— BY — "THE OLD OWL"

THE HIPPIES (II)

Before returning to the article referred to in my previous column I would like to give a quotation from the "C.B.C. Weekly" (organ of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.) They had a programme on the hippies and this is part of their introduction "His film shows, he says that the hippie revolution may be as important as the Christians in early Roma. The hippies are driven by fear of the old generation thinks it's a passing fad and hippies will finally end up like the rest but these kids aren't going to end up in the suburbs. They've gone too far for that sort of thing."

"Church, Farm and Town" is an independent Anglican magazine that I helped to form about 25 years ago It is not concerned with the religion and philosophy of the Church in rural areas In it is an article by James Hichcock. I do not know anything about him but he appears to be an Anglican and possibly a Roman Catholic. He appears to make two main points.

One is that American philosophers tend to ignore the physical and to concentrate on what may be called spiritual philosophy. By "metaphysical" is meant concern about such things as the meaning of life, the nature of the human personality, the attainment of the Absolute and the futility of other modes of life, besides those following daily life. I quote: "The hippies have adopted the Christian stance: fierce condemnation of worldliness for their greed, their selfish and their refusal to face the ultimate issues. The hippies offer the ancient message of Christian asceticism: withdrawal from the snares and corruption of a hopeless complex society and embracing of a simple frugal community regenerated by love."

A second point follows naturally from what has been said. There is the likeness between the hippies and the Christian Monastic Orders and they are still flourishing and the modern hippie movement. Here is another quotation: "The hippies talk of dropping out of society in almost the same way as the monastic writers spoke of shunning the world: they are attracted to Eastern mysticism and they loudly assert, life reaches its highest moments in ineffable experiences which have virtually no reference to ordinary human experience" And again "They are truly otherworldly, like the mystics they find in other world immediately available. Their attitude to political activists is similar to that of mediaevel monks toward the secular (parish) priest who work among the poor people, but God has destined for better things for some."

My first thought is one of regret. These young people could be in the monastic orders not just like them. Ultimately they found nothing in the Church of today to attract them, so they are on the Side. As for the metaphysical aspect, we do need men and women in the Church who will think deeply about the real meaning of life, the search for the Absolute and such things. Such thinking may seem wholly impractical but it is like the electricity which makes an automobile go. With out it things come to a stop, and that is what has happened to the Christian Church and to Western civilization in general. We are becoming complete materialist in our think ing and that is the sure way to disaster

Personally, I do not like what I have seen of those who copy them. I think their mode of attire is disgusting and I do not like long hair on men. Their use of drugs is another thing I dislike. Like getting drunk, it means subjecting your most valuable possession, your intellect, to chemical control It is inconsistent with their preaching about the full personality.

However, they have a message for us. Efficiency and love of money are the gods of this generation and they are false gods. Such things as love, the development of one's own personality, thinking about the meaning of life, and I would add, devotion to God, these are the really important things And the hippies do remind us of these things.

IN MEMORIAM

HARE — In lovinz memory of a dear husband and father, Hilbert, who passed away May 6, 1967.

When ties of love are broken
And loved ones have to part
It leaves a wound that never heals
Also a broken heart.

Leaving a cluster of memories
I prayed with a million tears
Wishing that God would have saved you for
For just a few more years.

Always remembered by wife, Martha, and sons and dauhter.

I.O.O.F. HONOR THEIR VETERAN MEMBERS

On Monday evening, April 15 Jarvis Lodge No. 191 was highly honoured with the presence of three Past Grand Masters of the jurisdiction of Ont. as well as a goodly number of their own veteran members.

The chairs were filled with veteran members who have been members of the order for 25 years or more with P.D.D.G.M. Warren Keen acting as N.G. and P.D.D.G.P. Russell Miller as P.G.

