Lucky Teter hurtling and twisting side over side and end over end down the track in his famous spiral crash, the stunt that has thrilled the world. Canadian National Exhibition crowds will be given an opportunity to view Lucky when he attempts this stunt at the Exhibition, where he will show with his troupe of world famous Hell Drivers.

HAVE YOU HEARD

We frequently credit a long sober face with wisdom, when the cause is indigestion.

Big Boss (invited out to dinner by one of his employees) — "I don't often have such a dinner as this, young fellow."

Son of family — "Neither do we. I am sure glad you came."

WELL BRED? — The Missionary Society of the Ludwick Presbyterian Church will hold a bake sale in Van Dyke's beginning at 9 o'clock this morning. — From the Greenburg, Penn. Review.

Man — "So you asked Mary to marry you?"

Friend — "Yes, but I didn't have any luck. She asked me if I had any prospects."

Man — "Why didn't you tell her all about your rich uncle?"

Friend — "I did. Mary is my aunt now!"

The salesman may be smarter than his prospect, but he makes a mistake when he calls his attention to that fact.

Daphne — "Jack says he would not marry the nicest and most beautiful girl in the world."

Doris — "What a cheek. As if I'd have him!"

Another thing this country needs are people who won't get hot under the collar without first working up a sweat.

Stranger (to newsboy) — "Are there any fools in this town?"

Newsboy — "I don't know. Are you lonesome?"

The boy wonders are burned out just about the time the dumb clucks get started.

Customer — "You made a mistake in that prescription I gave my mother-in-law. Instead of quinine you used strychnine."

Druggist — "You don't say! Then you owe me 20 cents more."

If you are not big enough to stand criticism, you are too small to be safely praised.

Summer Boarder (reproachfully) — "You told me you hadn't any mosquitoes."

Hiram Coggin — "I didn't. Them you see flyin' 'round here come from St Martin's place. They ain't mine.

Moral Courage — The feeling of security when you haven't done anything that anybody could tell on you.

Mrs. Professor — "William, you haven't kissed me for three whole days."

Professor (absently) — "You don't say! Whom have I been kissing?"

A smart man can learn many things but he can never hope to know the difference between the various jobs a woman can get done on her hair in a beauty shop.

Doctor — "I would advise you, madam, to take frequent baths, get plenty of fresh air and dress in cool clothes."

Husband (an hour later) — "What did the doctor say?"

Woman — "He said I ought to go to the beach and then to the mountains. Also that I must get some new light gowns at once."

Everyone in business must expect to handle some transactions at a loss

Girl — "Give me a week to think over your proposal."

Young Man — "Sure. If I'm not married then I'll let you know."

With some men emergency is only another name for opportunity.

Friend — "What would you do if you were in my shoes?

Man — I'd shine them."

I'm not LUCKY — Just SENSIBLE!

Hay Driers

When discussing recent developments in mechanized farming earlier in the year, we referred to the rapid progress that grass drying was making in this country, and pointed out that the future of the process was bound up with some economic rather than technical considerations. Some of the earlier small dryers had a decidedly low efficiency, an evaporative figure of only 3½ cwt. to 5½ cwt. of water per 1 cwt. of coke being obtained, in comparison with about 8 cwt. achieved with large driers of the more recent types.

The most suitable size of drier is at present an open question, but there is no doubt that so far as this country is concerned, the demand will be for comparatively small units for some time to come.

The large drier can only be employed economically under a co-operative or factory system of working, and while such systems have found favor abroad, there is no immediate probability of their being introduced into British farming, and the essential question for our manufacturers is to improve the efficiency of units having a capacity say of 2½ cwt. to 5 cwt. per hour. Driers of this capacity are sufficiently large to meet all the requirements of the typical home farm.

The drier is arranged to dry the grass in two successive stages. The wet grass is first placed on a tray having the bottom formed of a perforated plate, through which hot gases from a furnace are passed and discharged to atmosphere above the grass. After the grass has been partially dried on this tray, it is transferred by hand to a second tray to complete the drying process. The second tray is similar to the first.

