240 WHO DIDN'T HAVE TO DIE!—

LAST YEAR 73 CANADIANS died from poliomyelitis. Medical scientists are work ing vigorously and ceaselessly to find out more about this disease. So far polio is somewhat of a mystery. To repeat, 73 Canadians died last year from a disease about which much remains to be learned.

But last year eighty-five Canadians died from diphtheria, a disease about which a great deal is known, a disease which can be prevented. Diphtheria toxoid is almost 100% effective. It is safe and easily administered. Nor is it a procedure limited to those in fortunate circumstances. Toxoid immunization is provided free of charge at public health clinics or for a small sum from the family physician. Yet 85 persons died last year in Canada from diphtheria.

Last year 155 Canadian children lost their lives to whooping cough. Whooping cough, too, is largely preventable. Whooping cough vaccination given in infancy can greatly reduce the number of cases and the severity of this most deadly of all children's diseases. Yet 155 lives were lost.

Medical science admittedly lacks many answers where diseases like polio are concerned. But medical science has the answers for diphtheria and whooping cough. Yet more lives were lost from each of these diseases than from polio. This shameful situation can only be remedied by public education. Therefore communities are urged to support the seventh observance of National Immunization Week, sponsored by the Health League of Canada from September 11 to 17.

BUEAUCRATIC LABYRINTH—

THIS IS THE STORY of one Tom Bracegirdle who, according to the news despatches, got caught in the spider web of bureaucracy, woven so strongly by the socialist government of England since 1945, and the moral of the tale is obvious.

Tom, says the Montreal Gazette, was a Somerset County parish clerk. It was part of his job to put up election notices and in the free and easy way of England in the good old days he posted them on parish trees. All this came to an end when Sir Richard Acland turned his Somerset property over to the country as a national trust. The trees Tom used were on Sir Richard's land, now the government's. The bureaucrats told Tom he had to quit posting notices on the trees and get five bulletin boards instead. From then on Tom was like a mouse in a maze. Here is what happened:

He got permission to raise tax rates a penny to pay for the boards. Then he applied, in triplicate, for an allotment of rationed lumber to make the boards. Next, he mailed the authorities a copy of the lease, in triplicate, covering erection of the boards. Then he applied, in quadruplicate, for permission from the county planning committee to erect the boards. The committee sent the application back, saying that they had to have applications in triplicate for each of the five boards with a diagram of the proposed bulletin board on each.

At this stage of the game, something in Tom's soul died. He upped and quit.

Maybe if the bureaucrats got together and slapped a ration order on paper in the shape of interminable government forms in triplicate and quadruplicate that are the hallmarks of bureaucracy, individual initiative and native efficiency might have a chance of rebirth in that sorely plagued land of England.

Newfoundland, one-fifth larger than England, lies a little farther south but has a very similar climate. Just 317 miles from east to west at its widest point and 317 miles long from north to south, the island is nine miles from the North American mainland at its closest point.

Readers of Hansard (Report of the Official Debates in the House of Commons, Ottawa) of which there are too few, will have digested with interest and enthusiasm the maiden speech of the new member for Haldimand, Earl Catherwood, in the House last Thursday. The majority of voters in Haldimand were quite sure they were sending a good representative to Parliament by virtue of their ballot last June 27th, but that fact was surely verified by his first oratorical effort in that great chamber. The speech provided ample evidence that Earl Catherwood knows the foremost problem of the majority of people he represents — that is the farmers — and further, more feels no compunction in asking the Minister of Agriculture in a forthright way what is being done about it. It was significant that the Minister did not deign to reply to the Haldimand member. Suffice it to say Earl Catherwood is proving himself a worthy successor to Mark Senn.

"If Mr. Drew is to be a leader whom the public would regard with favor", says The Printed Word, "further steps must be taken to have his real worth appreciated. There is a big balance of assets over liabilities, of political virtues over his individualistic faults. One or two more items in the balance sheet have been blown up by opponents until the market value of the stock of the party is at its lowest. Party auditors needs to re-examine the case and give the public the facts in their proper perspective." . . . .

