— BY — "THE OLD OWL"

CIVIL LIBERTIES

The first part of the Report of Judge J. C. McRuer on Civil Liberties is a three volume affair of 1300 pages and with 350 recommendations. Even the newspapers have published only a fraction of it. Such a report will provide a happy hunting ground for reformers and many headaches for lawmakers and their staffs for at least a generation.

One of the things he stresses is the injustice of many of the provisions of our present laws. These may not have been intentional on the part of the lawmaker of the past, but may be due to carelessness or be the result of leaving too much for the bureaucrats in government offices. Bureaucrats are interested only in efficiency and have little regard for civil rights or for what may be called the "human aspect" of any specific law.

He discusses the matter of expropriation of property at some length. Apparently certain bodies have been given rights of expropriation which should never have been given such rights. Apart from that, however, it does seem hard that a elderly couple who have worked hard all their lives to buy a home for themselves in their old age should suddenly be dispossessed and be paid a sum that is not nearly enough to enable them to buy a home equal to the one they are forced to give up. Our laws should make provision for payment that would provide equivalent accommodation for such people. But such a clause is difficult to insert in a law and might be taken advantage of by ruthless people. I would suggest a Board of Review (including at least one woman) to judge if what might be called the "compassionate angle."

He also devotes considerable attention to the police and their powers of arrest. Here again we are up against a difficulty. Criminals today are keeping up with the times, even to the use of electronic devices. If the police are not similarly up-to-date they are at a disadvantage in their war against crime. But, if we give too great power to the police we are in danger of creating a kind of police state that will lead to the denial of free speech and other civil rights. How can laws be drawn up that will catch the criminal while leaving the civil liberties of the individual? One thing that is necessary is what we can only call commonsense. Once you get entangled in legal phraseology common sense is liable to fly out of the window. In other thing is that defenders of civil liberty should also take a commonsense attitude towards new laws. It is foolish to make a big fuss over trifles and leave more important issues to go by default. An example of this is the objection raised by the breathalizer test. This is declared to be an infringement of civil liberty because it makes a man witness against himself. But what about the finger print test? It is compulsory and is often self-incriminating, but no one now objects to it. I think thatthe breathalizer test will be similarly regarded in the future. There is one modern development, however, that needs careful watching. This is what is called "bugging" and the planting of hidden microphones in a room so that people some distance away can hear all that is said. Here is a direct threat to civil liberties and to the rights of the individual. Most if not all, of the great Revolutions of the past were plotted by small groups in secret meetings and if the governing authorities had been able to use such a device there would have been no revolution, and if there had been no revolution there would have been no progress and the whole world would be one vast prison house of dictator-ships. Yet such devices would be of great help to police in their war against crime. If such devices were made legal for police only upon a judge's order it would be a safeguard.

Speaking of plots and revolutions. They have advanced the cause of democracy and freedom in the past, but I wonder whether they will ever be needed in the future. If we keep our parliamentary system working as it should, there will be no need for revolution.

WEST HALDIMAND CITIZENS PROUD OF NEW EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES

Nicki Snowden, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Snowden, of Nanticoke, runnerup school queen, shows Ontario Education Minister Davis a bell that commemorates the first secondary school constructed in Hagersville in 1890. Mr. Davis was guest speaker at the opening ceremony. The school has been in use since the Fall term.

When the new Hagersville Secondary School was officially opened last Friday night more than seventeen hundred district citizens were in attendance. It reflected the personal interest of the local citizens in this great advancement in educational opportunity provided by the Board of the West Haldimand High School spurred on by the aims of the Department of Education in Toronto to provide equal educational opportunities for every boy and girl in Ontario. Mr Sid Cronk, Chairman of the Board, presided for the program.

Significantly enough, the man who more than any other, is leading in this policy for Education, The Honourable William G. Davis, Minister of Education for Ontario, officially opened the new four million dollar School and in his address defended his belief that Education is the most important part of our lives and that the opportunity to obtain that goal is the equal right of every boy and girl in Ontario no matter what part of the Province they may live in.

The Honourable Mr. Davis program to bring this about includes the establishment of County School Boards. Haldimand County is a step ahead of other areas in this respect inasmuch as a County Elementary Board has been set up this year. Those seriously interested in matters of education feel this step will provide many advantages when it becomes compulsory for such an establishment in January 1969

Several presentations were made at the school opening. These included a Flag from the Canadian Legion at Hagersville; a painting from the Architectural Firm of Shore and Moffatt; a Bible from the West Haldimand Women's Institute; a cheque from the Students' Council and a Lectrem made in the School Shop

Rev. R F Tees Rector of All Saints Anglican Church offered the Prayers of Dedication for the Building.

The Honourable James N Allan introduced the speaker, The Honourable William G Davis whose address was extremely profound and gained support for the program for which he is responsible.

Lloyd H. Bilton, Chairman of the Building Committee turned over the keys of the Building to the Principal, Mr D G Bishop. Mr. Bishop introduced his staff and expressed his appreciation to those taking part in the program

Of special interest to the people of the Jarvis community was the part taken by James Keefer son of Mr. and Mrs. George Keefer of Jarvis. Jim sang "Bless This House" after the building had been dedicated by Rev. R F Tees.

The School Orchestra and Choir, under the direction of the Director of Music for the West Haldimand Schools, rendered several selections during the program

Mr. W. J. Snowden, a former Chairman of the West Haldimand Board expressed appreciation to all those taking part in the program

Doug Gedye, president of the Students' Council presented the Hon. Wm. G. Davis with a hat and coat rack.

FASHION SHOW WELL ATTENDED

The Spring Fashion Show, sponsored by the Jarvis Unit of the Auxiliary of West Haldimand Hospital was well attended in spite of cold weather conditions. The Walker Stores of Simcoe and Bob's Shop of Jarvis introduced several new trends in spring attire and the local models which included ladies, girls, and boys of this district are to be commended on their fine modelling abilities. Appropriate music, good prizes and the refreshments served, concluded another interesting evening sponsored by the Auxiliary.

EASTER SEAL CAMPAIGN UNDERWAY THIS WEEK

JARVIS LIONS CLUB LOCAL SPONSORS

To-day marks the opening of a twenty-second annual Easter Seal Campaign in Ontario and for 16,000 crippled youngsters, this means that one day, many will walk unaided without a fear of obstacles or barriers in their paths.

Yes, you can do a wonderful thing to-day like helping some crippled child possibly living right in your own community or even closer—like next door.

The summer is not far off, which means a camping experience for 1,200 cripple kiddies who will attend all five camps owned and operated by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. Aside from fresh air and sunshine, two of the most important benefits of a healthgiving vacation, there are the recreation programs which hold many therapeutic values for infirm little bodies. Baseball, swimming, tennis and shuffleboard assisted with a little fishing and the home-cooked meals make the Easter Seal Services program in your community all worthwhile.

When Easter Seals arrive at your home remember to use them on letters and parcels to remind others and equally important return the convenient, pink envelope so the local Easter Seal service club can continue the important work of helping crippled children.

This year's campaign objective is $1 400,00, so let's all donate generously and top this goal for the very first time.