Peace Experts At Conference

German and Chilean Speakers Listed For Economics' Institute Meeting at Lake Couchiching.

Those attending the sixth annual session of the Canadian Institute on Economics and Politics, at Lake Couchiching, Aug. 7 to 20, are having an opportunity of hearing a recognized peace authority, Dr. Hans Simons, member of the graduate faculty of the new School for Social Research, New York. He was general secretary of the League of Nations Union from 1919 to 1922. He will deliver three addresses on "The Present Outlook In Europe".

Dr. Simons served in the Reich and Prussian ministry of the interior in 1922-23 and 1928-30. He was director of the Deutsche Hochschule for Politik, in Berlin, and lecturer there from 1924 to 1930. Adviser to the government committee for Reich reform, 1928-30, he is also the author of many articles on subjects of international importance.

Carlos Davila, former Chilean ambassador to the United States, will present "The Latin-American Point of View." Now director of the Editors' Press Service, New York, he was in 1932 for 100 days provisional president of the Republic of Chile.

Irish Trade Returns Prove Disappointing

The Free State's trade returns for the first half of this year are disappointing. Exports have risen by £565,000; but imports have by £2,453,000. The net result is that the adverse balance for the half-year is £11,000,000, or approximately £2,000,000 more than it was in the first half of last year. So far as our external trade is concerned we sent out £2 for every £1 that came back to us. A glance at the countries with which we have business reveals a very unsatisfactory condition. Excluding Great Britain and Northern Ireland—which takes 90 per cent of our exports—all other countries still give us only one pound's worth of orders for every ten pounds we send them. The returns set out 43 such countries, and, with one minor exception, the balance of trade is, in every case, unfavourable to the Free State. —Irish Independent.

Health Great Aid In Making Beauty Last

Sufficient Rest, Exercise, Proper Diet, Physcal Examination All Important

Health is the foundation of true beauty. And the older woman who is likely to lead a more sedentary life than when she was younger, should remind herself constantly of this fact.

It is a mistake, indeed, to try to get along on less sleep than you actually need simply because you were once told that "the older an adult becomes, the less sleep she requires." This may be true of some, but, generally speaking each of us should sleep eight hours per night, certainly no less than seven. Adequate rest, more than any other one thing wards off fine lines and wrinkles, about eyes and mouth and preserves the youthful sparkle in eyes, says Alicia Hart, beauty expert, in an article on "Don't Look Your Age."

A reasonable amount of exercise and a sensible diet are important, too. You cannot expect your figure to stay young and skin clear if you never walk more than three blocks a day and refuse to join a gym class or do exercises at home. Authorities agree and case histories prove that a woman who exercises every morning of her life takes a long, brisk walk or plays hard at her favorite sport twice a week need not worry about looking old when she is forty.

If you are going to be sensible and have a thorough physical examination every year after you are thirty, do discuss your diet with the doctor who examines you. As the years go on, it may be best for you to eliminate certain foods that agreed with you when you were younger but which do not any more. Or to add others that you have avoided intentionally.

If possible, take a nap every day. This idea is quite out of the question for many women, of course, but, if you possibly can sleep a few minutes after lunch or in the middle of the afternoon, by all means do it. Many business women manage a 20-minute nap as soon as they get home from the office. Even a busy mother and homemaker generally can find time to rest for a short period while the children are napping or just before they get home from school. Try it for a month and see if your skin isn't smoother, eyes more sparkling and disposition infinitely sunnier.

Better Milk For Britain

LONDON.—The government is moving for more and better milk. A permanent milk commission is to be established, the primary duties of which will be concerned with improvement of milk distribution and with conciliation and arbitration between the milk marketing boards and milk buyers.

A price insurance plan, to which state assistance will be given, will safeguard the industry against any serious fall in the price of butter and cheese. Government contributions will be given to foster the production of quality milk.

The milk marketing boards will be relieved from all £150,000 ($746,715) of a contingent liability to repay certain exchequer advances made to supplement the price of milk used in manufacture. This liability by Sept. 30, 1940, has been estimated at £3,400,000.

