hundred craft were booming a continuous salute to the steamer Roosevelt as she plowed her way up to the harbor this morning at the very moment that Commander Robert E. Peary stepped from the train at Grand Central Station, returning to New York from his trip to the North Pole, to participate in the Hudson-Fulton parade up the Hudson River. He was accompanied by Mrs. Peary, and they had left Portland, Me., last evening, to participate in to-day's naval demonstration. The hour of their arrival was so early that few persons were at the station to greet them.

"I appreciate the honor of being in today's naval parade," said the Commander just before alighting from the train, "and it is an especial pleasure to be with my crew on board the Roosevelt on such an occasion. The trip up the Hud-son to-day will be a much different event for them than the trip of the Roosevelt up Smith Sound, up the ice, to the winter quarters at Cape Sheridan.

'No, there is nothing to be said now about the Cook controversy. I do not want to talk about it now. NAVAL PAPADE.

New York, Oct. 1-The naval parade up the lower Hudson to meet the Half Moon and Clermont at Newburgh was the feat. ure of the Hudson-Fulton celebration today, so far as Manhattan was concerned. In Brooklyn the historical pageant of last Tuesday was repeated. They saw, in addition to Peary's vessel, the Roosevelt, a great fleet of excursion steamers. steem tugs, yachts, motor boats and other craft, which rendezvoused between Fort Leo and Spuyten Duyvel, and about 10 o'clock fell into line for the 50-mile journey to Newburgh. With the historic Half Moon and Clermont already up the river, easily the chief figure in the gathering of craft in the lower river was the Roosevelt. Her progress from quarantine early in the day to her dock at the foot of west 42nd street was marked by a continuous blast of whistles, and when she came off Riverside Drive, where the crowd was gathered, and started on her way up the river, the salute was taken up by thousands of cheering voices.

The nucleus of the "Lower Hudson" fleet that started this morning was a squadron of one small United States cruiser. 12 torpedo boats and four submarines. These with the Castino, the parent boat of the submarines squadron. and four other submarines which are actng as escort to the Half Moon, and the ermont, made 22 warships, representing Uncle Sam in to-day's demonstration. The other members of the American war fleet and the visiting foreign men of war remained at their anchorrested since they assembled last Satur-

The Half Moon and the Clermont spent the night at Ossining and had a cial tribute for a week, and did not comparatively short run this morning to reach Newburgh.

Newburgh, a city that dates from early Dutch colonial times, had prepared for the celebration of its history. After the arrival of the fleet there was a street parade of 5,000 men, in which the sailors and marines from the warships joined. The paraders will afterward be guests at a big "shore dinner."

To-night the marines of all the warships in the harbor here will attend a reception at a Harlem open air park given by the Seamen Gunners' League of the United States.

MARCONI STATIONS.

All on British Coast Taken Over by Government.

London, Oct. 4.-The Government, after prolonged negotiations, has completed arrangements to take over all the coast stations of the Marconi Wireless System, excepting the long-distance stations at Poldhu and Clifton, which the company retains for its projected trans-Atlantic service. The Government pays $75,000 for these stations and gets also the right to use all existing patents and all improvements made during the next fourteen years. Under the control of the British Post Office Department the Marconi stations will be operated for communication equally with all ships, irrespective of their wireless system. Up to the present time the Marconi Company have endeavored to persuade all ships to install its system. The Post Office is taking over also all the Lloyd's wireless stations.

The Admiralty has long urged the vital importance of vesting the control of wireless telegraphy in the Post Office, and there is a widespread sentiment against allowing the establishment of a private monopoly in wireless tele-

Despondent Man Wrote Farewell on

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 4.-Writing his farewell message on the back of his sweetheart's photograph, J. R. Hogg, 24 years old, committed suicide this afternoon in his room at Mrs. Jay Wadsworth's home on Stone avenue. The message, addressed to Miss Matel Shields. North Shields, England, read:

"Good-bye, until we meet in a better world. God knows."

As letters to a brother in Port Huron, to Chief of Police Farrington and to the Wadsworth family showed that the act had been premeditated, no inquest wil be held.

