Centennial Report

1867 1967 by JOHN W. FISHER CENTENNIAL COMMISSIONER

Two big numbers in the Centennial's national show are "on the road" now and they have been giving "smash hit" performances.

Attendance figures on the Confederation Train can be described as "peak capacity plus" and the Armed Forces' Military Tattoo, which opened to the public at Peterborough, Ontario, March 31-April 1, has established its reputation for being a highly professional show that produces unanimous audience enthusiasm and praise.

It's a major understatement to say we at the Centennial Commission are pleased by the success of these important "opening numbers" in the 1967 celebrations.

The Confederation Train started its tour early in January at Victoria where it received 58,000 visitors. By April 9, when it was at Saskatoon on its eastward tour, 650,000 people had seen this colorful travelling exhibition.

Those in charge of the Confederation Train tour had estimated, last year, that about one and a half million people would board it. On the basis of daily crowds so far they now predict a total of two million. Unfortunately it is doubtful we can stretch that figure more since there is a physical limit to the number of people who can pass through the train per day and there must be a number of "no show" days during the tour to allow for travelling time between exhibit points and for maintenance and repairs.

The attendance figures are the main evidence of the train's success. Art and design critics aside, I like to quote a wide-eyed railway yard hand's remark to a fellow worker following a sneak visit on company time: "It's marvellous. I want my kids to see this, for sure."

From Air Marshall to Petty Officer to Private, all members of the Armed Forces should be proud of their Military Tattoo. The two touring casts have been performing to sell-out houses since the show opened.

The Tattoo casts are split-second trained. Pride, morale and discipline also are noticeable throughout the show. (This was noted by a Commission observer during a midnight briefing session following the final performance at Peterborough; you could hear a pin drop as 300 men assembled to receive comments and instructions for the next performance.)

The Tattoo does not glorify war nor does it remark on famous generals or battles won or lost. It does pull at your heartstrings with memories or recollections of the "ordinary" Canadians who fought and died in past wars.

Tattoo service songs—of the earliest French regiments, the Scots, the navy, the 20th century wars—and original music are played by highly trained and rehearsed marching bands. Audiences on seat edges, with heart -in -mouth apprehension, watch the thrilling Armed Forces Gymnastic Display Team, precision manoeuvres and other spectacles including a naval gun-hauling race.

It would be a surprise to me to find anyone in a Tattoo audience who did not allow at least a measure of nationalistic sentiment to creep into his soul. The show will be a cherished part of many memories long after 1967.

should try to include them in our local activities. He emphasized that we have the best climate in the country and we should do more agriculturally to take advantage of it.

Mrs R.W. Yungblut of Welland County F.W.I.O. Board member of subdivision 18, held a short ceremony explaining how "Pennies for Friendship" were used. A total of $54.20 was collected.

As our Centennial project, each branch is to try to obtain at least one new member. She stated that the A.C.W.W. Triennial Convention will be held in Lansing, Michigan, in 1968, and the F.W.I.C conference is to be held in Guelph from June 12 to 16, inclusive.

Mrs C. A. Spears favoured us with two beautiful solos during the afternoon with Mrs. Murphy as organist.

WHAT A GRANDMOTHER IS

A grandmother is a lady who has no children of her own, so she likes other people's little girls. A grandfather is a man grandmother. He goes for walks with the boys, and they talk about fishing and tractors and things like that.

Grandmas don't have to do anything except be there. They are old, so they shouldn't play hard or run. It is enough if they drive us to the market where the pretend horse is and have lots of dimes ready. Or if they take us for walks, they should slow down past things like pretty leaves or caterpillars. They should never, never say "Hurry up."

Usually they are fat, but not too fat to tie kids' shoes. They wear glasses and funny underwear. They can take their teeth and gums off.

It is better if they don't type write, or play cards except with us. They don't have to be smart, only answer questions like why dogs hate cats and how come God isn't married. They don't talk baby talk like visitors do, because it is hard to understand. When they read to us they don't skip or mind if it is the same story again.

Everybody should try to have one, especially if you don't have television, because grandmas are the only grownups who have got time.