The government is to make proposals to enable the municipal authorities to secure cheaper milk so to permit municipalities to extend schemes for granting free or cheap milk to expectant or nursing mothers and children under school age.

Streamlined Pigs

Streamlined pigs will soon be the ideal of the agricultural show judge, according to "Canada's Weekly," published in London.

"The reason why the roly-poly, lardy porkers are on their way out is because housewives are using less and less lard each year as chemists perfect the processes of making vegetable cooking oils. Consequently, there is less and less market for the fatty-type pig. Perhaps we shall enjoy our breakfast bacon all the more, if there is a little more lean meat in it.

"The prediction is made that in 20 years from now very few pigs will be given an ear of corn to munch voraciously. The farmer will haul his crop of corn to a chemical processing plant, where the fattening starch will be removed for making syrups and alcohol for motor fuel. The residue of gluten and oil press will then go back to the hog pen.

"A leading scientist says that automobile motors will be developed to utilize solid fuel made from starch in corn and other crops. Meanwhile the production of lard in Canada is running around 50,000,000 lbs a year at a factory value between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000."

Two-Year-Old Knows Alphabet

Learns More Words In Ten Months Than Most Grown-ups Use

FULTON, N.Y.—Fulton's child prodigy, Eudora Louise Graves, says the alphabet, counts up to 100, has a vocabulary of 2,500 words and recites nursery rhymes although she is only two years old.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Graves, already are planning a formal home education for her.

A pretty blonde baby with blue eyes and rosy cheeks, Eudora is in most respects quite the normal little woman. She plays with dolls, will pound the piano keys whenever the opportunity presents itself, and appears to enjoy roaming about the house.

Her words are understandable, but not clearly pronounced.

Without faltering once, she can name the 23 figures shown on her play blocks. The list includes bicycle, fox, wolf, truck, eagle, tractor, elephant, camel, seal, horse, train, car, pig, cannon, bee, airplane, dog, duck, Indian, boat, lion, mouse and zeppelin. She can recite the name of every piece of furniture in the living room.

In the realm of mathematics, she can count up to 100, and also count to the same figures by tens. She recites "Jack and Jill," "Little Bo Peep," "Humpty-Dumpty," and can sing "Three Blind Mice" and "Two Little Feet".

She started talking when she was 14 months old.

New Ontario Peeved

The Old Ontario man knows little of New Ontario. What exasperates New Ontario as much as anything is the indifference of the Old Ontario man, observes the Sault Ste. Marie Star.

We can forgive Lloyd George for his rapture over the White River pansies, but Toronto has no business not to know that the Lake Superior section grows the finest on earth.

A learned Toronto professor told his audience about New Ontario's moss, but he didn't know that they grew oats eight feet high on the Transcontinental . . .

It's a disgrace that Ontario knows so little of itself," said an Old Ontario editor last year as he looked at an 800-foot precipice in Agawa Canyon.

What a benefit to Old Ontario if the newspapers there would undertake a campaign to get all Ontario people to spend their holidays just this one year in New Ontario.

Look what they have to see:

The great Algoma wilderness, including the Agawa Canyon.

The gold belt, the silver belt, the nickel belt, the forests primeval, the paper mills, the great steel works at the Sault, the railroad trip for half a day on Lake Superior's shore.

And last, but not least, the pioneer, the man who has cheerfully undertaken the task of making New Ontario a great and prosperous land.

He's worth meeting.

School Janitor Now Doctor of Philosophy

PITTSBURG, Pa.—No more mops and brooms for Dr. Edward Lee Harris—

The scholarly Negro, who has been a janitor at the University of Pittsburg six years, will take a professor's job at Wilberforce University, in Ohio, he said.

Dr. Harris was dusting a classroom when he received word of the appointment as head of Wilberforce chemistry department.

For six years he has been struggling along—getting only four or five hours sleep daily—to complete the requirements for the highest academic degree awarded, Doctor of Philosophy. At the same time he's carrying on a full-time job as janitor, and supporting a wife—also a Pitt graduate—and two children.

