The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

An English Puzzle.

Two Englishmen have patented a new puzzle, consisting of a figure of a man or animal cut from a card or board and divided into sections, the board being placed in the bottom of a box and the sections thrown in loosely, to be shaken into their respective positions.

GOOD SENSE IN THIS.

Fantastic Ads. Not the Thing to Stay by,

Even now there is a sloughing off of much hampering weight to get ready for the tasks ahead. In the rush to what seemed a glittering gold field there was naturally more or less of a freak invasion and advertising has suffered from it. The “ad-smith” and his motley sort have been tinkering away in clumsy fashion on the far rim of advertising, wholly ignorant of its inner meaning or of its vital power. But thanks to the hard common sense of business men they have been cut short in their fantastic careers and are fast passing away. With them is passing their one idea, that advertising consisted solely in gaining the attention of the people by some design, however far-fetched, or by some weird combination of words or by some odd type setting. They quite lost sight of the fact that gaining attention may result only in securing notoriety. Not only must attention be gained but held, while information about the article advertised is imparted in a way to produce a favorable and, if possible, a convincing impression. This is the aim of all good advertising and it is the pole star of every sound advertiser in the country, as the twentieth century comes in.—Herbert S. Houston, Advertising Manager, N. Y. World.

A Step in Advance.

“Yes,” he said, “woman is certainly progressing.”
“In what way,” she asked.
“Well,” he replied, “the fad of the moment, I believe, is the painted dress, whereas the paint used to be applied.”
“John!” she exclaimed.
“Well, it's a step in advance, anyway,” he asserted doggedly.—Chicago Post.

HEART PALPITATION.

A Quebec Lady Released From Great Suffering.

She Had Tried Many Remedies Without Avail, But Ultimately Found a Cure Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Few bodily afflictions are more terrible than disease of the heart. To live in constant dread and expectation of death, sudden and with least forewarning unspoken, is for most people more awful to contemplate than the most serious lingering illness. The slightest excitement brings suffering and danger to such people.

For several years Mrs. Gravel, wife of P. H. A. Gravel, foreman in Barry's cigar factory, St. John's suburb, Quebec, was such a sufferer, but thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she is again in the enjoyment of good health. Mrs. Gravel says—“My general health was bad for several years, my appetite was poor, and I was easily tired, but it was the frequent sharp pains and violent palpitation of my heart which caused me the greatest alarm. I tried many medicines, and was treated by several doctors, but in vain. Finally I became so poorly that I was not able to do any household work, and was frequently confined to my bed. At the suggestion of one of my friends I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking a few boxes I began to gain new strength and vigor. The pains in my heart were less frequent and less severe, and in every way my health was improving. I continued using the pills until I had taken eight boxes, when I had completely recovered my health. I have gained in flesh; my appetite is good, and I am able to do all my household work without feeling the awful fatigue I was before subject to. I am very thankful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they have truly released me from much suffering, and I hope that others may be induced to try this wonderful medicine.”

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. If your dealer does not keep them they will be sent postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Unnecessary.

“My wife won't take a clock with us when we camp out.”
“How do you tell when it's time for meat?”
“Oh, that's easy; we eat from morning till night.”

New vigor and energy are soon attained by the use of Miller's Compound Iron Pills; 50 doses 25 cents.

White Lie.

As the boy was being led to the woodshed he was much moved by the Loud Lamentations of the Father.
“Father,” he said, with a quivering voice, “this is going to hurt me more than it is going to hurt you.”
Of course. This was not true.
It was one of those Noble Lies, which Love prompts mankind to tell.—Detroit Journal.

Imitations

of Dodd's Kidney Pills are legion. The box is imitated, the outside coloring and shape of the pills are imitated and the name—Dodd's Kidney Pills is imitated. Imitations are dangerous. The original is safe. Dodd's Kidney Pills have a reputation. Imitations have none or they wouldn't imitate. So they trade on the reputation of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Do not be deceived. There is only one DODD'S. Dodd's is the original. Dodd's is the name to be careful about.

WE ARE MORE CHARITABLE?

Mr. Charles Loch Says We Give More With More Knowledge.

The question is asked whether we are more charitable now than a hundred years ago. What does “more charitable” mean? We may answer—a more sincere love, guided by a more active intelligence, and aided by complete knowledge and better means of help. The definition suggests what our tests should be. But we could not compare with fairness England in the middle of the great war, obliged to overlook a growing pauperism and to lay aside social and political reforms, with England engaged in a serious war indeed, but enjoying the most prosperous years of the century. To answer the question, the movement of charitable thought and effort in the century must be considered.

The protest of the writers of the century has been against unreality and formalism in life. The protest has affected charity no less than art and science.

Helpful Rules.

