GALT FIRM GETS HYDRO CONTRACT

A Galt firm has been awarded a contract worth nearly $20 million for two giant steam generators to be installed at Ontario Hydro's new Nanticoke generating station on Lake Erie.

Babcock-Wilcox and Goldie-McCulloch Ltd. will build the two boilers for the fossil-fuelled plant at a cost of slightly under $10 million each. Hydro also took options on two more boilers from the same firm.

The Nanticoke plant, located near Jarvis, will have an initial capacity of one million kilowatts from two generating units, but eventually will be expanded to double that capacity.

Work is scheduled to begin on site preparation, access roads and workshops in the spring of 1968. Permanent construction is slated for later in the year

By early 1971, it is expected the work force will reach a peak of about 1,500. The first two units are scheduled for service in 1971 and 1972. The remaining two units will come into service as required

HOUSES

One of the problems that besets our larger cities seems to be that of providing sufficient houses for the people to live in. On radio station CBL tiey broadcast the sessions of one of Toronto's multifarious Councils and they are very much perturbed about the housing situation. They would need to be, for apparently they are housing some families in the old Armories! In the Jarvis Community Hall on Friday, April 28th at 8. P.M. featuring special numbers. Admission 75c.

It is a highly complicated and controversial situation and I have neither the information or the inclination to go into it. I do however, note that among the measures adopted one is apparently the building of whole blocks of "council houses", while another one is to enable a family (by subsidies) to live among other non-subsidized families. To qualify you have to have at income below the poverty level which seems to be set at $3,900 a year. I wonder how many people in our small towns and villages are living quite happily on this amount or less. blissfully unaware that they are "poverty stricken".

Attempts are being made to revive the so-called "inner-city" by pulling down old decrepit factories, warehouses and private houses and building smart new modern houses and apartment blocks where these used to be. This seems like a profitable idea. Speaking personally, if malignant fates condemned me to live in a city I think I would prefer to live in one of these down town areas than in a far away suburb, it would be so much nearer to the real heart of the city, where things are going on.

Today, over the radio again, I heard of a remarkable operation that is being conducted. I do not know where. This man goes to an old house that is falling apart inside but has good outer walls or shell He moves out the occupants, gutts le of days and then proceeds to tear out the inside of the house This done, he replaces it by pre-fabricated rooms, which are installed by means of a crane. (he must take the roof off to do this). When the interior is all installed and complete the family is moved back in and the whole thing is done in less than 48 hours (does this include the roof?). A Mr. Greer, who went through this experience, said that her old bathroom was mouldy and that chunks of plaster used to fall on their heads. Now she has a shiny new bathroom and kitchen and also a new extra room, all in two days. I presume the landlord fixed up the outside of the house. This seems to me to be an outstanding achievement. Of course, not all old houses would stand this treatment, and nothing was said about the cost.

Another interesting development is the project called "Habitat" at Expo 67 Everybody has seen some pictures of this crazy looking block of flats, really a most ungainly looking object (even worse than Toronto's new City Hall and its Moore-Monster). But it seems to me that it would be a wonderful place to live in. Its queer appearance is due to the fact that each apartment has its own garden or lawn, even the upper ones. This is done by making the flat roof of the lower apartment the base for the garden of the one next above it. Experience will probably produce improvements, but the very idea is fascinating This could easily be the ideal construction for one of the dying down town areas.

Here in Jarvis and Walpole we are not handicapped by any shortage of good building land, but an interesting development is taking place, or some years now I have noticed a growth of non-farm houses on farms along the highway. Presumably these are being built by communiters who have built out side the town on account of cheaper land and lower taxes. There are certain inconveniences, such as no piped in water, no street lights etc., but the number of such houses is growing so some people are finding it worthwhile.

OBITUARY

FRANK ROUSELL

The many friends and acquaintances of Frank Rousell, Engineer of the Haldimand County Road System, were shocked to learn of his sudden passing on Friday, April 14, 1967. Mr. Rousell had been hospitalized at Henderson General Hospital, Hamilton, for a short time prior to his death. During that period he suffered a seizure, the effects of which were fatal.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rousell, he was born in Paris, Ontario, on May 31, 1898. He served with the Armed Forces during the First World War, and graduated as an Engineer in 1926. Since 1944, when he was appointed to the position he held at the time of his death, Mr. Rousell had been a resident of Cayuga He was a member of Cayuga United Church.

During his period of service to Haldimand, Mr. Rousell had become widely known throughout the County, and was highly regarded by many for his devotion towards his duties.

Surviving are his wife, the former Patricia Ann Moore, and one son, Paul, who resides in Stratford.

Funeral service was held at the Kee Funeral Home, Cayuga on Monday, April 17th, the Rev. Dr J P. Fryse officiating Acting as pallbearers were K. Bain Munro, L. B. Mehlenbacher, E. G. Bennett, Alex Lint, Karl Benner and D'Arcy Simpson There were a large number of floral tributes offered to the memory of Frank Rousell a portion of which were borne to the graveside in Riverside Cemetery, Cayuga, by Haldimand County Warden, Ted Montague.

Nine persons from the HAMR will be attending the Ontario Association for the Mentally Retarded convention to be held in Ottawa at the Chateau Laurier Hotel on April 27 to 29th. Two of the nine persons attending the convention are Miss B. Tickner and Miss Otterman from Caledonia. These girls will be sponsored by the HAMR They will be attending a youth conference held in conjunction with the convention. The youth conference is held to create interest in the various fields of Mental Retardation among young adults. There is a great need for qualified persons in this field; and the need becomes greater every day.

Mrs E Hobbs, Chief County Health Nurse, reported on a meeting held in St Catherines by the OAMR with representatives of the Home Care units from Ontario in attendance The accomplishments of these units were discussed and the future plans for Home Care as discussed. A Home Care unit of the HAMR will be set up in Haldimand county The chairman and her assistants will be announced at the next meeting The main purpose of this unit will be to visit Homes having Retarded Children. Home Care representatives will only visit these homes after a referral from a doctor or if a Public Health nurse advises; or if the parents desire to get help or advise.

Mr. K W. Leslie, Director of Total Care Service for the Mentally Retarded in Hamilton was the guest speaker of the evening. He explained the concept of Total Care for the Retarded, and to what extent Hamilton had progressed and the plans the yhad for the future. He stressed the point however that each Association's needs would vary an dwhat the Hamilton Association would deem necessary in Total Care services, the Haldimand Association might find in their areea that it would not be advantageous. A discussion period was held following Mr. Leslie's address

The question of sending children from the school and workshop to summer camp was discussed The Association will give $25 towards the $100 fee that is required to send a child to camp for three weeks Various clubs in the Haldimand Area will be approached to assist the Association in sending these children to camp.