"The Jarvis Jills might have been the Provincial Champions this year. As it turned out they had to be satisfied with second place position in their own league. Many believed they were the class of the league this year and with good reason. Despite their lack of championships they can be assured that the margin between them and the top team is not so big as to lend discouragement when another season rolls around. . . . .

A new column titled "Country Editor" is being added to our regular features this week. The author is Jim Greenblat, Editor of the Swift Current Sun, rightfully regarded as one of the outstanding weekly editors in Canada. We travelled with Jim from his home town to Jasper Park a few weeks ago and the association proved a valuable one for us. The column is a condensation of news highlights taken from weekly papers from coast to coast in Canada and usually deals with specific subjects of current interest.

BRIEF NOTES FOR THE BUSY FARMER

— By Haldimand Harry —

Up to September 14th a total of 1221 herds had been checked in the area general Haldimand T.B. test and 25,728 head of cattle were included. Sixty-two herds had reactors and forty of these herds have now been given a sixty day re-test with only four more head of cattle removed. This work is now almost complete.

-oOo-

According to latest information Canada's grain crop is likely to be considerably smaller than that of a year ago. Wheat for instance will show a reduction of close to 2,000,000 bushels but about 20,000,000 bushels below the ten year average. In the case of oats a reduction of 41,000,000 bushels is forecast and in barley a reduction of approximately 22,000,000 bushels.

-oOo-

The same report states that the cattle marketings for the first seven months of 1949 were very much heavier than 1948 while other classes of livestock were somewhat lighter. Exports of live cattle were above those of a year ago although other livestock and their products were considerably lower.

-oOo-

Coming closer home, the acreage of oats in Haldimand County was almost 3,000 greater than in 1948 but the estimated average yield is seven bushels per acre lower than in 1948. This gives a net reduction of almost 200,000 bushels on the total acreage of this crop in the County. Similar productions are reported in both mixed grain and barley, all of which means that Haldimand farmers will find it necessary to feed carefully in order to make the crop last through the winter season.

-oOo-

Two more farmers who have reported having unusual success with the use of lime, are Lewis Hassack of Caledonia and Graydon Field, of Nanticoke. Mr. Hussack ran out of lime before he had finished his field and states that, while he did not receive much benefit in the grain crop he could notice a tremendous difference in the clover crop. In his own expression, it appeared as though he had used only half as much seed on that portion that was limed. Mr. Field likewise states that he has had excellent results through the use of lime on his clover crops.

-oOo-

The important factors in determining the profit per hen are more feed per hen, a good protein content in that feed, adequate although not necessarily expensive accommodation and a reliable source of clean water which is warmed in winter. At least these are the observations that have been made at some of the extra egg production and the greatest return over feed cost were secured when the feed including both grain and mash added up to 150 pounds or more per hen per year. Top flocks had an average feed consumption of 178 lbs.

-oOo-

The hens are probably happiest when they have the run of the farm but the fact remains that under such conditions the feed consumption is lower and fewer eggs are laid. Furthermore at certain seasons of the year a much higher quality of egg can be produced under confined conditions. Dirty eggs always fall into a low grade and these invariably result on free range during the muddy seasons of the spring and fall.

COMMENT ON DEVALUATION

"The Shawinigan Falls, Que., Standard thinks Britain cannot be expected to fight the West's post war battles for economic and political stability alone. "If their new sacrifice is to count for us all — Americans, Frenchmen, Canadians, Belgians and the rest of us — it will have to be accompanied by a deep understanding, especially in powerful America, of just who are in this boat together, how we got there, and how we can bring it to shore."

—The Goderich, Ont., Signal Star thinks we in Canada will be affected to some extent, "the test of the entire devaluation move will be a degree of courage and endurance shown by the British people during these years of great effort on small rations."

—The Red Deer, Alta., Advocate thinks it will be some time before immediate effects or the long term trend will be apparent." Just how large a quantity of British exports to the United States market will absorb before he has to pick up is another unknown quantity. The courage and resolution of the British people in the austerity belt-tightening move are but another evidence of their invincibility."