Bishop Vincent gives these helpful rules for conquering worry—
Consider what must be involved in the truth that God is infinite and that you are a part of His plan.
Cultivate a spirit of gratitude for daily mercies.
Realize worrying as an enemy which destroys your happiness.
Realize that it can be cured by persistent effort.
Attack it definitely, as something to be overcome.
Realize that it has never done, and never can do, the least good. It wastes vitality and impairs the mental faculties.
Help and comfort your neighbor.
Forgive your neighbor and conquer your aversions.
The world is what we make it. Forward, then! Forward in the power of faith; forward in the power of truth; forward in the power of friendship; forward in the power of freedom; forward in the power of hope; forward in the power of God!

Men Who Don't Believe in Love

Are either cranks or have not met the right girl. Likewise people who protest catarrh is incurable have not used the best remedy, for CATARRHOZONE permanently cures all forms of nasal and throat catarrh. This wonderful remedy is successful because its application is based upon the fact that catarrh can only be treated through the air breathed or not at all. Catarrh is a germ disease deep seated in the air passages of the head, in the bronchial tubes, and in advanced stages it reaches the lungs.

By no possible means can the antiquated catarrh snuff (containing deadly cocaine), reach the disease. No foreign substance can be forced into the lungs without endangering life, and should a powder or ointment find its way into the nasal passages its only action is to further irritate an already congested condition. Thus such treatments utterly fail. Their action is too local, and not far reaching enough to be beneficial.

But CATARRHOZONE, the volatile effect of pure healing essential oils, when inhaled goes wherever the air breathed goes. It invades the most minute air coils in the lungs, reaches all portions of the nasal passages and bronchial tubes, and does it entirely without injurious effect. CATARRHOZONE kills the germs that cause catarrh, allays irritation, breaks up inflamed mucous surfaces, and has never yet failed to cure a case of catarrh no matter of how long standing or of what type. It is the cleanest, safest, most convenient remedy, and the only one sold with a guarantee that it permanently cures catarrh. CATARRHOZONE INHALER in your pocket and use it in the church, theatre, street car, home—any time or in any place. Druggists will let you try it, and sell two months' treatment for $1.00. Regular 25c trial size sent for 5c to cover postage and boxing by N.C. Pollock & Co., Kingston, Ont.; Hartford, Conn.

WITHOUT MENDELSSOHN.

A Word for the Girl Who Chooses a Quiet Wedding.

There is something to be said in favor of the quiet wedding, where the bride agrees to dispense with “fuss and feathers,” a long cortege of bridesmaids, who must all be provided with more or less expensive gifts, and will be quietly married without that grand spectacular entry to the church, and the more gorgeous recessional to the strains of the wedding march. What a saving of the pomps and costly vanities of this world!

It may be natural for a girl to wish to have a fine wedding, and to plan each detail of costuming for herself and her bridesmaids, but it is a wearying process for the family who have to attend to all the minutiae of a big church wedding and reception at the house. It is expensive, the way it is done now.

The bride elect has little time or thought to bestow upon the step she is taking in life. Her mind is occupied with her trousseau, wedding presents and the vexing question of minor arrangements for the bridal party on the great day. Her dress-maker, milliner and tailor fill up her hours with appointments, and leave her no moment for repose or reflection.

The bride-groom elect is anything but a happy man, with the multiplicity of duties which are thrust upon him. He is dancing attendance early and late, and yet seems somehow to be a cipher in the grand pageant of the fashionable church wedding.

If the parents of the bride give their sanction for a quiet ceremony there is much to be said in favor of a “marriage without Mendelssohn,” solemnized without the curious eyes of the gaping crowd. Witnesses, of course, there must be, but the wedding can be quiet, a ceremony much more welcome to some brides and bridegrooms than the ostentatious functions and crowded church and house where a big wedding is “on.”

A return to simplicity is a good thing. The great world has but a passing interest in a private wedding. Why should all society be called upon to witness the solemnization? Where incomes are small, and the expense of a large wedding are great, it is certainly more sensible to take the quiet way, to renounce the musical accompaniments, the pageant of maid of honor and flower girls, the crowd of guests invited and uninvited, the small breakfast, expensive flowers, elaborate toilets, cards and carriages, and with parental consent to essay the experiment which may be called “marriage without Mendelssohn.”

A word of kindness is seldom spoken in vain, while witty sayings are as easily lost as the pearls slipping from a broken string.—Prentice.

Rheumatism.

Nobody knows all about it; and nothing, now known, will always cure it.

Doctors try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, when they think it is caused by imperfect digestion of food. You can do the same.

It may or may not be caused by the failure of stomach and bowels to do their work. If it is, you will cure it; if not, you will do no harm.

The way, to cure a disease is to stop its cause, and help the body get back to its habit of health.

When Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil does that, it cures; when it don't, it don't cure. It never does harm.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.