Last June he received his doctor's degree in chemistry.

Eye for Eye, But Not Horse For A Horse

LONDON, Ont.—The Bible says "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," but when James Steele of the fourth concession of Delaware Township, tried to put this old principle to practice he got himself into trouble.

He told Magistrate Ellis that shaw's county police authorities Mosaic law as he understood it horse theft.

"It doesn't say anything about horse for a horse," interjected Attorney Norman Neil.

Steele said he took the law into the barn of his neighbor, Thomas Duly, had failed to return a horse he bought from him years ago. After Magistrate Ellis shaw heard the story, he imposed a conviction of horse theft on Steele to go on suspended sentence when he had paid costs.

Steele told the court he had bought a horse, and said he was paying for it. "All he paid was cents and a little work."

"It says in the Bible an eye, and a tooth for a tooth," he said. "I beat me out of a horse and I went and got one from him."

World's Lowest Price

Some day I'll do it—I'll do it!
From all the old, hard days;
I'll piece together a little heart;
Perhaps I'll laugh at strange, new ways.

Some day you will come with dawn,
And then, despite my nesting birds
You all will realize that I
And it will be too late for words.

I could not leave you in sorrow
When limpid stars crept through the sky,
For I would have you remember I had gone,
And let you think of me as you still.

Of course, my dear, you know that that thing
But you must never mention it to day;
For I'll have gathered my life,
And I'll go laughing my way.

Zionists Split on Palestine Cut

ZURICH, Switzerland—A minority resolution expressing firm opposition to Great Britain's plan to partition Palestine was introduced at a special session of the World Zionist Congress.

The congress earlier split into two factions over the partitioning scheme and it was only after hours of negotiation that opposition delegates were induced to meet with the others.

A majority resolution was being drawn up to embody the opinions of Chaim Weizman, Zionist President and many others that the British plan should be considered as a basis for negotiations with a view to achieving a larger Jewish State in Palestine than that contemplated in the Royal Commision's report.

Playwright's Speech At Opening Censored

LONDON. — Laurence Housman, Great Britain's most censored dramatist, has had a speech censored.

Thirty-two of Housman's plays are under the censor's ban. His play "Victoria Regina," which had been banned for years because it portrays Queen Victoria on the stage, has at last been allowed to be played in London.

After the first and wildly successful night, Housman was called to the stage and he had prepared this speech:

"Your Royal Highnesses, my Lord, Ladies and Gentlemen: At the gracious and unusual common sense of his late Majesty, King Edward VIII, now Duke of Windsor, this play appears, and I tender my grateful thanks."

But he was not allowed to make the speech.

Week-End Accidents Kill Three In Ontario

May Ask Apology From Jose Iturbi

NEW YORK.—Asserting "it's just too bad that Mr. Iturbi does not like our music," an official of the American Society of Composers, authors and publishers suggested that the conductor might be forbidden the use of American compositions unless he apologizes for the remarks he made about them in Philadelphia.

E. C. Mills, chairman of Ascap's administrative committee, said it was regrettable that "such a distinguished artist should have so narrow a mind and so intemperate a tongue," and added:

"American composers would be well within their reasonable rights in henceforth forbidding him under any circumstances or at any time to render any of their copyrighted compositions, and it may be that they will do this unless he retracts his remarks and apologizes for them."

Nineteen Lose Lives In Tenement Collapse

NEW YORK. — Weary searchers and official investigators are focusing their attention on the debris of the Staten Island tenement building in which at least nineteen persons lost their lives this week.

Five were injured and in hospitals. Two were possibly missing and were sought in the wreckage of the structure which collapsed after flood waters undermined its foundations.

Fallen bricks and splintered wood still filled the deep cellars under the 40-year-old building that housed eight families and went down in the rushing stream flowing down the narrow cobbled street after a thunder shower.

