small globules over the marginal surface of cankers and provides the source of new infections. This bacterial ooze which contains many thousands of bacteria is very readily spread by wind-blown rain as well as by insects which come in contact with it.

The above facts concerning this disease serve to emphasize the importance of the careful and thorough removal of all blighted parts. It is advisable to make several inspections of your orchards to spot the presence of the cankers which are serving to harbour the fire blight organism overwinter. Removal and destruction of such cankers reduces the possible sources of infection and this is an essential point in disease control. The appearance of the cankers might be briefly described. They may vary considerably in size are purplish to black in colour, somewhat sunken, often cracked and blistered. Generally the cankers are well delimited by a distinct line of demarcation separating healthy from diseased wood. When cut into, diseased bark will appear brown while healthy bark surrounding it will be pale green or creamy white in colour.

In pruning out fire blight cankers it is necessary to remember that the organism may extend some distance below the visible boundary of the canker. This means that the pruning must be done at least four or five inches below the apparent limit of the canker. On young wood eight or ten inches is preferable. Very frequently fire blight will enter succulent, tender watersprouts and produce cankers on the supporting limbs or trunks. These should be watched for carefully. Such cankers should be cleaned out, being particular to cut well into healthy tissue.

All pruning wounds and tools should be disinfected. The most satisfactory material for this purpose is one made up as follows: ¼ oz. mercuric chloride and ¼ oz. mercuric cyanide dissolved in one quart of water three quarts of glycerine at a temperature of 175 degrees F.

While pruning pears and apples keep a watch for fire blight cankers remembering that much can be accomplished at this time of the year in reducing the possibility of infection in the coming season by destroying the sources of infection For further information on the fire blight disease, write to the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, St. Catharines.

Clean and Test Your Tobacco Seed

Tobacco seed, as it is shelled out, ordinarily contains a considerable quantity of light and immature seed chaff, and other foreign matter. Such seed should be well sifted through suitable screens to remove the chaff and put through a tobacco seed cleaning machine to remove the dust and light seed. This machine naturally removes a quantity of the light seed which is usually poor seed and consequently, the percentage of germination can be greatly increased in the majority of cases.

Quite often seed which is produced in unfavourable years, or dried under unfavourable conditions after harvest, germinates rather poorly. Ordinarily the first cleaning removes from 15 to 25 per cent of the original weight of seed. If poor germination results following the first cleaning, the seed may be recleaned and any quantity of the lighter seed removed, depending on the force of air current used. Large lots of seed with undesirable percentages of germination have been made marketable by this porcess, and cases are at hand where the germination has been improved 10 to 30 per cent by recleaning. Preparation of your tobacco seed for the 1934 crop deserves your immediate attention and will be cleaned and tested free of charge by the Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ontario.

CHEVROLET COMMERCIAL CARS

To meet the anticipated heavy demand for trucks in 1934, Chevrolet is displaying three distinct lines of commercial cars with a wide range of body types, designed to meet nine ty per cent. o fall requirements in the field. The 1934 lines are all equipped with a new special truck engine, delivering increased power and greater torque, and there are numerous mechanical improvements in frames, brakes and transmission.

The first line consists of commercial car bodies of half-ton capacity, on a wheelbase of 112 inches. The other lines are one-and-one-half ton trucks and two-ton trucks, respectively, on both 131-inch and 157-inch wheelbases and the five-ton semi-trailer.

The six models in the half-ton line are the commercial chassis, de luxe panel, standard panel, pickup delivery, sedan delivery, and canopy express. This last is an addition to the line and is fitted with roll curtains or screens. The canopy express is also available in the one-and-one-half ton line. The sedan delivery in the half-ton line and the panel body in the one-and-one-half ton line are both decidedly attractive, with beavertail effect and sloping radiator as in the passenger cars.

The Chevrolet special truck motor is noteworthy for its new marine-type cylinder head and for the nozzle type valve seat cooling, which directs a spray of cold water on the exhaust valve seats. The engine develops a maximum road speed of 57.5 miles an hour in the two-ton line, and has a torque of 148 foot-pounds at 800 to 1,800 r.p.m. The new five-speed transmission, with quiet fourth, is also a distinctive feature of the two-ton models.

There are new wheels on the two ton trucks, being interchangeable front single to dual.

Other mechanical improvements throughout the three lines are numerous.

