THE STORY OF GENERAL MOTORS

A blacksmith who didn't arrive on time was probably as responsible as anyone for the beginnings of the carriage factory which has grown into General Motors of Canada. R. S. McLaughlin, chairman of the board, says in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine.

McLaughlin, telling the story of his long life in the carriage and automobile industry, relates that his father, Robert McLaughlin, an expert wood worker, took an order to make two carriages. The late arrival of the blacksmith who was to do the ironwork led to the elder McLaughlin establishing a shop where he employed permanent labor, rather than depend on the casual journeymen most carriage makers employed.

The McLaughlin shop was set up in Tyrone, a southern Ontario village and moved to Oshawa in 1876. The move to Oshawa was daring, McLaughlin says, at least in the opinion of two competitive carriage firms already established there.

"They let it be known that in their opinion "McLaughlin will last six months." It took a little longer than that for further changes to occur in the Oshawa carriage industry — and when they did it was the competitors who disappeared."

What Others Think

Ed. Note—The following was taken from the last issue of the Grimsby Independent under the heading SPORTOLOGY, by "Bones" Livingston. What "Bones" has to say about the recent Mount-Hope-Jarvis protest will be of interest to our readers and will indicate that the feeling aroused in this district may have been shared farther away than we suspected.

"WHAT IS A PAIR OF UNDER-SOCKS? That is something I cannot answer. That is something that Old Smoke MacBride, a ball player, hard and soft, for 40 years cannot answer. Yet there apparently is a rule, maybe and maybe not, in the book of the O.A.S.A. that says that "no pitcher can wear a pair of socks and underwear the colour of wine or cream." Now, what is a pair of undersocks? Anyhoo, they must be something because the Little Brains that comprise the O.A.S.A. decided that there was something when they protested to the protest of Mount Hope that pitcher Johnny Edwards, of Jarvis, wore "undersocks" when he decisively licked their ears off in two successive games. The O.A.S.A. listened to the senile protest and ordered the game replayed on Mt. Hope ground. Johnny and his teammates from the town that gave Bob Bourne his wife, licked the Peaches's ears off again and trimmed their hair as well, four to two. These kind of protests are only the culination of good sportmanship. All that was wrong with Mount Hope was the fact that Johnny Edwards and his cohorts had licked them both at home and on their home grounds. Then they went to a technicality, and won their argument, which they were unable to win on a ball field. If a team cannot win its games in a decent manner on the field of play, then why go into a Lawyer's office? Stoney Creek took the same tactics. They proved their point, but is it SPORTS MANSHIP? Johnny Edwards licked them and everybody knows why. Next week I'll give you the history of Johnny Edwards, saies maybe, the not too likeable story of your present Lincoln-Wentworth Football League."

LIONS CLUB MEETING OF SHORT DURATION

Lion President Ted Montague conducted one of the shortest meetings in the history of the Jarvis Lions Club on Monday night, as the members were all anxious to get away for the final ball game between Jarvis and Walkerton. The Lion Chief conducted the essential business of the meeting between the main course and dessert and was able to announce the meeting adjourned with the last gulp of coffee.

Glen Mills Defeat Jills To Tie Series

A fifth inning rally that netted them four runs, gave Glen Mills the lead in a nip and tuck ball game in Jarvis on Saturday evening, as they went on to defeat the Jills eight to two in the second game of the O.R.S.A. semi-finals.

The first inning was scoreless, but the Jills left two on in their half as Gee and Saunders both hit safely. The second inning was scoreless and hitless. Glen Mills picked up one hit in the third as Thornton singled but was left on first. The Jills took the lead in the last of the third when Phyllis Ward's single went through the centre-fielder's feet, for a homer. Gee and Dosser hit safely but were left stranded. Glen Mills got that one back in the fourth on Rawling's triple and a Jarvis error. The Jills again took the lead in the last of the fourth on a hit by Betty Opersko, a Glen Mills error and a passed ball.

The roof fell in on the Jills in the fifth when with one out, Thornton, Beatty and Mercer hit safely and Armstrong connected for a homer with two away. The Jills went scoreless and hitless in the fifth, both teams went down three in a row in the sixth and seventh, and in the first of the eighth, Glen Mills struck for three more runs, on hits by the Armstrong sisters, Thornton and Beatty and two Jarvis errors. Gee singled for Jarvis in the last of the eighth, but was left stranded on first. Glen Mills went down in order in the ninth and Betty Opersko singled for Jarvis in the last of the ninth but was left on second base.

Both pitchers showed good control as not one batter reached first on a walk. Glen Mills outhit Jarvis ten to eight, but the Jills were definitely off form compared to the previous game. Rose on the mound for Glen Mills struck out five while Saunders struck out only one.

The third and deciding game was set for Norwich on Wednesday evening and the Jills will definitely be on the spot for this one if they hope to remain in the O.R.S.A. playoffs.

Hand Injury Forced Phillips Out Of Game

A well balanced Walkerton team showed up to their best advantage on Monday night against a shaky Jarvis nine, playing with a replacement catcher for Phillips, whose injured right hand kept him out of the game. The win moved Walkerton into the semi-finals against Frankfort in Eastern Ontario. The winner will meet the Northern Winners at Kirkland Lake next week.

Jarvis got away to a shaky start in the opening innings. Cook was hit with a pitched ball to gain first. He stole second and third on passed balls and came in to score the first run when a pitch got away from Booker who was replacing Phillips behind the bat. Zuk also got a free pass to first when hit by a pitch in the opening stanza but died there. Two hits in the third by Zuk and L. Dentinger counted four more runs for the winners coupled with as many errors by a team that looked anything but champions. Walkerton came back to add one more run in the fourth. Charlie Lamb fumbled Knox's grounder to put him on first. He moved to second on a passed ball and Dentinger's single sent him home. Laugheen, the batting threat of the series, hit a four bagger in the fifth to give the winners their seventh and last run of the game.

