HAMILTON FIRM GETS $10 MILLION STEEL CONTRACT

A Hamilton firm, Bridge and Tank Company of Canada Ltd., has been awarded a $10.3 million contract to provide about 20,000 tons of structural steel for the framework of Ontario Hydro's Nanticoke thermal-electric generating station, under construction on Lake Erie near Port Dover.

The powerhouse will be 91o feet long, 275 feet wide, and reach a height equal to 20 storeys at each end, where built to produce steam to drive its four, 500,000-kilowatt generating units will be housed.

The structural steel framework will be covered with an exterior skin of insulated aluminum siding.

At the site, giant earth-moving machines are removing an average of 260,000 cubic yards of earth a month to prepare the ground for erection of the massive structure

First unit at the plant is scheduled for service in 19 and the other three are to be brought in at yearly intervals.

At the lakeside, off-shore work is continuing.

Crews are putting the finishing touches on land fill construction power to the site and warehouse and project office buildings are taking shape.

At the peak construction, expected in 1971, a work force of 1,500 will be on the job.

two countries.

The Wall Street Journal reported that shortly after Bob reached his decision, SIU contributions totalling $200,000 began flowing into Democratic party election campaign funds. But Rusk denied any knowledge about it.

The SIU, in a statement in New York, said any attempt to link the contributions with Rusk's decision was "without justification."

Diseases Cause Alarm

Tuberculosis and leprosy are diseases that have become familiar with the improvement of medical science, are causing concern among several Ontario medical authorities.

A provincial department of health study showed 9.4 cases of tuberculosis for every 100,000 persons in Toronto compared with the provincial average of 16.

Researcher Dr. William Wood, he said that overcrowding may be the reason.

"The incidence varies with economic status."

Eighteen cases of leprosy, a tropical disease, were reported or were under observation in Toronto in 1967.

All victims had emigrated from parts of the world where leprosy is common.

Dr. Arthur Hudson of the University of Toronto said leprosy resembles many forms of especially chronic skin conditions. It is a chronic bacterial infection which affects the skin, mucous membranes and surface nerves and is contagious usually after prolonged exposure to persons with disease.

The Major Student Complaint

The major student complaint is lack of representation on governing boards.

Last week, the university offered to allow student seats on the president's council but Andrew Wernick, education commissioner of the Student's Council, called it "tokenism."

"We would just waste our time and help foster the illusion the president's council actually decides things," he said. He added the board of governors makes all the real decisions.

The council advises the president on buildings, curriculum and academic matters and consists of three members of the board of governors seven elected professors and senior staff officers.

Planned Strike

One of the student leaders most feared by the university administrators is Steven Langdon, who has prepared a document encouraging students to strike January in an attempt to increase student power.

During the first term, he said students should be "politicized" by focusing on education complaints at group discussions during freshman orientation and at a three-day education festival in November.

His 29-page document urges the students' council to set up counter-courses to any proposals already made by the university in the direction of student power.

He said the formal evaluation system—examinations, grades, and school year-should be the centre of attack and should go as long as the university holds to its "hierarchy" and "authoritarianism" it will not allow students to change the philosophy of examinations.

This was a good year for Toronto hosted aggressive Conservatives elected Robert Stanfield. Ottawa did the honours for Liberals.

Miami, Fla., was for the Republican presidential nomination and it elected Richard Nixon. Old Party's elephant in White House.

For the dedicated convention watchers, there's one thing the Democrats will meet again to elect their standard-bearer.

New York's Governor, Nelson Rockefeller, told the United States television audience he would win the nomination on fourth ballot and he may have it had gone that far. He was swept in on the first ballot taking 680 of the 1333 votes—13 over the Roll call of states began at 11 a.m., Thursday, and 50 states recorded. Nixon votes When Wisconsin came on the roll—was called 3 p.m. Nixon supporters cheering When the representative said the state was cast all its 30 ballots for Nixon, chaos broke out. Nixon was in.

Nixon's supporters could adjourn to enjoy Miami's night life, but Nixon still faced the task of choosing a running mate

Chose Moderate

The choice of the vice-president is an operation in itself in the American system and is tied up with the favourite-son vote.

A number of states nominate Congressmen from their state, both as a pat on the back and to influence the presidential nominee to choose their boy as a running mate.

The presidential nominee is often bound—by diplomacy—to choose a partner from the area which backed him strongly. In Nixon's case it was southern conservative element.

However, to choose a strong southern racist could split the party into the right and left as Barry Goldwater's nomination did in 1967. With a division between hawks and doves in the Democratic camp, the GOP couldn't afford a rift.