O.P.P. NOT WHAT IT'S CRACKED UP TO BE

Following is an editorial from the Wiarton Echo concerning the Village of Paisley. Since Paisley seemingly feel they got taken in by free O.P.P. policing as offered by the Attorney General's office. Since Milverton was offered the same free policing and since we are still in the trial stages maybe we had better look before we leap.

Government Help Not All Free

The Village of Paisley took up the Ontario government's offer to have the Ontario Provincial Police enforce law and order in their village. The one-man village constable was replaced, and although the nearest O.P.P. officer was stationed at Walkerton, they decided that as the service was "free", the plan was worth trying.

There were several other "drawbacks" to the plan, but the village claims they were taken, but good, by the government. After the plan went into effect they were informed that the annual refund from the "gallonage tax" on the local hotel would no longer come to the village. This amounted last year to about one mill on the tax rate or $488.11. This is paid to municipalities as a subsidy for policing liquor and beer outlets. The money now goes to help towards the expense of the O.P.P. policing the village.

We would say the village councillors were very naive in thinking any government would give away money for nothing. They are willing to pay for part of the cost of trouble caused by the legal sale of their products, but if the "demon rum" is not causing the local enforcement officers any trouble (and in Paisley's case they have no officer pay directly by them) we fail to see why the refund should not go to the O.P.P. who are the officers who have to deal with the trouble caused by drinking.

The Village now wants to withdraw from the arrangement for policing by the O.P.P. Said the Paisley Editor, "It will be interesting to see the reaction of the attorney general's department. We suggest that the department "couldn't care less", let alone the O.P.P. officers who have just that much more work to do.

From the Record's Correspondents

NANTICOKE

A happy occasion on Sunday, May 28, was a dinner party at the Cove Room when Mr. and Mrs. H.I. Snowden entertained in honour of their daughter, Debby, who, along with Miss Nicki Snowden, observed an important birthday during the past week. Following the dinner the guests went down to Shadylawn Farms where they had an opportunity to become better acquainted with Debby's husband, Mr Joern Pallasch. Friends and relatives were present from Agincourt, Toronto, Hamilton, Dundas, Kitchener, London, Simcoe, Port Dover and Nanticoke.

Mr. and Mrs Garry Tomkins and boys moved to their newly purchased home at R.R. 2, Nanticoke, just west of Cheapside, last week.

Mrs Earl Willson of Lambs Corners is a patient in Brantford General Hospital. A successful operation was performed on one of her eyes.

A thanksgiving for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meade was held on Friday night. Approximately 58 people turned out to wish them well and make the usual noise. Bill and Carol are living next door to Robert Doughty's.

Nanticoke Ball Park is getting a face-lifting, thanks to the ambitious volunteers. A new net was erected.

Mr and Mrs. Cecil Hedges spent last week at Bracebridge and the weekend at Port Rowan.

Almost one-third of all break downs on the Gardiner Express way and Don Valley Parkway are caused through running out of gas. This is one of the findings of the Toronto Club of the Ontario Motor Laegue, as a result of an 18-month survey of 11,000 calls from the OML's Emergency Call Boxes that are spaced along these two free ways.

Another remarkable fact from the survey, pointed out by the Ontario Safety League, is the large number of cars that drove around without a useable spare wheel. A total of 1,273 of the calls were from motorists with flat tires. In 296 of these cases, there was no spare tire.

WALPOLE TOWNSHIP

SCHOOL AREA BOARD MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Walpole Township School Area Board was held on Wednesday evening, May 17, 1967 at the South School with all members of the Board present

Minutes of the last meeting were adopted as read.

Mrs Bernadette Strain and Mrs Eleanor Smith were hired to fill teaching vacancies for September.

It was decided that another qualified male teacher should be hired and the secretary was advised to advertise for a teacher.

The Board approved home instruction for Douglas Banfield who has a broken leg.

The Principals reported that additional textbooks would be required for the fall term and the secretary was advised to contact Mr. Fransen as to the grant available for these books.

The purchase of a wheelbarrow and garden hose were approved for the North School.

Accounts to date were approved for payment

The secretary was advised to inform the Architect Mr. I. M. Huget that the gym roof at the South School was leaking and required attention.

The Board agreed that the wages for supply teachers be increased to $22.00 per day

Meeting adjourned.

Receives B.A.

