WHERE CONFUCIUS SLEEPS.

Honor Paid by Chinese to the Venerated Sage's Grave.

A visit to the tomb of Confucius is the chief incident described in Ernst von Besse-Wartegg's article on "China's Holy Land," in the October Century.

Still weary from climbing Tai-chang I left on the following morning for Kiu-fu, the home of Confucius. After an easy trip through most beautiful and fertile country, I arrived at the huge city wall, over which I saw the yellow-tiled roofs of the Confucius temple and of the palace of the present duke, the lineal descendant of the Sage.

The tomb of Confucius is situated about two miles outside the town, and, in order not to arouse the suspicion of the fanatical population, I determined to visit it before entering the city. Consequently I sent one of my porters to the duke's secretary, praying that the gates of the family graveyard should be opened to me.

The orders of the Viceroy had, however, preceded me, and on my arrival at the gates I met some chamberlains of the duke, in great estate already waiting. After profound kowtowing, they led the way to the most sacred spot of the Chinese empire, which, so far, has been seen only by one or two white men. Fortunately, the vicar of the German Catholic mission of southern Shanghai, a most learned man and excellent Chinese scholar, had joined me on the way, and I was thus able to get translations of the inscriptions on all the numerous portals, bridges, temples, and tombs.

Passing through the temple, which contains nothing but a large table of sacrifices of red deer, I entered the central enclosure and stood before the grave of Confucius. Here, under an earthen mound probably 50 feet high and one hundred and twenty feet in circumference, lie the ashes of the Sage, or as the inscription on the stone tablet in front of it says: "The most sacred of the serene Sage, the venerable teacher, the philosopher King." Twenty-six centuries have elapsed since this mound was erected, thousands of millions of sons of Han have lived and died, and still the teachings of the great man form the bible of this most numerous nation on earth. He has impressed his religion and his code of morals on a third of the entire population of the globe; but all these millions from the long line of emperors down to the present day, worship him not as a god, but as a man. They erected no gorgeous temples for sacred shrines over his grave, and no relics of Confucius are worshipped, like the piece of ivory which in the temple of Kandy represents the tooth of Buddha, or the hair from the head of Mohammed in the Mosque of Hairwan. Confucius is not a legendary figure, distorted by the commentaries of priests, but a man like his contemporaries and their descendants, yet with a greater than the dolts for whom the peoples of Asia prostrate themselves in the dust.

LA GRIPPE'S VICTIMS

A Nova Scotian Who Was Attacked Almost Gave Up Hope of Recovery—His Experience of Value to Others.

(From the Enterprise, Bridgewater, Nova Scotia.)

Mr. C. E. Johnson is about 28 years old, a gold miner by occupation, is well known about the mining camps in these parts and is thoroughly posted in his business. Not long since Mr. Johnson chanced to be in Porter's drug store, in Bridgewater, when a case of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was being opened, and he remarked to the clerk, "I saw the time when a dozen bottles of those pills were of more value to me than the best gold mine in the country." A reporter of the Enterprise happened to hear Mr. Johnson's rather startling remark and asked him why he spoke so highly of the pills. Mr. Johnson's statement was as follows:—"About four years ago I was attacked with la grippe, which kept me from work about three weeks. I did not leave it very hard apparently, but it left me weak all the same. Anyhow, after losing three weeks, I concluded to go to work again. The mine I was working in was making a good deal of water and I got wet the first day. That night the old trouble came back, with the addition of a severe cold. I managed to get rid of the cold, but the whole force of the disease settled in my stomach, kidneys and joints, and broke out on my body and limbs. My back was so weak I could scarcely stand alone, while food in every form distressed me, and I became so nervous that any unusual noise would overcome me. I tried several sorts of medicines, but none seemed to do any good. I next went to a doctor. His medicine helped me at first, but after a short time lost its effect. He then changed the medicine, but with no better result. About this time a clergyman who called at the house advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a box and used them, but they did not materially benefit me. I had now been some weeks idle and was feeling desperate. A friend strongly advised me to go to a hospital for treatment, and I had just about decided to do so when an acquaintance, learning I had taken but one box of the pills, suggested that I should try three boxes more before giving them up. The matter of money decided me on trying the pills again. I got three boxes, and when used I was quite a bit improved. Could eat light nutritious food, slept better and felt noticeably stronger. But I was still an unwieldy man. As the pills were doing a good work, however, I sent for eight more boxes. I continued using them till all were gone, when I felt that I was restored to health. All my stomach trouble had disappeared, I was fully as fleshy as before the first attack of la grippe, my nerves were so strong as ever, and I knew that work would give strength to my muscles. So, after about six months I went to work again and have not had a sick day since. One dozen boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life and gave me better health since than I had before, and that is why I said they were worth more to me than any gold mine, for all that a man has he will give for his life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. If your dealer does not keep them, they will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Few Go to the Riviera.

