WEDNESDAY, FEB. 13, 1901.

Now that so many townships throughout Ontario have abolished the Statute Labor system, isn't it about time that the good old township of Walpole started to make a move in that direction?

Mr. B. B. Osler, K. C., Canada's most distinguished lawyer, died suddenly on Tuesday of last week at Atlantic City., N. J. His death is a distinct loss to Canada, as he was undoubtedly one of her albest sons. He was in his 62nd year.

The Jarvis Record wants good live correspondents at Cheapside, Selkirk, Garnet, Rockford, and other places in this vicinity not already represented in these columns. Any person who is willing to act as a regular correspondent will please write us for particulars.

The RECORD wants to supply its readers with all the news in this section of the county and our subscribers can assist us in this by letting us know of any happenings of interest that may occur in their locality. Just make a note of them and send them in. Always sign your name, not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

The columns of the Record are al ways open for the discussion of any question for the promotion of the welfare of Jarvis or its institutions, or anything that will advance the interests of this locality. If you have any suggestions to make, take a little time and write it up and send it to us for publication. The Recorp will always assist in any worthy enterprise.

It is sincerely to be hoped that the movement in favor of the recali of mutilated coins and twenty-cent pieces will be favorably considered by the Government. Twenty-cent pieces have long survived their usefulness, if they ever had any; while mutilated coins are a continual source of mental and moral disquietude. The ordinary individual does not like to lose the value of the coin; and yet his conscience does not permit him to pass it off in ordinary business transactions.

Hagersville recently organized an association of the business men and people. we understand that Cayuga has done likewise Now, if those places where they have a council find it issues four and one half millions of advantageous to have an association of this kind for advancing the interests of their respective towns, how much more so is an association of that kind needed in Jarvis where of nearly 80,000 students and probusiness men's association in this and preparing for Foreign Mission village would be a benefit to the place in many ways as it has been in communion rolls 1318,684, names. If other places. We would suggest we include others who have abandthat our business men give this oned their idols and who, although question a little careful consideration not on the communion roll, are direction.

New Conservative Leader

P. L. Borden of Halifax Unaminously Elected

At a full caucus of the Conservative party at Ottawa on Wednesday last Mr. R. L. Borden of Halifax was unaminously elected as leader of the

Two years ago Mr. Borden was little known outside of Nova Scotia, and outside the Canadian legal fraternity, who knew him, not as a politician, but as a clever lawyer. In September, 1899, he married Laura, youngest daughter of the late T. H. Bond, Esq., of Halifax. Other facts of Mr. Borden's life are gleaned from a recent number of the Canadian Law Journal, which contains an interesting sketch of his

Robert Laird Borden was born at Grand Pre, Nova Scotia, on the 25th of June, 1854, and is the eldest son of Andrew Borden, Esq., and his wife Eunice Laird. His forefathers lived in New England. He is of U. E. Loyalist stock.

Mr. Borden in early youth attended the Acacia Vila Academy, at Horton, N. S., and when only fourteen years of age was appointed one of the teachers in that institution. Shortly afterwards he became professor in the Glenwood Institute, New Jersey, returning to Nova Scotia later and taking up the study of law. He was called to the bar in 1878, and at once took up the practice of his profession having several distinguished parterns at different times, among them being Mr. J. P. Chipman, of Kentville, now a County Court judge, the Sir John Thompson Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper and Judge Graham. Mr. Borden is now senior member of the firm of Borden, Ritchie, Parker and Chisholm. Mr. Borden is now and has been for several years past, president of the Nova Scotia Barristers' Society, and has been prominently engaged in many important cases.

He has attained his present postion as head of the bar of Nova Scotia by hard, unremitting and conscientious work. If genius be, as Carlyle once defined it, the capacity for taking infinite pains, then Mr. Borden is well endowed with genius He is thorough in all his works. Superficiality and he are at opposite poles. His record in the House, comparatively brief though it is, has shown that on every great question brought before the Commons, he has gone into the details of the question with a thoroughness that often put to shame the super ficial investigation of members of the Government. And to the consideration of every great question of statecraft he has always brought out a sane and well-balanced judgment that has won for his opinions in the House the greatest respect from both Government and Opposition members.

Toronto, Jan'y 23rd, 1901, Dear Mr. Editor;

In many respects the 19th Century, and especially the Victorian Era, has been remarkable, but in none more so than in the unexampled expansion of Foreign Mission enterprise. The following figures and facts make this apparent, and kindle bright hopes, almost exultation, in the minds of all who look and long for the universal reign of the Prince of Peace

At the beginning of the Century there were six Mission Societies. Now there are 537, including Womens Auxiliary Societies.

The total amount contributed for this work a hundred years ago was $75,000. Last year, contributions amounted to $19,000,000.

There are 1600,000,000 of people in the world, and the Bible has been translated in whole or in part, into the language of 1200,000,000, so that three-fourths of the worlds population can now have the Bible in their own tongue.

There are now 22,000,000, children attending Sabbath School, and of these, about 1,000,000, are in Foreign Mission Fields; and of these 140,000 are in Mission College Institutes and High Schools.

At the beginning of the Century there were no native Evangelists, whilst now there are 77338 natives teaching the Gospel to their own

There were then no Bible Societies Now there are 80; and the British and Foreign Bible Society alone

Bibles or portions of Bibles a year. There are fourteen great National Student organizations comprising fourteen hundred separate organizations, with a total membership we have no council? A good live fessors who are studying missions

There are on Foreign Mission and that a move be made in that under christian instruction, the total is 4,414,236.

The first Women's Foreign Mission

Society in England, was organized The first in America was organized in 1861. There are now 208 Womens' Societies, and they contributed last year about $4,000,-

Then one-third of the world was unknown. The social, moral and spiritual conditions are now known. There is rapid communication by railroad, steamship and electricity. Printing is rapid and inexpensive.

Beginning with such facilities, knowledge, and organization, what will the present century bring forth?. All things are possible to Him who leads His hosts to certain victory. Let us be colaborers with Him.

R. P. MACKAY, Foreign Mission Secretary Confederation Life Bldg. Toronto.

World's Biggest Building.

New York is now constructing the largest apartment building is seventeen stories high, one block long, and will cost $5,000,000. Sixteen hundred men have been two years in laying the foundations and erecting the iron work and walls, and it will be two years more before the structure is finished. It is built of granite, limestone, white brick and terra cotta, Of the cost $3,000;000 is for the building and ground and $2,000,000 for interior decoration and furnishings. The building will contain 2,300 rooms. It will be equipped with a telephone exchange larger than that of a city of 30,000 people. It will have a "central" of its own, from which will radiate the wires for 2,000 telephones, all under one roof.