Following the regular routine of business P.G. Master R K. Williamson of London presented P.D.D.G.M. Roy Bone with his 60 year jewel. P.G. Master Chas. Hutchinson of London presented Bro E. S. Pond with his 50 year jewel. P. G. Master Ralph Yager of Penwick presented Bro. Douglas Church with his 25 year jewel and P.D.D.G.M. Warren Keen presented Bro. Bruce Stadder with his 25 year jewel. Following the regular presentation each of the recipients thanked the lodge for their jewel and recalled some of the good times they had enjoyed over the years Bro. Pond was accompanied by four of his brothers all members of Simcoe lodge

On April 11 the first degree staff conferred the first degree on a class of candidates in St. Catherines in a most impressive manner.

On Tuesday evening May 14 the same team expect to confer the first degree in Hagersville.

WEDDING

CASSIDY — VARRIN

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Jarvis, on Saturday, April 27, at 3 p.m. when Brenda Varrin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Varrin of London was united in marriage to Mr. Larry James Cassidy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cassidy of Jarvis. Canon E. A. Hicks performed the ceremony and Mrs. Wm. Phibbs organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a street-length sheath style of lace over taffeta with a scalloped waistline and long sleeves. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with a self-petal rose and she carried a white prayer-book with rose buds and white ribbon streamers.

Maid of honour was her sister, Miss Susan Varrin, of London, in a pink street-length dress of net and lace over taffeta with matching accessories. Flower girl was Miss Patty Cassidy, cousin of the bride, in a pink green peau de charme trimmed with white lace with matching head bow. Both attendants carried nosegays of white carnations and pink rose buds

Best man was a friend of the groom, John Deluca, of Hagersville, and ushers were Gerald Varrin, brother of the bride, and Terry Guenther, of Hamilton, brother-in-law of the groom.

Reception for sixty guests followed at the I.O.O.F. Hall where the bride's mother received wearing a turquoise lace dress with matching ¾ coat and white accessories with a pink rosebud corsage. She was assisted by the grooms mother, wearing a medium blue figured taffeta dress with white accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

Guests were present from Sault Ste. Marie, Tillsonburg, Fort Erie, Hamilton and surrounding district.

The groom is employed at the Canadian Gypsum Plant at Hagersville and the bride at West Haldimand General Hospital and they are residing on Main St., Jarvis.

Prior to her marriage, a kitchen and pantry shower was given by Mrs. Stan Blundell and a miscellaneous shower given by Lorraine Smith at the home of Mrs. Robert Davidson.

AT THE CHURCHES

KNOX AFTERNOON GROUPS

The Ladies Aid and WMS of Knox Church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Ina Mitchell on Tuesday afternoon

Mrs. Alfred Walker, president of the Ladies Aid opened the meeting with scripture reading and prayer. Miss Helen Miller read the minutes and arrangements were made for the immediate work of the month.

Mrs. R A. Miller opened the WMS with prayer and the reading of two poems relating to personal service in the home community. Mrs. Herman Fess reported a slight advance in finances Letters were received from the Hamilton Presbytery—no date has been received regarding the Sectional meeting for district No. 5 to be held in Port Dover this year

Mrs. O. Williamson convened the program calling upon Mrs. Lillie Miller for scripture reading and Mrs Cora McKenzie to lead in prayer

Mrs. Williamson gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the status of the Canadian Indians both on the reserves and as Canadian Citizens who do not always receive the benefits of progress.

The meeting was closed by the President after which a sale of baked goods and other garden items was conducted by Mrs. Herman Fess. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Taylor-Munro and Mrs Lily Miller.

The June meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Powell who kindly thanked all who had helped in the successful meeting

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

In answer to the question, "Why Does God Permit Wickedness?" Mr. Joseph Scazlione, District Supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses, told a crowd of 1,390 at the Tobacco Auction Exchange in Tillsonburg on Sunday that the sin of our first human parents, instigated by Satan the Devil, created a moral issue which could not be settled in a short period of time. The events of our time, marked by violence, crime, and famine on such a tremendous scale, prove that this course of rebellion did not produce good results
