GENTS.—I took a severe cold, which settled in my throat and lungs and caused me to entirely lose my voice. For six weeks I suffered great pain. My wife advised me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT, and the effect was magical, for, after only three doses and an outward application, my voice returned and I was able to speak in the Army that night, a privilege I had been unable to enjoy for six weeks.

A despatch from Lindsay, Ont., of the 24th inst says:—A daring highway robbery was committed near the village of Janetsville, seven miles from Lindsay on Tuesday night last at about 9 o'clock. Mr. Robert Campbell, of Tara, county of Bruce, a cattle buyer, had been in the neighborhood for several days pursuing his business, and on the evening in question was going to visit his brother a few miles distant. On the way he had to pass through a swamp, and it was here the robbery took place. His horse was stopped suddenly and a man standing at the side of the buggy presented a pistol at his head and attempted to fire. The cap snapped and Mr. Campbell struck the pistol from the hand of his assailant. He was then attacked by another man, who struck him twice, once on the side of his body and then on his head. This rendered him insensible. On his recovery, after a few hours, he found that he had been robbed of $1,730. The pistol was left behind, and on it are stamped some letters which may lead to the detection of the robbers.

Columbus wasn't much of a Fellow

"On my last trip through Indiana," said a New York drummer the other day, "three or four of us put in a night at the tavern in a small town. It was kept by a dreadfully innocent-looking old chap, and in order to gny him the boys put him on that I was Christopher Columbus, the discoverer of America. The old fellow gave me considerable attention, fixed up the best room in the house, and introduced me to his aged wife. Next morning as I sat on the veranda smoking a cigar he came along and queried:

"Let's see. What did you do?"

"Discovered America I soberly replied

"Oh, yes."

He looked disappointed as he went away and in about ten minutes he returned to say:

"I had it all wrong about you."

"How?"

"Why, I kinder had it that you was from Washington, and I was thinking you might get my boy Sam into some office."

"No, I'm not."

"You are only Christopher Columbus?"

"That's all."

"Humph! I'll have to charge you extra for them three hiled eggs this morning, and the ole woman thinks she ought to have an extra quarter for making real coffee for you. You orter told me last night that you didn't amount to nothin'."

The Wilson Scales.

We would call attention to the advertisement of the Wilson scales. We seldom say anything in favor of articles advertised in this paper; but we cannot refrain from saying something in favor of the improved Wilson scales, because any person having anything to do with scales will acknowledge them as a true standard of correctness, and the largest concerns in the country are using them in preference to any other make. We would like every farmer to have one of them in his barn, and not take the word of the buyer every time he comes to town to sell his grain.