Jarvis was in a scoring position in the first innings and again in the second. Gord Miller, the first batter, struck out, but Meehan got a free pass to first. He was put out at second on Edward's fielder's choice. Edwards stole second and advanced to third when the play on him got away from Craig. Joey Dennis went down for the third out on a pop up to Knox, at third. Steele opened the second innings with a clean single to center field. Booker went down swinging, but Zuk gave G. Lamb a free pass to first. Nixon struck out and Charlie Lamb's grounder to Knox put G. Lamb out at second. The first Jarvis run came in the fifth. G. Lamb struck out before Nixon connected with a two bagger. Charlie Lamb followed with a clean single to center field which put Nixon on third. Gord Miller's long fly to left field gave Nixon plenty of time to score. The batters went down in order until the ninth when Edwards provided the thrill of the game for local fans by hitting the longest distance homer ever clouted in the local park. The ball soared over a row of parked cars over the fence between center and right field. Joey Dennis followed with a long hit ball to left field which was gathered in on a nice catch by Bradley.

Don Booker, the relief catcher for Jarvis, who caught for Fisherville during the season, turned in a tireless effort behind the plate, but the change was definitely a factor in the battery strength of the team. Edwards had fourteen strike-outs against eleven for George Zuk. He issued four free passes and put three on with hit pitches. Zuk walked 2.

The First Game Was Closer But Errors Proved Just As Costly

For the first time in ten play-off games, Jarvis Intermediate "B" softball club handed their opponents a victory on Saturday night with a few costly errors, when they were on the wrong end of a three to two decision. Leading by a score of two runs in the eighth innings and with the game apparently well in hand, a hit by Laugheen, coupled with an error, put him on third and allowed him to score on a passed ball to tie up the game. The winning run came in the tenth inning when George Zuk gained first on a passed ball and scored on a blooper to center field.

No Tears

Let there be no weeping nor gnashing of teeth over the reversal of form of the Jarvis team in their quest for an Intermediate "B" softball championship. They were beaten by a well balanced team and at the same time, had the good fortune to defeat them at crucial series with teams of exceptionally high calibre. For a team that was put together only three months ago, their record is nothing to be ashamed of. In fact they merit the congratulations of all right hand sports fans in the district. It is true to say that had lady luck stayed with them they would have gone through to the final and the Provincial Championship.

Larry Pond was responsible for bringing softball back to this community after a lapse of several years. It was due to his interest that the pitching ace, Johnny Edwards, played with the Jarvis this year. He was also responsible for "Red" Kelly's inclusion in the team and the other players that made up the line-up. If he has made any mistakes, they were certainly not mistakes that merit criticism from outside quarters.

The team, of course, was built around Johnny Edwards. Johnny was not only the star of the line-up, but doubled as well as grounds keeper, such was his interest in the game. He put everything he had into every game he played and in so doing became the idol of the fans and particularly the young fry. If Jarvis develops any ball players in the next few years the exemplary influence of Johnny Edwards during the 1954 season will have played no small part.

Oscar Phillips, Edward's receiver during the season, deserves an Oscar. Behind the most difficult tasks in organized ball this year handling the speedy offerings of Edwards. Yet he improved with every game and until the Walkerton series, had played outstanding ball in the play-offs. Finally his hands could simply take it no more and for the final game Don Booker did a marvellous job in relief, in a position few could have faced up to.

Joey Dennis and Bus Steele, the Selkirk replacements that came in when Kelly and Jankowski went back into training for the hockey season. The game was a pitcher's duel with Johnny Edwards leading in strike-outs. He whiffed twenty-three while Zuk had nineteen. Edwards issued three and Zuk two.

Laugheen was the hitter for Walkerton with three safeties to his credit. It was he hit in the tenth that sent the winning run home and he scored the other two unearned runs for the Walkerton team.

The Jarvis runs came in the fourth innings when Gord. Miller connected for a triple. Joey Dennis poled one in to left field, which was dropped, allowing Miller to score and Dennis to stretch his dropped fly into a double. Nixon reached first on a dropped third strike with the first-baseman failing to hold the attempted put-out throw Dennis came home on the play to put Jarvis one up.

The Walkerton third baseman, Knox, was put out of the game in the seventh innings when he expressed his opinion of a decision on a called third strike. He was replaced by Dentinger.

The Jarvis team did not look like the aggregation that had won nine straight games in previous series in the opener with Walkerton. Oscar Phillips, the catcher, was working under a handicap with a badly injured right hand. He played a courageous game, nevertheless, and did his best to put the team one up.

played the type of ball that added strength to the team.

Bob Nixon has been as colourful a first baseman as one could hope to see in any league. Bruce Meehan, who will never quite successfully retire from the game, had his thrills during the season, and particularly his game winning home runs against Mount Hope. The Lamb boys, Charlie and Glen, were a source of strength to the team as a result of the early training they received through the interest of their father in the game. Gord Miller had a similar start and his batting record gave the team their wins on more than one occasion. Jack Phibbs, Jack Nixon, Reg. Anderson, Mac Dosser, Sonny Lowe, Larry Pond, Norm. Graham and Gordy Haslett, all gave the team their faithful support, and nothing too good can be said for any of them.

While the loss to Walkerten was disappointing, we should take satisfaction from the splendid record of this first year team. The attendance records at the games is indicative of the interest of local fans and it should now be the aim of everyone to do everything possible to really get that crown in 1955.
