WHEN a few doses of Ayer's Cherry

Pectoral will relieve you? Try it. Keep it in the house. You are liable to have a cough at any time, and no other remedy is so effective as this worldrenowned preparation. No household, with young children, should be without it. Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use.

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton. Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children.'

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am tifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G.W.Youker, Salem, N. J.

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold, which by repeated exposure, be-came quite obstinate. I was much troubled with hoarseness and bronchial irritation. After trying various medicines, without relief, I at last purchased a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. On taking this medicine, my cough ceased almost immediately, and I have been well ever since."-Rev. Thos. B. Russell, Secretary Holston Conference and P. E. of the Greenville District, M. E. The United States census returns show a population something exceeding 64,000.000. A recount in St. Paul proves that that the first return was too large by nearly 11 per cent, and a recount in Minneapolis shows a like falsilication to the extent of more than 16 per cent. The New Disease in Cats.

During the past season in several sections of the provinces, the oat crop was severely attacked by a disease previously unknown to Canadian farmers. At first the young plants appeared to be doing well, but as soon as they had grown nicely out of the ground the lowest leaves began to shrivel and TRANSIENT ADVERTISEMENTS-Eight ets. turn yellow, giving attacked fields the appearance of being badly rusted. Later on the plants seemed to gain new life but owing to the early check in their growth yielded in most cases but poorly. By many, this trouble was thought to be due to the excessive rainfall, but from correspondence with Professor Smith, of New Jersy, the only scientist who has investigated the trouble here, we learn that this disease has been caused by a small worm. In respect to this, Professor Smith writes us; "I investigated the matter up to the point at which I determined that it was due not to insect work but to a true nematede worm in the roots. I found this worm encysted and quiescent. I published in the State crop bulletin a mere note, saying that the injury was not due to the aphides, as everywhere supposed, and that on good land with a little stimulant in the form of manure, the oats would recover and make a crop. The result has been as How to find a needle in a bundle of I predicted, and in poor land where the oats had not vitality to recover, up to SO per cent. of a full crop has been harvested." As this worm has been doing great damage to the clover and oat crops of Scotland, and the rye crop pecially Miss Omerod, have already given the disease considerable attention and it may not be amiss to give their conclusions.

> Several methods of prevention and remedy have been found effective. The application of manures has proven to be very beneficial, especially gaslime, applied in the fall, allowed to remain exposed about four weeks, and then deeply ploughed in. The gas lime quickly fills the worms, as they leave the roots as soon as the plants begin to dry from maturing a fact that may be noted im the improved appearance of Potash manures, such as wood ashes applied in the spring, forces the crop ahead, so that the effect of the attack is lessened. Manure coming from animals that have fed on diseased fodder plants, should not be applied to fields upon which clover or outs are to be grown, as the worms pass through the animals uninjured. Fields that have been affected one year should not be sown to either clover or oats the next Norfolk Street, as the worms remain in the soil for some years, if supported by crops which they feed upon, or by weeds serving the same, puipose, of which the most common are the common but ercup, the daisy, the common plantain, shepherd's purse, and sow thisde, -Canadian Live Stock and Farm Journal for September.
