A Western Example

A gentleman from a Saskatchewan town was recently on a business trip to Toronto and in company with a Toronto friend, went out to make some purchases of personal necessities. The Torontonian suggested that while in the city the Westerner should make larger and more elaborate purchases, in fact should supply his needs for some time to come. The Westerner refused emphatically to buy more than sufficient for his immediate needs. He said they had merchants in his own home town who had been induced to invest capital by the prospects for local business; that he himself was holding a position there in an educational institution that was made possible only by the settling in the immediate vicinity of a number of business men and farmers, and that he would be unjust to the interests of his neighbors, his town and himself, unless he confined his purchases, as far as possible, to his own locality.

If that is the Western spirit, it is not difficult to understand the phenomenal growth of the country and the enthusiasm the Westerner feel for their towns. It is refreshing to hear one of them expatiate on the merits of his place of residence.
Possibly we have not heard the name before, for they are making towns rapidly out that way just now; but we shall not be likely to forget it in future, after listening to his rapid-fire eloquence and seeing his infectious enthusiasm. You can smile at his volubility, but we can tell you, friends, that in the intense local patriotism of the Westerners lies the secret of the country's marvellous growth and prosperity.

What a change there would be in Jarvis if all our citizens were imbued with a similar spirit. How the place would thrive if all the residents of Jarvis would take as much interest in the welfare of our town as that Westerner does in his.
But as a matter of fact what do we find? It is not only that money in Jarvis spend money when away from home for things they might have obtained before leaving, but they deliberately defer supplying their wants until they get away.
Some indeed send their money by mail and receive the goods by express, under the mistaken impression that they can save a few cents by so doing. How our Westerner would scorn such sordid parsimony.

Now, is it not possible for each one of us to emulate that spirit of solidarity—that wholesome loyalty to our own people, to our own town and to ourselves? Can we not see that in doing so we will not only help our neighbors but will materially help ourselves? It would enlarge our business and our social life. It would also increase our self-respect. It is a mistake to think you save anything by acting in a contrary way. As a matter of fact you can supply your need in Jarvis just as economically as in any place in Canada, even in the large places, where it costs more to do business, where taxes are greater and where the cost of living is higher, with consequent higher prices for labor and help of all kinds.

Let us get together and see if we cannot give Jarvis a new impetus.
It would mean a new expansion of our town if each individual member of the community would resolved to henceforth do all his or her shopping right here in Jarvis.

Our School—One Class vs Another.

On Monday morning the school bell chimed out "come," and as we looked forth and saw the groups of boys and girls on their way to school, we note some whose elastic step and cheerful faces are highly indicative of the soul and mind, and all such will prove a blessing to themselves, their teachers and their school. Their actions show anxiety for their work; their lessons will be perfectly prepared; their recitations well given, and they will attain to that round on the ladder of fame and learning called success.
They will master all kinds of problems, not only in school but in life.
They will not require punishing in order to teach them the necessity of getting their lessons. They study because they love to, are industrious and energetic from principle, their life will be a success. Following comes another group of boys whose lazing steps and sullen faces show that the sound of the bell grated harshly upon their ears. These boys will prove unruly, unkind and unlike the other class named will take but little interest in their work, and at the end of the year, in spite of a teacher's earnest efforts in their behalf, will be but little further advanced than in the beginning. We need not say what the result will be in the latter case, but to those boys' parents we wish to say, cultivate in their minds a love for the school and school work. See to it that they are doing their part well or know why such is not the case. In other words see if you can't control your boys and not depend upon the teacher to do it.

In Peril of Niagara.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 12.— For thirteen hours George Feliz and Harry Porter, with two companions, were marooned in a small launch in a bar out in the river less than a mile from the cataract and about a quarter of a mile from the point where the river breaks into the turbulent upper rapids. The boat went aground about 7 o'clock last night, and it was not until 8 o'clock this morning that it was released and the party half dead from cold and fright, taken off. The absence of a wind was all that saved the boat and its four passengers from being swept over the Falls.
Just off the spit where the boat grounded the water is deep and the current very swift. There was a dense fog over the river all night, and even if the launch had lifted off the reef the men would have been in a worse plight than before, for it would have been a hard matter to make shore with the lights obscured and a margin of only a quarter of a mile between them and the rapids. All through the night the men kept calling for help, but their voices failed to reach any ear along the shore. When John W.
Biederick, a riverman, went out early to-day and pulled the craft off the men were in a state of collapse. Several years ago the Eliza H. went aground on the same reef and pounded to pieces.

Rollled Into Water.

St. Catharines, Sept. 12.—The four-year-old daughter of William Brinson, an employee of the Welland Valve Manufacturing Company, was drowned in the waste weir in the rear of the works this evening.
The girl, with her three-year-old brother, was playing on the banks of the waste weir, waiting for their father to leave the factory. In some manner the little girl lost her footing and rolled into the water. Workmen at the factory had seen the children on the bank, and fearing for their safety, had warned them away.
Soon after the boy was seen crying and told of the accident. A searching party was at once organized, but the current at that spot is very swift and on a late hour to-night no trace of the body had been found.

The merchants of Kincardine purpose adopting a protective system that has proved very satisfactory in other towns whereby all accounts are collected by one man and also classify the debtors as dead beats, slow pay or good, and will place lists as classified in the merchants' hands for their guidance in giving or not. The collector will thereby be able to know the standing of all debtors.

BUSINESS COLLEGE

A NEW SCHOOL.
A LIVE SCHOOL.
A GOOD SCHOOL.

A school that has grown from infancy to manhood in a season.
To-day the number of Students enrolled rivals that of many city schools. Careful attention and individual instruction, together with modern methods, taught by a capable staff of teachers, make our school what it is.

The great cost of living in a city gives our school a great advantage over city schools, while we have equal advantages placing graduates.

Our building is well lighted and heated and our school has every advantage that goes to make up a modern Business College.

Fall term opens Sept. 1st. Enter Now.