Slashed by Maniac In Downtown Store

TORONTO.—Mrs. Jack Wooding, wife of a R.C.A.M.C. Corporal from London, was slashed across the back with a razor or sharp instrument this week while shopping in a downtown store. She was not injured. The slasher ripped an eight-inch cut in her dress and underclothing. It was the first such incident since the epidemic of slashing and stabbings a year ago.

In Essex County Alone Two Lose Lives In Highway Crashes

Death confined its week-end harvest of tragedies in Ontario to three fatalities, two in Essex County.

An 11-year-old Chicago boy, Thomas Burke, was killed, and eight other persons, including his parents, were injured when two United States cars collided near Leamington. They hit head-on at a highway turn, known locally as "Dead Man's Corner".

At Windsor, Alcide Garant, aged 53, was run over by an auto and fatally injured.

James J. Hands, former Mayor of Perth, was found drowned in a bathtub at his home.

Chicago Lad Killed

LEAMINGTON. — Eleven-year old Thomas Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Burke, 3311 South Queen St., Chicago, was killed and eight other persons, including his parents, injured during the week-end, when two United States automobiles collided head-on at Dead Man's Corner, one and one-half miles west of Cottam, on No. 3 Highway. Cottam is ten miles northwest of Leamington, and the injured were brought to hospital here.

Thomas died of a fractured skull and lacerations of the brain tissue. The Burke car contained the family of five, while the other car, driven by Frank Wablik, 34, 71 England Ave., Lackawanna, N.Y. contained three passengers. The accident occurred late Saturday.

The injured:

William Burke 13, severe cut to the right eye, which damaged the optic nerve, and severe brain concussion.

Patrick Burke, 42, his father, fractured right arm, fracture and dislocation of the left wrist and lacerations to the nose.

Mrs. Anna Burke, 40, his mother, fractured left knee, fractured ribs and deep facial cuts.

Virginia Burke, 9, severe face and head lacerations.

Frank Wablik, dislocated hip, fractured pelvis and fractured breast bone.

Mrs. Anna Wablik, 36, fractured ribs, lacerations to both legs, and facial cuts.

Clare Wablik, 18, sister of the driver, minor cuts.

Hospital authorities and attending physicians reported William Burke and Esther Wablik were most seriously injured although conscious. All injured were reported to be making favorable progress.

Dr. James Young, Chief Coroner of Essex County, has ordered an inquest which will be postponed indefinitely until those injured are able to testify.

Windsor Man Loses Life

WINDSOR. — Alcide Garant, 53, Windsor, was killed Sunday when he was run over by an automobile in charge of Louis Hebert, 25, Windsor. Garant died of a fractured skull and laceration of the brain and also suffered a fractured left leg and multiple bruises.

Hebert, held by police for investigation, said he noticed an object lying on the road, but could not swerve his machine in time to avoid striking the lower part of the body.

Reindeer Trek Ends

The famous reindeer drive across the northern tundras from Alaska to the Mackenzie Delta is now nearing an end. Andy Bahr and his gallant band of herders expect to complete the 2,000-mile journey this fall and hand over to the Eskimos in the delta region a permanent meat supply. In one of the four years since the trek got under way the herd advanced only 90 miles, since in winter progress was delayed by wolves, blizzards and treacherous ice conditions; in summer by maddening insects. At the final round-up the reindeer will be driven into a huge corral and counted. It is expected the total will reach 5,000. In the annals of Canadian history, the reindeer trek provides a romantic and enthralling page.

New Trends In Education

In an address before the Canadian Institute of Economics and Politics Convention meeting on Lake Couchiching, Dr. Duncan McArthur, Ontario Deputy Minister of Education, said that the development of the Ontario system of education had been like building the middle storey of a house before the foundation. In pioneer days the first schools to be established had as their purpose the preparation of the children of the wealthy for law and the church. Later common schools were introduced, he said, for the benefit of farmers and frontiersmen, followed by the "public schools." But none of these schools functioned with a view to preparing their students for later life. The aim of the new education now is, Dr. McArthur declared, to fit pupils for life, and towards that end, changes are being made in the present Ontario system. For example, in the teaching of the French language, less stress will be laid on learning the dry structure of the grammar. Instead pupils will be taught a conversational use of French, so that they may learn to speak it as an actual, living language.