Nixon opted for moderation, choosing Governor Spiro Agnew of Maryland Agnew is a man for all regions. Maryland is a border state, south enough to please the southern conservatives but not north enough still close and northern liberals.

Agnew switched animals in mid-stream in 1946, going from the Democratic donkey to the Republican elephant. Many observers feel he has also altered his stand on civil rights.

Once considered sympathetic to the movement, he has lately taken a hard-line stance. He told a news conference recently policemen should shoot looters on sight.

Nixon was chosen, for a large part, because he was between the rightist Reagan and the leftist Rockefeller. His running mate fits in with the Republican stand of moderation over all things.

Systems Differ

Although all conventions appear alike-sweating crowds, long speeches interspersed with bands and cheering—the American system differs from Canada's as does the actual election.

The American voter has greater choice come election day, as both houses-the House of Representatives and the Sen-

COUNTY BOARD ACQUIRES LAND FOR SCHOOL SITE

The land, one quarter mile West of the Cayuga bridge, on Highway 3, was bought by the Association in order that a centrally located school for retarded children might be erected on it. Since the purchase the provincial government has announced such schools will fall under the jurisdiction of County School Boards. This Week

With the memory of student riots at many United States universities, particularly New York's Columbia University, still clear, and Ontario's students only one month away from registration, talk of student power is growing.

University of Toronto, the province's largest and trend-setting university, has been relatively free of student disturbances except for a row over Dow Chemical Co. representatives soliciting students last year.

With complaints from students that they are treated like children, the advisory committee reviewing discipline on campus has called for briefs for a public hearing this fall.

The 10-man committee has said it will re-examine and, if necessary, change the present disciplinary system.

At present, Caput, a body consisting of the university president, the provost, heads of member colleges and federated universities, deans of faculties and the warden of Hart House, the men's social centre, is responsible for judging breaches of university law.

It has the power to expel, suspend, fine or recommend the withholding of degree from student for infractions.

A WASTE OF TIME

The other major student complaint is lack of representation on governing boards.

Last week, the university offered to allow student seats on the president's council but Andrew Wernick, education commissioner of the Student's Council, called it "tokenism."

"We would just waste our time and help foster the illusion the president's council actually decides things," he said. He added the board of governors makes all the real decisions.

SHEPHERD — ATKINSON

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Reginald Shepherd

Vases of white mums decorate the alter of St. John's Anglican Church at Cheapside for the marriage of Joan Sharon, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Atkinson, Cheapside, to Mr. Murray Reginald Shepherd, Newmarket, son of Mr. John Shepherd, Scotland, and the late Mrs. Shepherd. The wedding took place at 3 o'clock on Saturday, July 20th. Rev. John Roberts officiated. Miss Betty Bassindale was organist and Mrs. Grant Richardson, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white crystal crepe, which featured an overdress of white lace. The long train was of matching lace and was held in place by crystal crepe petals at the yoke of the sheath. Her head piece was a white band and held her bouffant veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

Mrs. Russell Smith, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honour. Mrs. Wm. Weatherston and Miss Allan Bothwight, friends of the bride, were the bridesmaids. All wore identical floor length gowns of deep pink crepe with empire waistlines. Matching peau-de-soie bows were at the shoulders from which bouffant panels of matching chiffon fell to the floor. Their cascade bouquets were white carnations and red roses. They had rosebuds to match their gowns in their hair.

Mr. John Shepherd Jr., brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Allan Shepherd, brother of the groom and Mr. Wm. Weatherston, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception for sixty-five guests was held in the Selkirk Centennial Hall. Mr. Russell Smith, brother-in-law of the bride, was toastmaster. The bride's mother received wearing a pink crepe dress with matching lace coat. Her accessories were pink and her corsage, white carnations. Mrs. Shepherd assisted, wearing a blue dress, with blue and white accessories and her corsage was pink carnations.

For a trip to the West Coast the bride wore a yellow-linen suit, with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The couple will reside in Newmarket.

JARVIS W.I. ENTERTAIN GRANDMOTHERS

A most enjoyable Women's Institute picnic was held at the Haldimand County Park when the Grandmothers of the W.I. and other guests were entertained on the afternoon of August 8th.

The meeting was opened by the President, Mrs. Leonard Church, who welcomed everyone. The secretary announced the Bank Balance as approximately $195.00 Business included the decision to ask Garnet W.I. to help in the Annual project of sponsoring a child.

