

Ten Reasons

For the Wonderful Success of Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Most Popular and Most Extensively Sold Medicine in America.

- 1 Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses great medicinal merit, which it positively demonstrates when fairly tried.
- 2 It is most economical, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" can truly be said.
- 3 It is prepared by a Combination, Proportion and Process Peculiar to itself, unknown to other preparations, and by which all the medicinal value of the various ingredients is secured.
- 4 It effects remarkable cures where other medicines have utterly failed to do any good whatever.
- 5 It is a modern medicine, originated by experienced pharmacists, and still carefully prepared under their personal supervision.
- 6 It is clean, clear and beautiful in appearance, pleasant to take, and always of equal strength.
- 7 It has proven itself to be positively the best remedy for scrofula and all blood disorders, and the best tonic for that tired feeling, loss of appetite and general debility.
- 8 It is unequalled for curing dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness, catarrh, rheumatism and all diseases of the kidneys and liver.
- 9 It has a good name at home, there being more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, Mass., where it is made, than of all other sarsaparillas and blood purifiers combined.
- 10 Its advertising is unique, original, honest, and thoroughly backed up by the medicine itself.

A Point for You.

If you want a blood purifier or strengthening medicine, you should get the best. Ask for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and insist upon having it. Do not let any argument or persuasion influence you to buy what you do not want. Be sure to get the ideal medicine.

Drilling Wheat or Sowing Broadcast.

It seems that some persons are yet in doubt as to whether it is better to use the drill or to sow broadcast. They claim that they get as good returns from broadcasting. It may be so in some seasons and on some kinds of soil, but as a rule it is not so, and more especially in the case of winter wheat. The drill deposits the grain at a more even depth, hence it comes up more uniformly to begin with. It also deposits it in such a way that it can better resist the influences of frost in winter. Grain that has been sown broadcast will heave in winter, when that which has been drilled will not. This is true at least under some circumstances. Then there is a saving in the amount of the seed when the drill is used. This usually amounts to about one peck per acre. Now allowing that a drill costs $60.00, and that one peck of seed is saved per acre, it would only require to sow about 240 acres of wheat to save its first cost in seed. It is thus apparent that a drill should pay for itself in the saving of seed which it effects. There is considerable difference of opinion as to which is the best width or widths to have the drill tubes. Taking all things into consideration, it will be better to avoid extremes. Six inches would sometimes be found to be too narrow and ten inches too wide. In lands that are not well drained, and especially where the plowing has been carelessly done, the objection has been urged that ice lodges in the drill marks and smother the grain. This difficulty may be met by drilling across the ridges. But where the work of plowing has been well done it will not be serious, although the drilling should follow the course of the ridges.—Canadian Live Stock and Farm Journal for October.

The Butter Fat Problem.

"The further we go into the science of butter making the more difficult becomes the problem that confronts us," says American Dairyman. Now that the new testing machines tell us just how much butter fat there is in the milk and we know how much the resulting butter should be, but somehow we never get that much. What becomes of it? Sometimes it is found in the skim-milk, again in the butter-milk, and at other times it is not found at all, but is supposed to have stuck to the utensils. Creameries that keep close accounts are troubled with the erratic results of the butter yield, up one day and down the next. This is often accounted for by the irregular manner of running the separator. First, the milk must be at the correct temperature, then the feeding machine must not give too fast nor too slow, but just right, and above all things the machine must be run at a regular and correct speed. Any variation in these points will cut off the yield, and when two or more mistakes are made the loss becomes quite serious when a large amount of milk is handled. These points should be deeply impressed upon the manager of the creamery, who is often too ready to lay all the blame on the patrons, accusing them of watering or skimming the milk. The test machine, however, should tell just what there is in the milk received, and the butter-maker is responsible for that amount, and should at least know where it has gone.

The Old Reliable.

In these days of humbug it is a relief to hear of something that can be depended upon. Wilson's Wild Cherry has been tested as a remedy for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs, for nearly twenty years, with such success as to earn for itself the title of the Old Reliable cure for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis and other affections of the respiratory system. See that you get the genuine, in white wrappers. Sold by all druggists.

Lake Erie's Hotness.

"Is it ever hot out on the lake?" queried our reporter yesterday of an old captain who was fanning himself in the shade of a coal pile. "Hot! is it! Well, you are fresh. Why, young man, if I should tell you how high I have seen the mercury go down on Lake Erie you'd call me a liar!" The reporter hinted that no man of sense would ever think of questioning a mariner's word, and the captain continued:

"I remember the summer of 1858. I sailed the Orphan Girl that season. On the 18th of July we were becalmed with a fleet about midlake. Hot! Oh, no! By 10 o'clock in the morning the mercury marked 125 degs. in the shade, and we were loaded with ice at that!"

"Is it possible?" "By noon we had put out seven or eight spontaneous fires, and the anchors were then so hot we had to drop 'em over to cool 'em. There were eight vessels of us, and we dropped about the same time."

"Yes." "Well, sir, the result was boiling hot water all around us for half an hour. We captured over one hundred fish, which were nicely boiled. It was very lucky for us, as the heat of the sun had melted our cook stove and we should have gone hungry. Is it hot out on the lake? Well, you just stay on land during a hot spell if you know what's good for you? Did you say lemonade for two?"—Detroit Free Press.

Poisoned by Scrofula.

Is the sad story of many lives made miserable through no fault of their own. Scrofula is more especially than any other a hereditary disease, and for this simple reason: Arising from impure and insufficient blood, the disease locates itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissues; there is a period of foetal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is especially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But there is a remedy for scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by its powerful effect on the blood, expels all trace of the disease and gives to the vital fluid the quality and color of health. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not accept any substitute.

Niello work in watch cases is much fancied.
Little gold slippers form a new idea in brooches.
There appears to be a call for bead necklaces again.
Silver bracelets make desirable gifts for young ladies.
Pierced silver belts span the waists of ladies nowadays.
Round gold lockets centered by diamonds claim attention.
Closely woven gold neckchains retain their hold on public fancy.
A new style bon bon tray is made in silver to represent basket work.
Double bowknots of gold are aspirants for favor among brooch wearers.
Cone shaped pieces of white onyx top a number of hatpins now worn.
Bangles of gold wire have half a dozen diamonds strung along the center.
Solid silver photo frames come in pierced work threaded through with fancy velvets.
Emeralds devised as pendants, mounted with silver tops, are among quaint offerings.
An exceedingly neat ring consists of a slender gold wire, with three diamonds, one above the other, in an inclined setting.

Mrs. Eliza Donohue attempted to commit suicide by jumping into the Niagara river one day last week, but was rescued. Mrs. Donohue is the widow of Clutch Donohue, the notorious express robber, who stole $40,000 from the American Express Co. several years ago, and who was pardoned out of Kingston Penitentiary only to die outside the prison walls.

The Government has made a change in the method of passing through customs goods sent by express of under $10 in value. In the future all such goods will be entered in a small customs book similar that in which postal matter is entered and the consigners of such goods need but to "sign the book," thus doing away with the expense of making out entry papers as in the past.

The owner of two of the heaviest cattle ever seen in Kansas—two steers weighing together 8,040 pounds—has refused an offer of 50 cents per pound for them, and proposes to take them to the World's Fair. The larger one, weighing 4,080 lbs. is exactly twelve feet long, and they both stand about six feet high.

John Whaley, employed at William Ewer's oil works in Petrolia, while getting out timber five miles from the town was instantly killed Friday.