—In the Verdun, Que., Guardian the writer thinks the British government did the right thing." An article may be for one country to must be an unfair price. Why should any one have to pay four dollars for a pound if it is only worth three? The $4.03 valuation was a device to cushion the shock of Britain's great devaluation issue for her people. We hope to see a steady increase in the real value of the pound." . . . .

—The Drummondville, Que., Spokesman, sums it us thus:

"The bold and courageous revaluation on currencies, then, is based upon the highest and most powerful considerations of policy. It marks the transition of policy of the soft currency nations from dependence on subsidies to vigorous self-help. If Canada is itself enmeshed in difficulties it will remain one of the stronger countries involved. Our own policies must continue to be based on enlightened assistance to our friends and allies elsewhere."

—The Dauphin, Man., Herald has this slant:

"But the one point that bothers us most at this time is how quickly the whole purpose of the devaluation policy as a shot in the arm to overcome deficit trading can be lost through a forced uptrend of wage and material costs in Canada's production and services. Yet widespread demands for increases in earning power will in all likelihood be the order of the day if and when the Canadian public becomes aware of higher living costs as a threat to the standards attained in recent years."

—The Swift Current (Sask.) Sun sees the devaluation move as even "Churchillian in its audacity of purpose in the world sense and that's apparently what the British were in"

—Canadiana Items: An aircraft load of blueberries is to go from Nova Scotia and a new horticultural industry for the now valueless peat land; plants uprooted one day in Nova Scotia will be planted in Lanarkshire within 24 hours, saving four to five years in transportation. While testing the gas pressure in his outdoor propane tank at High River, Alta., N. A. Weiser had his hand severely frostbitten; came out as if covered in frost and then in blisters. . . . George A. Davis of Upper Clyde River has taken the Yarmouth, N.S. Herald-Telegram for over Sixty-five years, and is to have it free the rest of his life. . . . Mr. George Meraw of London, Ont., grandmother of thirteen and her twin brother Albert Lucas, first twins born in Smiths Falls, Ont., were together to celebrate an anniversary. . . . The Fraser Valley Record reports that Marion Souchies has something "new" in style, a real live lizard as a dress ornament, cuteness personified in blue. . . . A twelve pound peach of the Clingstone variety was brought into the Kelowna, B.C., Progress office from a tree planted by Mrs. George Shaw ten years ago. . . . George Wiper of Seneca, Ont., township, according to the Leamington Post, has used the same ordinary razor blade for two years now, and its just as sharp as ever he claims and he adds his beard is tougher than the usual one. . . . Tommy Hender . . . of Cobourg, Ont., boy tenor, sings before the King and Queen in a command performance October 3rd. . . . One of the largest bluefin tuna ever caught with rod and line went to Harold Graham of Dartmouth, N.S., on Sept. 20, weighing 807 pounds. . . . At Nipawin, Sask., highest wheat yield reported was 62-bushels to the acre, so says the Nipawin Journal, highly pleased.

$14,000. In Prize Money Is Offered Plow Experts at International Match

A total of more than $14,000 in prizes, together with several trips, are included in the prize-list of the 1949 International Plowing Match. The program and prize-list has just been issued by the Ontario Plowmen's Association, sponsors of the big annual event.

This year's match takes place on the farm of H. W. Amy, near Burford, just west of Brantford, October 11 — 14.

Perhaps the most coveted prize of the big event is the trip to the British Isles. This trip is offered to winning plowmen in both tractor and horse-drawn class. Awards include a gold medal and the Trans-Atlantic trip which carries with it a month in the British Isles and participation in several world-famous plowing competitions next winter.

Another much sought after prize is that offered in the Inter-County class for tractors. Competition is open to teams of two young men, who have not yet reached their 20th birthday, from each county in Ontario. Choice of contestants will be made by the local Agricultural Representatives.

Prize in this event is an all-expense trip to the 1949 International Livestock Exposition at Chicago.

Then there is the inter-county horse drawn event in which the two top winning teams of four young men, who will be awarded a conservation tour to the Tennessee Valley in the United States.