Brian Laidlaw

son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Laidlaw of Selkirk, has been awarded the Degree of Bachelor of Arts in Geography, by the University of Waterloo. Convocation took place May 26, 1967. Mr. Laidlaw will become a member of the teaching staff of the Southmount High School, Hamilton.

OFFICIAL OPENING OF RENOVATED HOSPITAL

The newly expanded and renovated Norfolk General Hospital will have its official opening Wednesday, June 7, at 2 P.M.

Premier John Robarts of Ontario will be guest speaker at the opening ceremonies

Representatives of the three levels of government which financed the bulk of the $4,500,000 addition and overhaul will be Jack Roxburgh, MP for Norfolk, James N. Allan, MPP for Norfolk-Haldimand, and Warden Charles McCord of Norfolk County

James W. Holden, chairman of the hospital board, will speak briefly and introduce the guests at the outdoor ceremonies to be held near the hospital's main entrance off West Street.

There will be a presentation of the key to the hospital and cutting of the ribbon.

After the official ceremonies, the public will be escorted on tours of the hospital.

The additions to the building have doubled the rated capacity from 106 beds plus 20 newborns to 215 plus 33 newborns.

There are complete new departments in the hospital for dietary, x-ray, laboratory, emergency service, operating rooms, delivery rooms, the nursery and physiotherapy.

Renovated areas in the building constructed in 1954 are the pharmacy, central supply room and stores.

There will be a training school for nursing assistants and residence accommodation for 50 students.

Guests at the opening will include former board and staff members of the hospital, architects, consultants and government officials connected with hospital services.

The major changes are now complete and only a few finishing touches remain to be done.

A County of Norfolk grant of $1,750,000 provided the largest portion of necessary funds. The provincial government granted $1,343,145.33 and the federal government donated $550,134.65

A provincial loan of $795,000 was required to complete the financing.

Two-thirds of the hospital's campaign objective of $150,000 has already been given.

LOOKING BACK AT THE TIME OF OUR ANNIVERSARY

She said: "I married you because I LOVED YOU; because I Felt We Each Had Something Worthwhile To Give To The Other; because of Our Mutual Love Of Children.

Although I saw faults that irritated me, still I felt drawn to you with a love that could not be explained away. To me this is real love. Love and marriage are not a programme of uninterrupted bliss, but rather a growing regard for each other, learning to respect each other and our individual opinions.

Marriage, to me, represented being wanted and being important to someone. It helped me to feel like a real person. My family loved me and I loved them but this--this was a new experience of being, a need to build a new generation.

Perhaps it is because there is such a vast difference in our personalities that things have worked out so well. Of course there are some things I would like to change if I could go back and do it all over again—but not where husband and wife relations are concerned. On this anniversary which we celebrated this past week I can only say: "Thank God for a devoted husband, a really good man, an understanding father, one who has compassion for others and, above all, one who loves me."

He said: "From the first few times I noticed you I thought you were a brash young creature. Yet I was drawn to you. You had more love for your folks, you were so proud of your brothers and sisters, you made such an enthusiastic promotion out of joining in their get-togethers, I just had to get to know you better There was something so child-like and unsophisticated about your openness and frankness with people...it seemed that people just had to like you.

Later on, after the first few years of marriage, you grew quickly into all the womanly and mature character that has won my heart many times over during our life together; during the war years you carried a double burden of responsibility for our children. I would not have you change in any way, ever In our moments of quiet sharing the thought comes to me, like a tide in full flow, that if we had eternity together it would not be enough time to show you how much you mean to me"

BEWARE OF SHAM SALESMEN

An $80 a week factory worker must pay $64 a month for 3 years for goods he was told were free.

Woman tricked into signing 60 promissory notes by salesman runs up $3,840 unawares.

It couldn't happen to you?

It is happening to people all over Canada, who are being tricked by sham salesmen.

These men are experts. They often represent themselves as vice-presidents or sales managers of reputable firms whose literature they are carrying.

They will assure you that your signature is just a formality. It is not. Every time you sign one of their bogus documents you may be signing your savings away.

BE WARNED

When a salesman calls on you take these steps:

1. Ask for identification.
2. Phone office of firm he represents or wait and write if this is impracticable
3. If you are a woman check with your husband.
4. Tell the salesman you are checking and ask him to call back in 24 hours. If he is not genuine this may put him off.
