

No Universal Remedy

has yet been discovered; but, as at least four-fifths of human diseases have their source in Impure Blood, a medicine which restores that fluid from a depraved to a healthy condition comes as near being a universal cure as any that can be produced. Ayer's Sarsaparilla affects the blood in each stage of its formation, and is, therefore, adapted to a greater variety of complaints than any other known medicine.

Boils and Carbuncles, which defy ordinary treatment, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla after a comparatively brief trial.

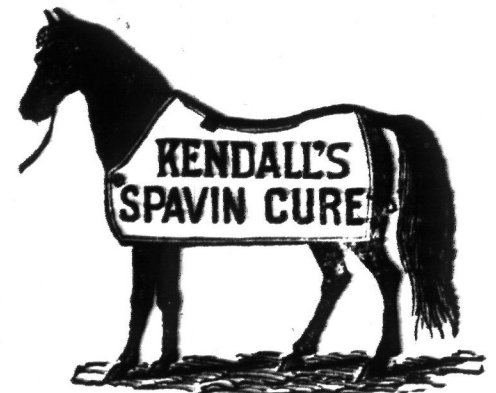

Mr. C. K. Murray, of Charlottesville, Va., writes that for years he was afflicted with boils which caused him much suffering. These were succeeded by carbuncles, of which he had several at one time. He then began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles, the carbuncles disappeared, and for six years he has not had even a pimple.

That insidious disease, Scrofula, is the fruitful cause of innumerable complaints. Consumption being only one of many equally fatal. Eruptions, ulcers, sore eyes, glandular swellings, weak and wasted muscles, a capricious appetite, and the like, are pretty sure indications of a scrofulous taint in the system. Many otherwise beautiful faces are disfigured by pimples, eruptions, and unsightly blotches, which arise from impure blood, showing the need of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to remedy the evil.

All sufferers from blood disorders should give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a fair trial, avoiding all powders, ointments, and washes, and especially cheap and worthless compounds, which not only fail to effect a cure, but more frequently aggravate and confirm the diseases they are fraudulently advertised to remedy.

THE TRAGEDY AT GUELPH.

Additional evidence at the Inquest

WHAT REV. H. COBBLEDICK SAID FROM

HIS PULPIT IN THE HAYLEY STREET

METHODIST CHURCH—MR. LYON GIVES

A DETAILED ACCOUNT OF HIS BUSI-

NESS RELATIONS WITH THE PRIS-ONER—THE CASE GIVEN TO THE JURY.

GUELPH, April 2.—The inquest on the remains of the Harvey family, who were shot on Tuesday, March 26, was resumed this evening in the court house before Coroner Herod.

Rev G. H. Cobbledick, pastor of the Paisley street Methodist church, was the first witness. On Sunday evening in his sermon he made reference to the three deceased parties. What he said touching the case was simply by way of illustration and uttered impromptu, and he was not therefore prepared to give the exact words, as it would only be from memory. Witness was illustrating the point that a man who votes for licensing hotels is to a certain extent responsible for the harm done by the liquor sold by such hotels. He said in substance that it was reported on good authority that the individual referred to had obtained and drank a glass of liquor on the morning of the tragedy. He did not say that his authority was a responsible nor a respectable man. "I said a lady of high standing in the city told Mr. Schiverea on the Grand Trunk platform on the morning that he left the city that she had been informed by a man who saw him take it." Witness' information came from Mr. Schiverea. "Have not ascertained whether the information is founded on a fact or not."

MR. LYON TESTIFIES.

James Walter Lyon, sworn—I do one part of my business as the World Publishing Company; know the prisoner; he was in my employ; he came to me a year ago last October and has been permanently with me about eighteen months; he was employed as confidential clerk or manager, and during my absence managed my business entirely. Witness had no security or guarantee from the prisoner; put almost unlimited trust in the prisoner; never knew that he drank liquor, and as far as I know he was a sober man; he received a salary of $1,200 a year; first saw there was something wrong a week ago last Friday night; found in my cash book that many additions were false, and what I considered false entries; thought the matter over till Monday, and then sent the clerks all away before I spoke to him so that he would not be embarrassed to talk; he said nothing to me till I repeated the charge several times and pointed out that there were a good many incorrect entries. He then said: "I do not deny the charge." Witness asked him how much he had taken, and he said not over $1,000; found it very difficult to get him to say anything, and had to press him for answers; asked him what I should do with him and he said: "Anything that you like." He then turned his back on me, and I asked him if I should arrest him. He made no reply. Asked him if I should discharge him and he made no reply; asked him I should keep him on and work in the office. He turned around and asked me on what terms and conditions, as my solicitor told me not to do it. Witness asked him if he had not all the salary he asked for, and he said yes. I asked him if he did not give him $50 for Christmas, and he said yes; asked him what made him take the money. He said he was in debt when he came to work for me. The errors were principally in the additions. Asked him if there was anything wrong except the additions, and he answered no. Pointed out $40 wrong, and he afterwards admitted that he took it, and he did not seem penitent. He did not beg my pardon, nor say he was sorry or anything else, and I felt compelled to arrest him. Swore out the papers about six o'clock on Monday night, three days after I had found the embezzlement. I paid him $50 on Saturday, after knowing of the embezzlement. He had the custody of about $100,000 in deeds and $16,000 in notes. There were two keys to the safe and he had them both. I considered if this case was not worthy of arrest the law of embezzlement should be repealed. The embezzlement was going on for eleven months. There was only one month when no embezzlement took place. The books have been partly audited by Mr. John Kilgour and Mr. Gansby. Looked over some pages and found about $1,000 of embezzlement, or what appears to be an embezzlement. The last time I saw the prisoner he came into my office just before nine o'clock on Tuesday morning. He asked me why I changed my mind, and I said I did not think he was very penitent and the more I looked at the books the worse I found them. I said, "Mr. Harvey, I made you no promise; what I should do." He replied, "Certainly, I know you did not," and turned around and walked out.

