Miss Morrison, day operator at the G. T. R. depot, is away taking a few weeks' holidays. Lew Livingstone is acting as day operator and Fred. Hearne, of Norwich, as night operator, during her absence.

The Rev. Charles Deacon lectured to a small audience in the Methodist Church on Monday evening. The subject of his lecture was Africa and Livingstone, and was well handled and worthy of a far larger attendance. The Rev. gentleman will deliver another lecture to-night on China and Its People. The stereopticon views add much to the interest of the lecture.

A Port Rowan despatch brings the intelligence that W. E. Soare, civil engineer, died suddenly on Friday morning in Mr. Charles McGillivray's shoe store. He complained of great pain, and lay down in the back part of the shop and asked for a drink of water, but before it could be brought he was dead. Mr. Soare was chief engineer of the Harbor of Refuge survey, and of the Buffalo and Detroit rivers road. Mrs. Soare died at Port Rowan of heart disease suddenly about two years ago.

THE CANADIAN QUEEN.—This new and elegant magazine is sure to please every Canadian woman. It is devoted to Fashion, Art, Fancy work, Flowers, Toilet, Home Decoration, and Household Matters. Those who want to get bargains in the various luxuries and necessities of life, should consult the columns of the Record. Therein will be found the announcements of the live home merchants—those who are doing business in an enterprising manner, and who are using every legitimate means to place themselves in the front row. These are the men who aid the village—who aid you—and who, aiding others, aid themselves. Patronize the advertiser, for he is helping you.

Some people forget that there is a duty on books coming in by mail from the United States, and are reminded of the unpleasant fact only when they receive a notice from the postal authorities or the custom house officer to come and settle up. The cheap sets of Dickens and Scott now being offered as premiums are liable to a double payment, duty and copyright, which makes a large additional cost. The Dickens Set which we offer in combination with The Weekly Mail is not subject to these annoyances, as duty and copyright are both paid by the publishers in Toronto.

Tuesday week's Speculator thus hits off the fair business: The fair season of 1889 closes to day. It is proposed next season to amend the prize list. It is proposed to abolish the prizes for the best cow, the best ram, and the best turnip, and make out a list which will read something like this:

Highest balloon	1st	2nd
Biggest snake	10	5
Best trained dog	10	5
Most reckless trapeze man	10	5
Longest hair on cowboy	10	5
Lowest mouthed fulmar	10	5
Highest female kicker	15	15
Etc., etc., etc.

The Norfolk Union Fair held at Simcoe on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week was a grand success. The attendance, quality and quantity of exhibits were good, something over $13000 being taken in at the gate. Geo. R. Perry, the well-known photo artist of Simcoe, had a grand display of work in the main building. We also noticed the smiling countenance of Geo. Martin handing business cards out to the passing crowds. Mr. M. handles and sells the best pianos and organs manufactured, having taken several first and second prizes at the various fairs this fall. John C. Ross carried off several firsts on imported heavy draught horses and on Leicester sheep. J. Hawthorne got a first on his two-year old draught colt. Falls Bros got first on their colt. Gideon Snider also carried off several prizes on Berkshire swine.

The third page of the Toronto Daily Mail is devoted to "Want" advertisements. The charge is two cents a word each insertion. Address The Mail, Toronto, Canada. 43-1y

It becomes our painful duty this week to chronicle the death of another young resident of Jarvis in the person of Harriet Elizabeth, eldest daughter of David and Eliza Moore, aged 18 years, who passed away on Saturday evening last at the residence of her uncle, Mr. J. J. Moore, on Main street, of typhoid fever. The deceased was taken down some weeks ago and it was thought by her friends that she would recover, but on Saturday morning she became worse and continued to sink until about 5 o'clock p.m. when she peacefully passed away. The deceased leaves behind a large circle of relatives and friends who have the sympathies of the public in their sad bereavement. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon to Rockford Cemetery followed by about thirty carriages of mourners and friends. The funeral sermon will be delivered at Villa Nova on Sunday, 27th inst.