In each trip a manager or guide will accompany the winners on their travels.

Competition on Local Day, which is Tuesday, October 11, will be confined to the counties of Brant, Oxford, Haldimand, Wentworth, Norfolk and Waterloo. On the remaining three days of the match, entry will be open to the world and there will be from seven to ten classes, divided into sod and stubble groupings for both tractor and horse.

Competitors must qualify for entry to the International Contest through their own local plowing matches. They may enter according to age and previous prize-winning experience. They will also have all types of plows in classes listed as "Utility" contestants are not permitted to touch the plowed furrows except with the plow with it a month in the British Isles and participation in several world-famous plowing competitions next winter.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

INFANT BAPTISM

At "Gaywood" the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Pond, the Sacrament of Infant Baptism was celebrated on Sunday afternoon at a family gathering. Kerry Lawrence the infant son of Lawrence and Arlene Pond and D'arcy Lawrence, the infant son of Donald and Patricia Bresnahan, were presented by their parents and the god-parents, Joan Williamson and Keith Bousfield for Kerry Lawrence and Mrs. Gordon and Mr. Lawrence Bresnahan and Mr. Lawrence Pond for D'Arcy Lawrence. Present also were the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pond and Mr. and Mrs. Braund and Mr. and Mrs. James Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chapman and children.

SUNDAY AT GARNET

We hope that everyone from the Jarvis congregation will be able to attend one at least of the Garnet services on Sunday. Mr. Christie of Brantford who preaches at the morning service is well known here and Dr. Forster of Welland, who preaches in the evening, is a man whom we would all do well to hear. He returned a few months ago from Europe where, after the Amsterdam Assembly of the World Council of Churches he visited the Reformation lands.

OCTOBER 16th at JARVIS

Everyone who reads these words is invited to share the celebration of the Jarvis Congregation's Anniversary. Rev. Beverley Oaten of Colborne St. Church in Brantford, will conduct the morning service and Rev. Jas. Guthrie of Edinburgh comes from Toronto to preach in the evening. There will be special music by combined Jarvis and Garnet Choirs and Mr. Chas. Rush of Brantford will sing in the morning.

ANNIVERSARY SUPPER

You are reminded also of the Anniversary Supper to be held on Monday night, October 17th under the auspices of the Rices to Club

BELL AND CABLE are two names that are gaining the authority of a respected trade-mark in the realm of Canadian music. The combination of the Leslie Bell Singers and Howard Cable's orchestral arrangements is proving one of the most successful collaborations in radio. They bring their Sunday evening program of last year back to CBC's Dominion network on Sunday October 2nd, between 8.30 and 9.00 p.m.

Hagersville Rod & Gun Club Resumes Meetings

— By C. Bott —

Well friends, here we are again after our summer sojourn. This reminds us of our school days when we had to look forward to school in September.

Our first meeting of the fall term was well attended and about seventy members were present. Several new Junior members were added to the fast growing membership roll. President Orland Dilello occupied the chair for the first portion of the meeting and Vice President Geo Murdoch was in charge of the last half.

The minutes of the last meeting and the executive meeting were read by Secretary Blain Beck and the financial report by Treasurer Les. Lossing. Several very interesting films on wild life, some in slow motion, were shown by Mr. McDonald of the Dept. of Lands and Forests and were thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

A letter was received from zone headquarters in regard to sending representatives to the zone meeting to be held in London, October 15 - 16. Tom Laidlaw and Grant Lindsay were elected delegates to attend this convention. Several resolutions to be placed before the committee were discussed and voted on. Further details of these will appear at a latter date.

It has been suggested that our Junior Club is now large enough to form their own executive, etc. and plan some of their own activities under the direction of some of the Senior members. This will mean they can have their own meetings on the same night as usual but they would be able to start at 7. o'clock instead of waiting for us at 8. o'clock. At the last meeting we were a little late getting started and as a result the Juniors did not get away as soon as we would like to have seen.

