

Martyrs to Headache

Seek relief in vain, until they begin to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Then they regret the years of suffering they might have escaped had they tried this remedy earlier. The trouble was constitutional, not local; and, until Ayer's Sarsaparilla did its effective work as an Alterative and Blood Purifier, they were compelled to suffer.

The wife of Samuel Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass., was, for a long time, subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. A perfect cure has been effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frank Roberts, 727 Washington st., Boston, says that he formerly had terrible headaches, and until he took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, never found any medicine that would give Permanent Relief.

"Every Spring, for years," writes Lizzie W. DeYean, 232 Fifteenth st., Brooklyn, N. Y., "I have had intolerable headaches. I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla last March, and have not had a headache since that time."

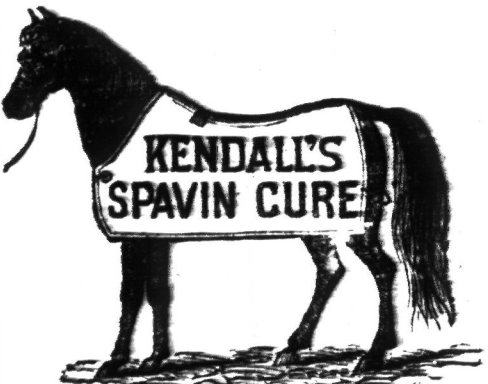

"I suffered from headache, indigestion, and debility, and was hardly able to drag myself about the house," writes Mrs. M. M. Lewis, of A. st., Lowell, Mass. "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has worked a marvelous change in my case. I now feel strong and well as ever."

Jonas Garman, Esq., of Lykina, Pa., writes: "For years I have suffered dreadfully every Spring, from headache, caused by impurity of the blood and biliousness. It seemed for days and weeks that my head would split open. Nothing relieved me till I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has cured me completely."

When Mrs. Geneva Belanger, of 24 Bridge st., Springfield, Mass., began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, she had suffered for some years from a serious affection of the kidneys. Every Spring, also, she was afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. A friend persuaded her to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which benefited her wonderfully. Her health is now perfect. Martyrs to headache should try

CURRENT NOTES.

It is rumoured that an attempt was made upon the life of the Czar on Sunday week and that he was wounded by an exploding shell.

By a return brought down in the Senate it appears that there were 104 veterans of the war of 1812 living on July 1st, of which 42 reside in Ontario, 52 in Quebec, 4 in New Brun-wicks, 1 in Nova Scotia and 4 in the United States. Each receives an annual pension of $30.

The fire loss of the United States and Canada for the month of March, 1889, reached a total of $10,912,000; an increase of nearly one million dollars over the same month of the preceding year.

There were 179 fires of a greater des-trictiveness than $10,000 each; a less number than last year.

It may be that Canadian barley will again be much sought for by American brewers. The legislatures of several states, including New York, propose to pass laws making it compulsory for makers of beer not made of hops and malt to label their beer "commercial beer," or to prohibit the manufacture of such beer entirely. New York proposes to do the latter. Laws of this kind will have a tendency to restore Canadian barley to its old position at the head of the American market. In Canada the only beer legislation required is a law to prevent the retailer putting an enormous shirt-collar on a very modest quantity of beer in the bottom of a glass.

CAYUGA, April 16.—The hearing of the Dunnville murder case was concluded to-day. Joseph Clemons and Samuel Smith, the prisoners, were committed for trial for the murder of an unknown man found in the canal at Dunnville on Nov. 1 last. There were many witnesses examined and much excitement prevailed. Detective Murray has made out a strong chain of circumstantial evidence against the accused. They will not have their trial until the fall assizes.

An interesting gathering took place in Mr. Smill's room at the Russell house, Ottawa, last Wednesday night, when the member for East Toronto, on behalf of the Toronto Gun Club, presented Lieut.-Col. Tisdale, the popular member of South Norfolk, with a handsome illuminated address, beautifully framed, in recognition of his efforts on behalf of the gun clubs of the Dominion to defeat Mr. Adam Brown's bill to prevent the trap-shooting of pigeons. Col.

Tisdale expressed himself gratified at this testimonial, and promised to send a over to a mental dissipation which enfeebles the intellect, enervates the will, and takes away all possibility of high intelligence or brain power. For every hour given to the novel there should be at least another hour given to some standard work in literature of philosophy."

Another element which we believe to be still more potent in the gradual decline of the steady reading habit is the vast volume of books, papers, periodicals, pamphlets, etc., which are within the reach of everyone. Too much to read through, almost too much to glance through, the public look at the pictures, praise the appearance and reply upon the reviewer for a knowledge of the contents. It would seem invidious to select out of this mass one book to read, and as for reading or studying a book, this is out of the question. Gradually, year after year, classics are less sought after, the light novel having taken their place. Truly this is an age of degeneracy in love of literature.

In speaking of prohibition the Hamilton spectator gives the following:

What is possible is to enforce the present law and to make it more stringent.

It is possible to close unlicensed houses.

It is possible not to grant licenses in excess of the number authorized by law. It is possible to issue no licenses to mere saloons. It is possible to issue no licenses to places not having ample hotel accommodations. It is possible to refuse licenses to persons who violate the law by selling at illegal hours, or who keep disorderly places. Not only is it possible to do all this under the existing law: it is the duty of the license commissioners to do it. It is simply abominable to have license commissioners appointed to enforce the law, and who coolly tell people that they have not enforced it, but that they will seriously consider the advisability of doing so.

But something can be done besides enforcing the present law: it can be amended. The worst feature of the existing customs of Canada is the treating habit. That habit is caused by generous and hospitable feeling, but it produces a great deal of evil.

Let the license law of Ontario be so amended as to close every barroom in the province and the treating system will be stopped. Permit the sale of liquor in quantities not less than a quart, or a gallon, or five gallons; but forbid its sale in any quantity for immediate consumption, except by bona fide hotel-keepers to bona fide guests.

If that be done, a more serious blow will be struck at intemperance than can be struck in any other manner.

Drunkennes will not cease; sin-is, misery, debt and rent day will not be wiped out of existence; but the barroom habit and the treating habit will be eradicated and there will be much less intemperance than at present. Our temperance friends must understand by this time that prohibition is impracticable. They may continue to strive after the unattainable, or they may strive for something really within reach. Which will they do? Will they try to get half a loaf of temperance, or will they refuse to make any effort simply because they cannot inroduce the millennium before the end of the nineteenth century?

He Got Square.

A young lady broke off her engagement with a sailor when a wealthier lover appeared upon the scene. She wrote to her old lover requesting him to return her photograph. Here was a chance for revenge, which he took by sending her the following note: "I would gladly comply with your request, but if I do it will spoil my camera.

I have a collection of photographs which I use for playing cards, and I do not want to break it by giving away the queen of diamonds."

He Left it with the Lord.

"When you say your prayers, George, ask God to make you a better boy. You have been very naughty to-day."

The youngster accordingly put up his petitions in the usual form, and then, before closing with "Amen," he he added: "And please, God, make me a good boy." He paused a second, and then, to the utter consternation of his mother, he said: "Nevertheless, not my will, oh! Lord, but thine, be done!"

The mother knew not what to say, and very wisely she said nothing.