The Riviera is in despair. It is being boycotted by the British, in the same way the Paris Exhibition was, simply because Mr. Kruger was in France, and the French made so much of him, in order to show their spite against ourselves, that our people would not take any notice of our lively neighbors, and gave them a wide berth. Quite right, too. We are glad to hear that during the last fortnight in November, and the first fortnight in December, the falling off in bookings from London, on the same period's figures of last year, has been 95 per cent. This, so the local papers say, was owing entirely to the idea that Oom Paul might arrange to remain in the south of France during the winter. Although it has been a remarkably mild season, it is satisfactory to know that the old hypothesis has been shown the cold shoulder by all the great Powers. France, of course, alone excepted. But no one treats France seriously; she is a sort of international Labouchere.—Weston, Eng. Mercury.

A POCKET PHYSICIAN

Is something unique to be had in a CATARRH OZONE INHALER. This wonderful convenient little instrument is very versatile; it actually kills those nasty colds in the head in about half an hour, and is therefore a trusted friend at the season. Sore throat is relieved very quickly by inhaling CATARRH OZONE, which also strengthens weak lungs and proves a valuable aid to patients recovering from pneumonia. For the voice nothing is half so good, and all great singers who have a clear strong voice, ministers and public speakers use CATARRH OZONE and say they would not be without it, because it prevents hoarseness and renders the voice capable of greater endurance. As for Catarrh and Asthma, CATARRH OZONE is the only remedy that permanently cures them, and Bronchitis and Throat Irritation yield to it very quickly. Ladies affirm that for headache and tired feeling across the eyes nothing is so helpful as CATARRH OZONE. Where deafness has resulted from catarrh and not from a structural defect CATARRH OZONE is an effectual treatment and always restores the hearing. It is a preventative as well as a cure, and such are its germicidal properties that, when inhaled four times daily, it retards the development of the bacilli of Consumption, Diphtheria, Catarrh, etc., and those who use CATARRH OZONE are insured against these diseases.

CATARRH OZONE is a pleasant, fragrant refreshing treatment sold with a guarantee on each package that it cures. It is safe and convenient to use at any time or place, and druggists are pleased to have you try it and sell the inhaler and sufficient extra inhalant for two months' use for $2.50. Regular 50c trial size for 10c to cover postage and boxing by N. C. Fettes & Co., Kingston, Ont., Hartford, Conn.

CURIOUS TYPE OF CRANKS.

Those Who Confess Crimes they Never Committed Annoy the Police.

"The most curious type of crank in the world, in my humble opinion," said an old police officer, "is one fellow who makes a false confession. The outside public has no idea how frequently that sort of thing occurs. Whenever we have a murder mystery the authorities are absolutely certain to hear from one or more people who assert positively that they have committed the crime and whose stories are generally self-evident fabrications. As a rule the confession cranks write a letter and now and then the communications are so plausible and circumstantial that the police would be thrown completely off the track were it not for the fact that they are always on their guard for just that kind of false leads. It is very strange, and there seems to be absolutely no motive beyond an insane passion for meddling. Occasionally the crank will present himself in person and insist upon being locked up, but his first few words will usually betray him, and, unless he is violent he is quietly escorted to the door. A very singular incident of that kind took place seven or eight years ago in connection with a mysterious murder in the "Tenderloin" district.

"One evening a young man who belonged to an excellent family of this city called at headquarters and astonished everybody by declaring he had committed the crime. A little questioning showed that his story could not possibly be true, and finally he admitted that he was lying. My curiosity was highly excited, and taking him to one side, I tried to draw from him the reason that had prompted such an extraordinary and dangerous piece of folly. He told me, with hysterical tears, that he had brooded about the case and found a strange and pleasurable excitement in 'making believe' that he was the man who had done the deed. That grew upon him until, I suppose, it became next door to an hallucination. At any rate, he could give no other explanation. Of course such a man should have been placed under restraint as a dangerous monomaniac, but the police have no facilities for handling cases of this kind, and the family were averse to sending him to an asylum. I see him frequently on the streets. Some few false confessions are made for the deliberate purpose of misleading the authorities, and, again, they are sometimes made by prisoners solely to secure a transfer to another city. It is a brand of crankiness that might well interest a specialist."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the diseased and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Getting Thin

is all right, if you are too fat and all wrong, if too thin already.

Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can, but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however; you'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.