Dean of Haldimand County Printers

We wish to tender congratulations to our old friend "Patsy" Brock, as he enters on his 54th year in the printing business. Our earliest recollections of "Pat" while serving his apprenticeship on this GREAT FAMILY JOURNAL, under the tutelage of the late Frank Pettit, how that his chief implements of art, was a buck-saw and snow shovel. Natural Gas was then undiscovered, and huge piles of cordwood was stacked up not the rear of the printing office and which very much to "Pats" dislike, had to be prepared for the office stove. This according to his story, had to be overcome, so "Pat" enlisted the services of "Topsy" and "Nimshy" to do the wood cutting, and from that time onward his whole time was devoted to the art of printing. Needless to say he has succeeded in holding down his share of and was actively engaged, with her and is at present well established in his own thriving business in the "Gyproc" town to the north of us.

OBITUARY

SAMUEL E. LINDSAY, K.C.

On Friday, March 2nd, Mr. Samuel E. Lindsay, K.C., senior member of the Haldimand County Bar, passed away at his home in Hagersville, in his 72nd year.

The late Mr. Lindsay was born in Seneca Township and attended school at Caledonia, and studied law at St. Catherines. After graduating he was in partnership with the late Hon Justice Wright at Owen Sound for two years before returning to his native County and establishing an office in Hagersville where he has been in continuous practice for the past forty years.

Deceased was a prominent member of the United Church, at Hagersville taking a very prominent and leading part in all the activities of the Church, being the leader of the senior Bible Class for a number of years. He was a very active member of the Conservative party, being heard on many occasions from the platform in behalf of their cause, and was many times urged to accept a nomination for parliament which he steadfastly refused. As a practicing Barrister, he had the confidence of a large clientele, and was noted for his integrity and wise judgment He very ably defended many important cases in the courts of this county and his summary was usually sound law.

He leaves to mourn his passing, besides his widow, two sons Howard of Montreal and Fred, of Peterboro; one daughter Mrs. (Dr.) Vokes, of Cayuga, also two brothers, James and David of Caledonia, and one sister, Mrs. Thomas Beattie, of Caledonia.

The funeral which was largely attended, was held on Monday from his late residence in Hagersville, with interment in the Hagersville Union Cemetery. The many floral tributes were evidence of the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community in which he lived.

The pall bearers were: S. B. Harrison, Howard Hager, Wilfred Mason, J. T. Park, J. E. Greer and M. C. Wigle.

MRS. JOHN A. FORREST

Simcoe, March 5.—Miss Clara G. Edmonds, passed away very suddenly at her home, 38 Norfolk Street North, on Saturday morning, after a short illness. Miss Edmonds was well known in and around Simcoe

Esteemed Residents Congratulated

Among the many letters of congratulations received by Mr and Mrs R. A. McCarter on their Fifty-first wedding anniversary, was one from their old Minister, Rev. G. A. MacLennan, B.A., D.D., of Montreal, in which he says in part:

"Permit me as an old friend, to congratulate you both on your long and happy married life. As you recall, our acquaintance goes back to the old Duthil church in Lambton County to the summer of 1886 or it might be 1885. You were both young and beginning life in what was practically new country, you can puff out your chests and pointing to yourselves say "pioneers." In time you returned to Jarvis and your own people and in the turn of the wheel the former young student became your minister—here intimately a friend. It is pleasant to look back over the lapse of years and now you are spared in health and strength as well as happiness to one another."

A.Y.P.A. Meet

The old Weather Man had something up his sleeve when he brought the warm weather over the week-end He promptly got down to business and spoiled what we thought was ideal weather for sledding. However, we survived the disappointment and carried on with a Literary meeting.

The programme opened with a Prayer led by the President, Mr. Bob Lysch, followed by the reading and confirming of minutes. After admission of new members and paying of dues, the business of the evening was concluded by paying Rev. M. Brett for Play Books.

The debate, "Resolved That the Government Should Tax Bachelors Over Twenty-one Years of Age" was won by the Negative side which was taken by Messrs Bob Lysch and Harold Burwash, while the Affirmative was upheld by Miss Muriel Cooke and Mr. Ted Buckley.

To gain an appetite for the Pork & Bean Supper, which followed shortly, the members joined in a Geography Match.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The characters in the play remained for practice.
