Often Sat Up in Bed Coughing the Whole Night Long-Doctors Ultimately Told Him the Frouble Was Developing Into Consumption How Relief Was Obtained.

(From the Times, Picton, Ont.) Nothing racks the body more than a severe cough. If it is allowed to run for any length of time, it is very hard to get rid of, and often leads to the most dreaded of all diseasesconsumption. Such a sufferer was Mr. Thomas Jinks, of Prince Edward county. Mr. Jinks relates the following facts to a Picton Times reporter -"I am sixty-seven years of age, and for the last twenty years I have had a bad cough. I was troubled with catarrh, which started in my head, but later spread to my stomach, leaving me dyspeptic. For two years I was troubled with pains in the stomach, and was not able to raise my arms above my head without experiencing severs pains about my short ribs and stomach. Then my kidnevs began to trouble me and at times I could not get out of a chair without help. My limbs and feet were often so swollen that I was unable to lace my boots, but as soon as the swelling went down I was but a mere shadow. My wrists and arms were so shrunken that I could span them with ease. My cough racked my whole body. I have sat up in bed and coughed the whole night long. I tried several doctors without success. They finally told me I was in the first stages of consumption. In the spring of 1899, a little pamphlet was thrown in the hall door telling about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to true them. Before finishing the second oox I noted a change and after using them for a couple of months I was completely cured, and the cough had left me. At present my health is as good as I can wish for, and I can truly say through all my suffering, I never got any per-manent relief until I took Dr. Wil-hams' Pink Pills.' Mr. Jinks added that it was not in his own case alone that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had proved of advantage in his family. His daughter, Miss Mildred, was in very poor health, and scarcely able to go around. In fact, her friends feared her trouble was developing into dropsy. She used five boxes of the pills and is now enjoying the very best of health. Dr. Williams Pink Pills cure such rently hopeless cases as Jinks, because they make new, rich, red blood, and thus reach the root of the trouble. These pills are the only medicine offered the public that can show a record of such marvelous cures after doctors had failed. If you are at all unwell, this medicine will restore you to health, but be sure you get the genuine with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People' on the wrapper around each box.

London's Girl Messengers.

In London there is difficulty in getting enough boys to serve as messengers, so the experiment is being made of employing girls. Some of the messenger girls are demure damsels of seventeen summers, and are said to be quicker than the boys in delivering messages and answering calls. It will be interesting to watch the development of the experiment.

A PLAGUE OF DEVIL FISH. Eaglish Shell Fisheries Injured by Hordes of Octobus.

There is great anxiety at our south coast fishing centres consequent upon the plague of octopus which has ravaged the Channel this season, says the Westminster Gazette. The returns of the shell fisheries for the past season show how serious the visitation is. The crab total has fallen from 877,000 to 596 000, and the lobster total from 388,000 to 319,000. From experiments made at Plymouth it was found that seven out of every eight crabs taken in the usual fishermen's traps during the second week of October, wh n the plague was at its height, were killed by octopus, and that for every crab safely taken twenty-one octopus were caught. And three years ago the creatures were so scarce that single specimens fetched a high price for the local aquaria and museums. We owe this destructive visitation to our recent succession of mild seasons. Ordinarily the octopus is not to be found northeast of Cherbourgh, which is the point of lowered sea temperature that separates the marine fauna of the warmer seas from the fauna of our colder Channel. The mild seasons have pushed this temperature barrier further up Channel for the time being; but there is very little ground for the fear, which has been so freely expressed, that our fishermen have a new and permanent enemy to cope with. The normal conditions of temperature will assert themselves. and the devil-fish hordes will retire before them to their natural bounds again. If the climatic conditions had allowed it, they would long ago have become a permanent species on cur

A Neat Reply.

Sir William Harcourt, while dining one evening with Mr. Disraeli, made a delightfully courteous repartee. It happened that on the occasion in question Mr. Harcourt, as he was then, was placed next to the hostess. On the wall opposite them hung a picture of a lightly-draped female figure, and during a pause in the conversation the guest's eyes happened to wander to the painting. "I see you are looking at the picture," suddenly broke in Mrs. Disraeli, with a laugh. 'I always say that it oughtn't to be allowed in here; but it is nothing to "That I can quite believe," room." required the Squire of Mallwood gallantly, with a bow, and, feeling that he had ventured on rather delicate ground quickly changed the subject. Later in the evening the incident was related to the host, who laughed heartily at the neat reply of his political opponent.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in deing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimobials.

