"THE OLD OWL"

WHAT HAPPENED TO BABYLON?

you had gone into the Arabian Desert 200 years ago you have seen a huge sandswept ruins sticking out of some men (mostly Engrs) got curious and began to dig into that and other sand. They found the ancient place mighty City of Babylon. They also found Abraham's City of the Chaldees, under similar sandhills. They were Babylon, Ur and other cities buried in a desert. They were not. When they were built the Euphrates valley area was a prosperous land. Sir Leonard tells in his book "Ur of the Chaldees", and in a nutshell, "these people cultivated the soil . they fished in the marshes. We know that rulers of Babylon dug canals to drain the marshes and to irrigate the desert (both) as well as a means of transportation. We know, that the "hanging gardens of Babylon" were one of the Seven Wonders of the ancient world. What happened to them? Simply this, conservation was neglected. The rulers of Babylon knew the importance of water, and how to use it wisely, but Babylon fell all this was lost and the desert crept in and took over. This process took many centuries but it is as plain as the evidence of the fruitful country of Mesopotamia became desert . . . this happened here? . . . we must be "Yes", not in the same way, but in it's like it. It has happened, right in the Town of Walpole. The first thing you look up land on the land near the lake beyond the interior was largely swamp. The creeks were rush streams that supplied the power for many mills. There are few swamps and there are mere trickles, as the result of cutting the trees. Please don't misunderstand me. I am not criticising the pioneers for cutting them down, this land is good farming land, too good to be left in forest and the pioneers did the right thing. But you can have too much of even a good thing. This is what the Department of Lands and Forests seems to thing, for I heard one of their represents lives say that the Dept. will take over the management of any farm woodlot, free, if the farmer so desires. This is to preserve the trees.

Another form of Conservation, or Preservation is seen in the work of the Children's Aid Society. Put in a nutshell, the work of this society is to preserve the children, the child life, of the County. The tremendous importance of this can be easily seen if we compare the value of one child with the value of a tree If we are real conservationists we should do all we can to help the work of the Children's Aid Society.

Coming a lot further down the scale of values we come to the preservation of historic objects. This brings us back to Babylon, for some of the kings had what we would call museums in which they kept articles of a by-gone age. Archeologists have deduced this from finding primitive objects in palaces of a much later date.

The Centennial celebrations have made us more keenly conscious of the history of our country and we can help to bring that history to life by preserving old records, books, furniture etc. that we may have in our attic Let the museum authorities decide as to the value of such articles for some simple object may be of great value in showing how the pioneers lived. We have a County Museum in the Court House at Cayuga and an attempt is being made to restore McGaws School as a replica of the old pioneer schools They are in great need of anything connected with the old school days. Get in touch with the Historical Society at the Court House.

Richard Roberts worked during his youth in a cheese factory operated at Cheapside by a forefather of Jarvis man, the late Mr. Richard Walters. Also connected with this factory was Mr. John Bain, a relative of the late Mr. Natahn Pond. Many old citizens will remember Mr. Bain's vnsits at the Pond home in recent years.

HALDIMAND PLOWING MATCH NEXT THURSDAY

The Haldimand County Plowing Match will be held on the farm of Douglas Greenfield on Concession 13, Walpole Township, (1½ miles West of Hagersville) on Thursday, October 27, An excellent field is being provided by Mr. Greenfield and conditions should be ideal. A total of $1600.00 being offered in prizes should attract a large entry.

To keep in step with modern trends in machinery design, a new class has been added this year for plows having four or more furrows, fourteen inches or more in width. A corn picking demonstration, adjacent to the plowing field, is being planned as an added feature of the match

A Prize-presentation Banquet in the United Church Hall, Hagersville, will conclude the day.

NORFOLK CANCER SOCIETY DINNER MEETING HERE

The Annual Meeting of the Norfolk Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society was held in the Jarvis Community Hall on Monday evening.

The ladies of St. Paul's Church served a turkey supper under the convenership of Mrs. Ross Dosser, president of the Jarvis Branch Cancer Society Canon E A. Brooks asked the Blessing and Reeve Ernest Craddock welcomed the Group to Jarvis. Unit President Mrs Thomas White of Simcoe chaired the meeting, reports of various committees being accepted as printed. Mrs. H. J Brook introduced the speaker, Mr. Ross Morrison of Kitchener, campaign manager for the Ontario division.

He stated that 50,000 members in Ontario have as their aim service to patients and the banishment of fear and ignorance. Volunteers include doctors and scientists with three aims: Education, Research and Service. Canada's research work is unmatched by any country in the world. He stated that donations were used almost entirely for the work of the society. It costs 5c on every dollar to raise the money and 6c to operate the society which is a record low for any provincial organization. More money must be raised to combat this group of diseases known as Cancer. At the present time one in six die of some form of this malignancy; seventeen and a half million was raised last year: Bequests from estates are requested. All moneys are sent to headquarters and invested in short term trusts. $90,000 was raised last year in iterest on deposits. The organization operates from the bottom up. The money must be raised locally. There is progress but it is slow. The answer lies in the hands of all local people. In thanking the speaker Mr. White presented him with a box of Norfolk apples.

The Norfolk Unit president reported an objective last year of $16,500 in Norfolk—including Jarvis. It was exceeded by 992.18 was raised. The fiscal year ended September 15th.

Mr. White was re-elected President; Mrs. Jack Cohoon, Treasurer; Mr P S Kent Campaign Chairman; Mrs. C M. Walters, Education Chairman. Mrs. Dale Shepherd, Dressings; Mrs. W. B. Jackson, Service to Patients; Mrs H. J. Brook, Publicity Mrs. Orlin Honsberger, Visiting
