Wednesday being civic holiday in town everything was very quiet. At 8.30 a.m. the firemen, some 24 in number, formed in procession in front of their hall and with the band at the head marched to the depot, where they were joined by a great many of the townspeople and all took train for Port Dover. In the afternoon a great many more drove up, the day was spent in fishing, bathing and boating, returning home at 9.30 p.m., all having spent a very pleasant day.

A few days ago Anson Shaw of Townsend, on entering the barn, detected the smell of smoke which aroused his curiosity and led to a search, when he found that a painted canvas cover for a boiler, which had been rolled up and placed in the barn, was on fire and smoking. He removed it in a hurry, and his timely discovery no doubt saved his barn and the large amount of produce stored in it. Had the barn burned the origin of the fire would have been a mystery, as no one would have that of attributing it to the canvas covering.

The Port Dover Maple Leaf claims to have a poet of its own and inflicts some of his effusions upon its readers. Here is one simple:

Every little drug store has a soda water fountain.

Which simply raises ructions with a fellows bank account;

For he meets his girl at twilight when he's coming home from biz,

And he has to sweetly ask her if she'd like to hear it fiz.

STUCK BY LIGHTNING.—Last Sunday night a severe thunder storm passed over this locality. Torrents of rain fell for awhile, over half-an-inch in all falling in a short time. Mr. Wm. Leandy, wife and child, were returning home in the midst of the storm, about ten o'clock, and when near Mr. W. J. Carpenter's, on the gravel road, about a mile or so from here, a sudden flash of lightning made all the occupants of the buggy insensible to everything for a time. The horse was also rolled into the ditch and the buggy overturned. After a time Mr. Leandy recovered himself so far as to go to Mr. Carpenter for assistance, which that gentleman promptly rendered. Mrs. Leandy and the child were soon brought round sufficiently to proceed home. The horse was unhitched and got out of the ditch and was soon able to proceed on his way. It is thought that no material injury will result to any of them, but it appears to have been a close call. Their friends congratulate them on their escape from sudden destruction.—Port Dover Maple Leaf.