To the Crown Attorney—I am willing to submit the books to the prisoner or his friends.

To a Jurymen—He walked very straight on the Tuesday morning and in a soldierly and dignified manner.

Witness, continuing, said if he could have foreseen the consequences he would not have had the arrest made.

Mr. Lyon here produced a statement prepared by Mr. Kilgour showing a shortage of $754.

OTHER WITNESSES.

Thos. L. Robinson, of Galt, related the conversation which took place between the prisoner and himself when W. H. Harvey was engaging a rig from him to drive to Harrisburg.

John McMicken, an employee of the last witness, stated that he drove the prisoner from Galt to Harrisburg on the afternoon of Tuesday, March 26. The last witness saw of the prisoner he was boarding the fast express at Harrisburg at 6.07.

John Saunders, signal man at Guelph Junction, said: Saw prisoner about 3.30 o'clock on Tuesday, the 26th March; got dinner about 10.30 that day. The Hamilton train had gone through Guelph before I saw the prisoner. It arrives here about 11.45. Never saw the prisoner before Tuesday. There is no possibility of my mistaking the man.

Dr. Howitt read to the jury the result of the post-mortem examination. All three deaths were caused by gunshot wounds.

Dr. A. McKinnon, sworn, said he assisted Dr. Howitt in the post-mortem examinations on the three deceased women, and he corroborated the evidence given by that gentleman. At 1.30 a.m. the jury retired.

THE VERDICT.

The jury returned at 1.50 and rendered a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Harvey and her two daughters came to their death by bullets feloniously discharged from a revolver in the hands of Wm. H. Harvey, and that the said Harvey did feloniously and with malice aforethought kill and murder the said deceased persons.

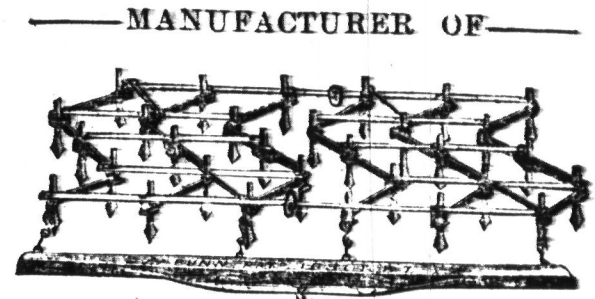

The Hon. J. H. Pope.

The death of Mr. Pope is a serious loss to the country. The deceased gentleman was an able administrator and a very clear-headed business man. The department over which he presided is one of the most important branches of the public service, dealing with vast interests and most complicated accounts. The situation was more difficult than that of the general manager of a purely commercial company, because, while the country looked for the best possible financial results, the various sections served were continually pressing for lower rates, and provincial as well as Dominion interests forced themselves upon the minister. These difficult questions of administration and provincial as well as Dominion interests forced themselves upon the minister. These difficult questions of administration and finance were handled with consummate ability. It is a remarkable fact that while the manager of a large railway company receives from $20,000 to $50,000 a year, the Dominion minister, who controls all the railways and canals of the country, received only $8,000 a year; and, in addition to his departmental duties, he had political and parliamentary work to perform.

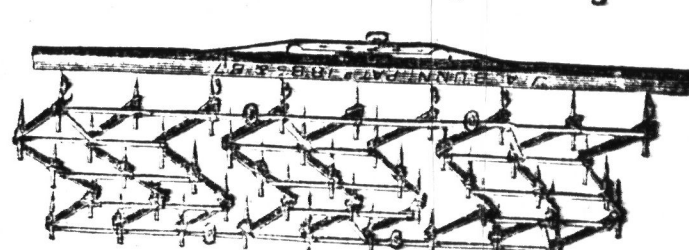

The death of Mr. Pope will be keenly felt by Sir John Macdonald. There was a closer personal friendship between these two, perhaps, than between Sir John and any other of his colleagues, and the premier had learned to trust greatly to the judgment of Mr. Pope. Sir John is deeply affected by the death of his older friend. One by one they fall away and he sees them no more. New men and good men come up and take vacant places—men with as good abilities as their predecessors had; but they are not the same. They can take the places of the old man in parliament and in the cabinet, but they cannot take the same places in the affections of the old man." Sir John's emotion in announcing the loss of his friend was genuine and deep, as those who know the relations of tender friendship between the two can testify. Any man can make his voice falter, and some men could even start a sympathetic tear; but Sir John could say with Hamlet that while these are actions which a man might play, yet—

I have that within which passeth shows; These, but the trappings and the suits of woe.

In purchasing medicines, don't try experiments; the first and only consideration should be genuineness. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has stood the test of forty years, and to-day it is in greater demand than ever—a triumphant proof of popular approval.