Crisis In Alberta

Premier Aberhart rode into the headship of the Government of Alberta on the crest of a strong wave of popular feeling. He was the great hope of the people who hailed him as deliverer from the sad state into which provincial affairs had slipped. The eyes of the world, too, were on him and the Social Credit gospel. But opposition came from many quarters, so that to accomplish what he set out to do, he had practically to declare a dictatorship.

Now a constitutional struggle of the first magnitude is going on in Alberta following the introduction of the Government's bill to license bankers operating in the province and control some of their activities. A Provincial Credit Commission is being named to undertake the control measures. The control issue may go to the courts, authoritative sources say, and the Dominion Government may step in "to protect the citizens of Alberta from losing rights they possess in common with citizens of other provinces." Another piece of legislation introduced this week proposes to close the courts of Alberta to any action involving a constitutional test of Alberta statutes. Then only by a license granted by the Aberhart Government could the courts of the province pass on the constitutionality of a provincial law. Such legislation is looked upon by some as clashing with the British North America Act.

France Recovering

Following the fall of Blum's "Popular Front" government in France this summer, a great many things could have happened — a gory revolution might have occurred with the country swinging over to Fascism. Violence, however, was avoided, and, according to the new premier, Camille Chautemps a profound social transformation carried out quietly. Chautemps, less of a real "socialist" than Blum, declares that France has now overcome the initial obstacles on the road to economic recovery, and is able to embark on a program designed to increase production.

Drought In England

In some sections of England, Dartmoor, for instance, if it doesn't rain for three days, local farmers begin worrying over the drought. But this year when no rain fell on the entire island for two weeks, it was a matter of general concern. The British Department of Agriculture ran up "official drought" signals in many parts of the country and newspapers this week featured drought news as front page stories.

Chinese Will Fight Invaders

Japanese Invasion of China to be Resisted, Week-end Statement Says

NANKING. — The Chinese Foreign Office Sunday issued a statement reiterating China's intention to resist Japan's invasion.

"In the face of Japan's unlimited appetite for conquest, China is obliged to take all the necessary measures for defense," the statement said. "China is fighting now not only for the defense of its territory, but also for respect for international law.

"If Japan has no territorial ambitions in China, then Tokio must agree to negotiate a reasonable settlement of all Sino-Japanese problems. China is ready to make every effort to avert the moral peril that threatens Asia and the whole world, but declares that Japan has not respected Chinese sovereignty and has violated treaties, notably the Nine-Power Pact, the Covenant of the League of Nations and the Briand-Kellogg Peace Pact."

Art Rogue

CHICAGO.—Convicted on charges of stealing wearing apparel from a home, Glover Sudor was sentenced to 10 months in the House of Correction.

Elated over the light sentence, Sudor penciled a sketch of Assistant State's Attorney Frank Donoghue. Glancing at the drawing Donoghue handed it to Judge Michael L. McKinley and proposed that the sentence be changed to life.

"On the contrary," the judge replied. "I think it is a very good likeness, and I will reduce the sentence to nine months."

Girl, Aged 13, Gives Birth To A Baby

TORONTO.—The Daily Star said it had been told by a physician that a 13-year-old Toronto girl gave birth to an eight-pound baby in a Toronto hospital.

Both mother and child are progressing "excellently" and are resting now at home, The Star said. The baby's father is said to be 26 years old.

Leopard Society Reported Crushed

MONROVIA, Liberia.—The Government is reported to have crushed the dreaded Human Leopard Society, whose members cut out the hearts of their victims.

Thirty ringleaders have been arrested, tried and imprisoned. Police said the society was led by George Cain of Bassa, Liberia, who attempted to gain control of the natives by death and terror.

Members of the society wore leopard skins when they made their night time murder forays.

Col. T. E. Davis, Liberia's best fighter, broke up the society. He gathered evidence from fear-stricken natives then arrested the leaders.