Hogg was an expert chemist and skilled mechanic, but was discharged a month ago by the Grand Trunk locomotive shops. Despondency over losing his job, coupled with lonesomeness for Miss Shields, is believed to have caused the

Ottawa Despatch-Hon. Geo. P. Graham to-day approved the route map of the new line of the Canadian Northern Railway from Toronto to Ottawa via Smith's Falls. The route of the western portion of the line was approved last year, but approval of the eastern section has been withheld, pending the decision as to whether the line would run through Smith's Falls or through Lanark. These sections of eastern Ontario

The Canadian Northern has agreed to build a branch line to Lanark, thus meeting the demands of the district for a needed improvement in railway facili-pleasantest features of to-day's militery pageant was the hearty interest evidently felt by the crowd in the British sailors and marines, and the appreciative reception accorded them. From the first to the last the crowd found merit a-plenty in the sailors here to join in honoring the two men to whom the city has been paying spehesitate to show its appreciation. The crowd was quick to recognize tactical merit, and unstinted in approval of it where found. They cheered the British jacks in their odd-looking straw hats, and the Royal Marine light infantry with the gold globe on their collars, which tells the story of battles and hard service in every part of the world. The well-set-up sailors from the British ships in their service uniform aroused great enthusiasm, the acclaim subsiding only to rise again as all the details of precision and perfect alignment of movement were grasped by the crowd.

"Here come the British." everybody yelled, and then they all stood up preparatory to giving King Ed-ward's men just such a reception as the King's Australian subjects tendered the men of the Atlantic fleet in Melbourne a little over a year ago. It was the first time in the memory of the oldest of those present when a British column of fighting men had paraded through the streets of New The Inflexible's band headed the Britishers, and well did it sustain its reputation as one of the finest naval bands on the seven seas.

The Britishers got a great reception all along the line, and when the colorbearers with the Union Jack and the Admiral's pennant passed, the people stood up in honor of the colors, while the American and foreign officers who were in the stand stood at attention. their right hands at their caps in sa-thousand men of arms marched to-day past the representatives and and special envoys of thirty-seven nations, while two million citizen spectators shouted themselves hoarse in cheers. The great military parade was the climax of the Hudson-Fulton celebration. Although there were tremendous ovations for each body of American troops and unstinted applause in overwhelming volume for the British sailors, the most conspicuous reception of the day went to the sailors of the German fleet, a picked body of magnificent men, who as they reached the reviewing stand fell into the formal slap-slap of the parade goose-step and burst into "My Coun-try, "Tis of Thee," with an over-whelm-ing volume of brasses and a fervor which took away the breath of the listeners. The spectators sat silent for a moment, and then, rising bareheaded, cheered and cheered and cheered again, and waved hats and handkerchiefs.

Waverly, N. Y., Oct. 4. -A scratch from the paw of a rabid dog was resconsible for the death to-day of George Murray, the four-year-old child of a local merchant. The boy was playing near his home recently with two older boys, when they were suddenly attacked by a strange dog. The other two were bitten and were sent to the Pasteur Institute for treatment as soon as it became known that the dog was mad. The Murray child's injury was so superficial, however, that no alarm was felt. Yesterday he developed unmistakable symptoms of rabies and died to-day in great

Madrid, Oct. 4.-The latest Spanish dofeat in Morocco, in which General Diez Vicario lost his life, is not yet known to the people of Madrid, and the authorities are carefully suppressing the details of the activities of yesterday and Wed nesday, which indicated that the Moors were resuming the offensive. It is now known, however, that the Spaniards retired from the summit of Mt. Guruga because of the sudden appearance of 000 Moors, whose attack was expected momentarily. The enthusiasm that followed the announcement of the posses sion of Mount Guruga is dampened today by the reports already made public and the people will be further dismayed when they hear of the reverse of yester-

The reverse to the Spanish arms in Morocco of yesterday shows that the re-joicing in Spain over the occupation of Mt. Guruga as the end of the war was not completely justified. The authorities at Madrid were desirous of giving this color to the occupation of the Moorish stronghold effected Sept. 29th, for the purpose of calming public feeling and quieting local criticism of the campaign, but it would appear to-day that their course was premature. The Spaniards occupied Mount Guruga without resistance, but the day following their successful advance the Moors appeared in large numbers, and the Spaniarda began retiring, it being announced that their positions were of no strategic importance. The encounter in which Gen. Vicario lost his life followed this gathering of the Moors, who showed thair warlike activity in other minor engage-ments with the Spaniards.

The Spanish force was under the command of General Orozco. The other officers who lost their lives were a lieutenant and two captains. The Spaniards were ambushed by the Moors.

The Government's determination in based on the belief that there is a greater chance for its re-election now than vear hence. The Liberal newspapers make a special feature of the indecision of the Unionist party regarding the treatment of the finance bill and of the prospect of their eventually deciding not to neglect it. It is even more than hinted that the