The Centotaph having been moved to the school grounds, the President was asked to get estimates as to the price of a walk to be completed before Armistice Day.

It was planned to hold a bake sale on the Hagersville market in September. The committee is Mrs. Wm Blake, Mrs. Freeman Field, Mrs. George Anderson (convener).

Two new members joined the organization and each member was asked to contact new residents as prospects

Mrs. J. W. Duxbury will entertain the September meeting. Lunch Committee is Mrs. R. A. Miller and Mrs. Harry Belbeck. The Roll Call was an old weather forecast. Mrs. H. Belbeck gave the motto "A stitch in time saves nine." Mrs. Paul Bartlett demonstrated the making of soap in the home Reading a story which stated that soap had been used since 100 A.D. and tracing the refinements added through the years as to mildness, colour, perfume and the newly derivative detergent in such common use today

Mrs. F. Field gave the toast "Recreation in the good old days which is now extinct". At the close of her talk she asked each lady present to give a remembrance of recreation as practised in her school or home This proved a recreation of itself and was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. L. Church and Mrs. Smuck conducted a contest of sewing stitches won by Mrs. J. Stallwood of Brantford. Mrs. E. Marr won the Pie Contest. All grandmothers present received a gift chosen by themselves from a variety basket.

A delightful smorgasboro meal served in the Women's Institute Pavilion brought the meeting to a close.

Sports Highlights

BIG WEEK-END FOR JARVIS — —

The Jarvis Merchants have been preparing all week for the O.A.S.A. Intermediate "A" play offs starting this Saturday night in Jarvis. As in the past Jarvis will lock horns with Stoney Creek Quigleys.

Behind the strong pitching of John Edwards and such re-liables as Harry Reekie, Bill Prince and Fred McKeen, the Jarvis boys are confident of victory. Then on Sunday they will play their first game at the Canadian National Exhibition starting at 3:30 p.m. and the opposition for that game will be provided by London T.V. Cable. So get out to the park on Saturday night and cheer the locals on to victory. Game time is 8:30 p.m. See YOU at the PARK!

On Tuesday night Jarvis will travel to Stoney Creek for the second game of the series and on Wednesday night they will play Dundas Merchants in the first game of the Tri-County League playoffs, but it is not as yet known where this game will be played.

JARVIS BANTAMS 4 — NORWICH 2 — —

This was the outcome of a tense pitching duel between Larry Cowan of Jarvis and G. Fell of Norwich. Cowan struck out an amazing 19, walked six while allowing only 3 hits. Fell struck out 11, walked 3 and allowed 5 hits.

Norwich went ahead 2-0 in the top of the fifth on a walk and two of their hits. Jarvis also came alive in the fifth inning. Gerry Walker singled, Tom Beischlag walked, then Larry Cowan unecked a triple to score the two base runners. Ed Cowan then hit another single to score Cowan. Ed Cowan again connected in the 7th to drive in T. Beischlag and complete the scoring.

All the members of the Jarvis team played a tremendous defensive game to hold down the larger Norwich boys. These are besides the ones previously mentioned, Keith Bundy, Dale Cowan, Marv. Higgins, Ray Gibbons, Dennis Howden, Paul Phibbs and Glen Miller. Away on holidays were Ray Miller, Ted and Rich Reynolds and Terry Dosser. The Bantams play in Norwich on Saturday and return to Jarvis for a third game next Wednesday, Aug. 21 if necessary.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

Specially Written for the Record
- by Kevin Doyle -
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's 24,000 postal workers, many still discontented, went back to work last week as negotiators worked out a settlement of their strike under a threat of parliamentary action.

The first break in the three-week dispute came Tuesday as negotiators worked out a pact covering working conditions and wage increases through 26 months, starting Aug. 1, 1967.

The pact then was submitted to the workers and for a time it was not certain that they would endorse it.

In voting Wednesday and Thursday, however, about 60 per cent of those who cast ballots were in favor of settling.

On Friday morning the postmen went back to the job — sorting and delivering about 15,000,000 of accumulated mail.

The new contract provides a raise of 21 cents an hour for the period starting last August and another 18 cents in the year beginning Oct. 1.

It is the first contract reached by the government and the postal unions since Parliament passed legislation last year under which public servants may strike.

Cost of the settlement will likely increase postal rates Ahead, earlier attempt to increase them was defeated by a freakish Commons vote last year.

The settlement will increase the deficit of the post office department in the current fiscal year by almost 50 per cent, to about $60,500,000 from $43,500,000.
