J. W. RODGERS,
Editor and Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 30, 1901.

Many people have doubtless heard the expression "jumping the broomstick" to indicate marriage, but few perhaps know the origin of it. William Wombwell, aged seventy, and Catherine Heley, aged fifty-seven, jumped over a broomstick at Cowle, near Doncaster, Eng., recently, and thereupon became, according to Romany custom, man and wife. That marriage will stand as legal in the English courts.

The past century has witnessed a complete reversal of Great Britain's position in regard to wheat. In the year 1800 England exported corn and cattle to European countries, having more than enough. To-day she is dependent for nearly ten months of the year upon imported grain. Imports of wheat and flour did not begin until 1340-50, when 1,000,000 quarters were the average imported, the total supply required being 18,000,000 quarters. Since that period imports have steadily grown while the home-grown supplies have steadily fallen. From 1890-99 the home supply has averaged 7,500,00 quarters and the imports 21,500,000 quarters. The wants for the first year of the new century, says the Miller, are generally agreed at 30,000,000 quarters of which 23,500,000 will have to be imported.

Mr. Coffey, the registrar of Carleton county, makes this sage observation in his annual report: Ottawa continues to attract the young men from the surrounding country, and the value of farm land is affected by this movement. It is a very common belief, in fact, a conviction amongst country people that city folks enjoy a continual round of pleasure, with little worry and no labor. In one case out of fifty a farmer who sells out and moves into a city improves his condition, but that one case seems to be always in the minds of everyone in the township or district the fortunate one left. The other forty-nine are forgotten. The monotony and labor of farm life are no doubt irksome, but the nightmare of the bailiff rarely haunt the farmers dreams." The farmer's son who rushes off the city does not know what a good thing he is leaving; nor does he take into account the difficulties he will experience. If our young men would take more kindly to the farm there would be more well-to-do old men in the country.

FUNERAL ON FEB. 2.

Ceremony Has Been Fixed For That Date.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 24, 12.38 p.m.—The funeral of the Queen has been fixed to take place at Windsor Castle on February 2. The body of the late Queen will be removed from Osborne House on February 1. It was the expressed desire of the Queen that the funeral should be military in character. Several officials arrived from Windsor this morning, bringing the state regalia.

A naval salute of twenty-one guns was fired here at noon today in honor of King Edward VII.

Thomas Crockett, who has for years been general manager of the Temiscouata Railway, has retired from the position, and has been succeeded by D. B. Lindsay, formerly the general freight and passenger agent of the railway.

King Edward VII Duly Proclaimed.

London, Jan. 24.—London was given today a glimpse of mediaeval times. The quaint ceremonies with which King Edward VII. was proclaimed at various points of the metropolis exactly followed ancient precedent. The officials purposely arranged the function an hour ahead of the published announcement, and the inhabitants when they woke were surprised to find the entire way between St. James, Palace and the city lined with troops. About 10,000 soldiers, Life Guards, Horse Guards, Foot Guards and other cavarly and infantry regiments had been brought from Aldershot and London barracks after midnight. All the officers had crape on their arms, and the drum and brass instruments were shrouded with crape.

The troops made an imposing spectacle, but they were entirely eclipsed by the strange spectacle presented by the officials of the college-at-arms. The ceremony began at St. James' Palace, where at nine o'clock Edward VII. was proclaimed King of Great Britain and Ireland and Emperor of India. The proclamation which was read by William Henry Weldon, King-at-Arms since 1894, and formerly Windsor Herald, was as follows:

"Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to call to His mercy our late sovereign lady Queen Victoria of blessed and glorious memory, by whose decease the imperial crown of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland solely and rightfully comes to the high and mighty Prince Albert Edward, we, therefore, the lords, spiritual and temporal of the realm, being here, assisted with these of His Majesty's Privy Council, with members of other principal gentlemen of quality, with the Lord Mayor, the aldermen and the citizens of London, do now hereby with one voice, consent of tongue and heart publish and proclaim that the high and mighty Prince Albert Edward is now by the death of our late sovereign of happy memory become our only lawful and rightful liege lord, Edward VII., by the grace of God, King of Great Britain and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India, to whom we do acknowledge all faith and constant obedience with all hearty and humble affection, beseeching God by whom all kings and queens do reign to bless the royal Prince Edward VII. with long and happy years to reign over us."

Events in the Life of Queen Victoria.

Queen Victoria was born at Kensington, May 24th, 1819.

Only child of Edward, Duke of Kent, who was the fifth child of George III.

Her mother, the Duchess of Kent was Victoria, daughter of Francis, Duke of Saxe-Coburg. She was the widow of Charles, Prince of Leiningen. Born Aug. 17, 1786. She was married to the Duke of Kent on May 27, 1818, at Coburg (another ceremony at Kew Palace on July 11); she died on March 16, 1861.

The Queen was an only child.

Her father, the Duke of Kent, died on Jan. 23, 1820, before Victoria was a year old.

The Queen succeeded to the throne on June 20, 1837, at the age of 18 years and 26 days.

She was crowded on June 28, 1838.

On Feb. 10, 1840, she was married to Francis Albert Augustus Charles Emmanuel, Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

The Prince Consort's family name name was Wettin.

He was born on Aug. 26, 1819, and was 94 days younger than the Queen.

The Prince Consort died, universally lamented, on Dec. 14, 1861, after a short illness of typhoid fever.

The Queen's immediate family was—Victoria Adelaide Mary Louisa, born Nov. 21, 1840; married on Jan. 25, 1858; to Frederick. Crown Prince of Prussia. She is now the Dowager Empress of Germany.

Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, born Nov. 9. 1841; married on March 10, 1863, to Alexandra, eldest daughter of the King of Denmark.

Alice Maud Mary, born April 25, 1843; married July 1, 1862, to Frederick Louis of Hesse; died Dec. 14, 1878.

Alfred Ernest Albert, Duke of Edinburg, born Aug. 6, 1844, married on Jan. 23, 1874, the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia; became Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha on Aug. 23, 1893 and died on July 30, 1900.

Helena Augusta Victoria, born May 25, 1845; married to Frederick Christian Charles Augustus, of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Augustenburg, on July 5, 1866.

Louise Caroline Alberta, born March 18, 1848; married on March 21, 1871, to the Marquis of Lorne, now Duke of Argyll.

Arthur William Patrick Albert, Duke of Connaught, born May 1, 1850; married Princess Louise Margarett of Prussia, on March 13, 1879.

Leopold George Duncan Albert; Duke of Albany, born April 7, 1853. married to Princess Helen, of Waldeck, on April 27, 1882; died March 28, 1884.

Beatrice Mary Victoria Feodora, born April 14, 1855; married to Prince Henry of Battenburg, on July 23, 1885. Prince Henry died on Jan. 20, 1896.

THE QUEEN HERSELF

THE AUTHOR

From the Guelph Herald, Jan. 26th, 1901.

The Herald, yesterday, gave a review of the forthcoming Life and Reign of Queen Victoria, to be published by the World Publishing Company, of Guelph. It is now learned that the World Publishing Company have purchased the Canadian copyright of the latest published work Her Majesty wrote, namely "More Leaves From the Journal of a Life in the Highlands." The World Publishing Co. will add this to their book without change of price.

Imagine such authors, namely, Her Majesty the Queen, Dr. John Coulter, and John A. Cooper, editor of the Canadian Magazine. This will make the book about 700 pages, quality never equalled, and only $1.75 in price.

The Ontario government will ask the legislature at the coming session to make an appropriation for a statue of Queen Victoria to be erected in front of the legislative buildings.