An excellant report was received from chairman Pete Laidlaw of the Pheasant committee about 2220 birds were released from our own hatchery this year. An additional 1150 birds of releasable age were received from the Dept. of Lands and Forests. Also 250 day-old birds from the Dept. If these birds are protected and on open days only the lawful limit taken, we should have quite a number of birds for hunting in a year or two. Each day we see more evidence of the increasing number of birds in our immediate vicinity.

About one hundred birds have been selected to be kept over for next year's egg production. Anyone who would like to get a few of these birds please contact the Pheasant committee.

A Junior Rifle Club has been planned under the able direction of Game Warden Roy Finch, Blair Bert, Robt. Dagleish and Geo. Gowan. There is an excellent twenty-five yard Rifle Range in the basement of the community Centre and we are trying to get the use of this for the winter months at least. If we are successful a Senior Club may also be formed with the prospect of inter-club matches in the offing.

The annual Club Banquet will be held this year on December 2nd unless unforseen circumstances make it necessary to change the date. Banquet committees are as follows: Program, O. Dilello, K. Featherstone, R. Loughed; Tickets C. O. Bott, Blair Beck; Hall and Catering, Geo. Murdoch, Les. Lossing. Tickets for the banquet will be on sale shortly and as there are a limited number, Get Your Tickets Early.

Entries for the Photo Contest are not coming in very fast and anyone who has pictures to enter, please get them in as soon as possible.

The Pest Control is certainly doing its share at Pest Control. It is surprising how many rats, starlings, crows, fox, skunks and ground hogs have been destroyed just through this contest. It is going to be a very close race between the two teams so don't miss a chance to get some points for your team.

There have been some changes in the game laws in regard to hunting. Chief among these is that Pump Guns must be plugged to hold a maximum of three shells including the firing chamber. Following is a few of the dates and bag limits for hunting: All times given are Standard Time: Pheasants, November 4 and 5 8. A.M. to 5. P.M. Bag limit 3 cocks per day; Ducks, October 15 to Dec. 8, limit 7 per day; Woodcock, October 1 to November 7, limit, 8 per day; Wilson Snipe, October 1 to October 31, limit, 8 per day; Squirrel, November 11 - 12, limit, 5 per day; Deer, November 14 to 23; Raccoon, November 1 - December 31.

Lunch committee for next meeting is Jas. Cossar, Tom Emsley and Lorne James.

BRIEF NOTES FOR THE BUSY FARMER

— By Haldimand Harry —

(Intended for last issue)

Do Haldimand Farmers get any results from applying lime? Perhaps the best answers can be given by those who have, for instance, those in the vicinity of Nanticoke might discuss this matter with John M. Vokes. Mr. Vokes has now covered his farm with lime since the Fall of 1947 having applied in the neighbourhood of 175 tons. Whereas he was getting very poor catches before he is now growing good crops of alfalfa.

-oOo-

To be more specific, Mr. Vokes had two fields, eight acres each, which were ploughed in the Fall of 1946; No. 1 out of corn stubble and No. 2 out of wheat stubble. Both fields were seeded to oats and alfalfa in the Spring of 1947 and the No. 1 field was limed that fall at the rate of about one ton to the acre. Last year, in 1948, 17 loads of good alfalfa hay were taken off the No. 1 field only eight loads came from the No. 2 field. Practically the same results have been received in 1949 although now the No. 2 field has been limed as well. It would appear that liming does give results in Haldimand County.

Copies of the Rules and Regulations and application for enrolment in connection with the new Boar Premium Policy are now on hand at the office of your Agricultural Representative. Any Ontario resident owning a registered boar is eligible to participate under the Policy and those wishing to take advantage of the assistance should enrol with the Live Stock Commissioner as soon as possible. Boars may be enrolled at any age but it is recommended that enrolment be deferred until the boars oldest progeny are four to five months of age. Those interested should apply for a copy of the regulations.

Now would be a good time to clip those udders just as the cows are being brought into winter quarters. At least this will save a good deal of time later on and the cows will not have a chance to get dirty. Remember a clean udder is one of the first things to have if a clean product is to be obtained.