Triangular Trade is Profitable. It is a mistake to regard our com mercial relations with the United States as unprofitable because our imports from that country greatly exceed our exports. Trade is not the purchases and sales of the nation, but the exchange of products between individuals, and each transaction must be considered on its merits. It is evident that Canadians will not purchase in United States except so far as they find it personally advantageous to do so. If they purchase across the boundary it is the best possible evidence of the benefits of that line of commerce, and the aggregate of the individual benefits is the profit of the whole Dominion. Even if it were true that importing was an evil and exporting a co-related benefit, it would be fallacious to narrow the view to a single country. If Canadians buy from the Americans and sell to the British, who in turn sell to the Americans, the transaction is complete, and must be quite as profitable as if we bought from the Americans and sold to them in return. In the intricacies of international trade, all countries are involved, and it is a mistake to regard as injurious the participation of the country from which we happen to receive goods.-Globe.

A Weird Disease.

Dr. MacDonald, the resident surgeon of the Geraldton Hospital, asserts that the complaint known in North Queensland as the earth-eating disease is assuming serious proportions in Geraldton and other northern towns, says British Australasian. It has raged at Cooktown and Townsville, and is extending nearly as far south as Bris-Dangerous results, he says, must ensue if immediate steps are not taken to suppress it, especially among children attending the public schools.

VIGOROUS ACTION

Is always applieded, but diplomacy is better. Prevention is better than cure. We are constantly at war with germs which ledge in our members and engender disease. Catarrh is a microbic disease so deep seated in the lungs, nasal passages and broughtal tubes that until recently nothing could reserb it. Catarrh snuffs, cintiments, atomises, stomach medicine in tablet and liquid form have been tried but all proved dangerous as well as ineffectual. Such treatments often contain injurious drugs which eat away the tender linings of the stomach, ness and thrust, and on this account were cast aside by the doctors.

The Irish Guards.

Now that the Irish Guards are at Chelsea, Londoners have a chance of seeing what a fine body they are. Instituted by the Queen to commemorate the brave deeds of the sons of Erin in South Africa, the Irish Guards -who at Cheisea are 260 strongare all picked men. The consequence is that they are a level lot as regards height and physique, and present a very imposing appearance when marching. The uniform is a striking one, the green in the cap and the shamrock badges being particularly conspicuous. Colonel Joshua Cooper, the commander of the new Irish Guards Regiment, has turned forty years of age, having been born on July 18, 1860. He entered the Grenadier Guards as second lieutenant in 1880, and became major of that regiment in 1898. He saw active service in the Egyptian expedition of 1882, when he took part in the action of Mahuta and the battle of Tel-el-Kebir. Colonel Cooper holds the medal with clasp and bronze star.

SCIENCE OF TAKING COLD.

has been a noteworthy change of medical opinion in recent years as to the subject of taking cold. In no other country is this matter of such general importance as in the United States, where catarris, acute and chronic, are so common as to be almost universal. The explosive clearing of the throat which is characteristic of an American audience has been commented on by English and French visitors, and the surprise has been great that pneumonia should be so much more prevalent and fatal here than it is in foggy and muggy England. An understanding of the conditions under which a cold may be contracted should prove of special value at this time of the year. It is a popular idea that if one be amply provided with warm clothing, wraps, a mackintosh, rubbers and an umbrella little risk is run of taking a cold, yet it is a matter of frequent experience that in spite of all reasonable precautions a catarrhal affection may be developed or pneumonia set in. The fact that weariness, depression of spirits, fright, anxiety or something which has affected the nervous system unfavorably has preceded the attack is frequently overlooked. When free from every form of nervous debility a person may expose himself to draughts, dampness and other usual causes of colds, and escape entirely, while at another time, when weary or depressed from any cause, he may become the victim of a fatal attack of pneumonia from a much slighter exposure. The nervous origin of colds seems to be recognized by all physicians who have made a special study of acute diseases of the lungs and throat.

It is explained that the temperature of the body is maintained by the nervous system and that the least failure or relaxation of nervous energy causes a change of the bodily heat and impairs the power of the body to resist the approach of disease. It is a wonderful fact that under any change of outside temperature, even if one go from the arctic regions to the equator, the heat of the body remains at about 98 degrees. But for its regulation by the nervous system the heat of the body could not remain constant, as every muscular exertion would raise the temperature. Weariness, anxiety, edepression and the like lower the amount of nervous energy and render the body susceptible to colds from the least exposure by disturbing the process of regulating the temperature. While warm clothing and all the common means of protecting the body are important, it is even more important to avoid needless exposure if the nervous system be not in its best condition.-Philadelphia Record.
