The Jarvis Record

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 22, 1909.

Recently, a Toronto hungry man stole a loaf of bread and was sent to jail for 30 days. Another was sentenced for 60 days for stealing six empty bottles, or ten days for each bottle. These men made a mistake. If they had been political grafters of the cutest kind, they could have appropriated $50,000 in cold cash. They could have remained at liberty, sported an automobile and a steam yacht, and snapped their fingers at law, judge or jury. There seems to be something wrong in the course of justice, when a poor hungry man is sent to jail for 30 days for helping himself to a loaf of bread, while a chap that is cute enough to get in on the first floor in political favor, may get a rate-off of several thousand dollars (for which he gives the country no value) and is looked upon as an "influential gentleman" moving in "high circles."

According to the United States' internal revenue statistics for the four years 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, there has been a decrease in the quantity of spirits and fermented liquors sold, of over 489 million gallons. The fiscal year ends June 30, and the government statistics for the two years ending June 30, 1909, show a decrease from the total of the year ending June 30, 1907, of 14,657,629 gallons of whiskey and 2,142,614 barrels of beer. Reducing this vast quantity to drinks, these government figures indicate that in the two years mentioned, there were 2,045,987,685 less drinks taken than in the previous one year ending June 30, 1907. The rapidly increasing area of "dry" territory is supposed to be the cause of this enormous decrease. Turning to Canada, the latest departmental blue books also show a decrease in the quantity of liquor produced.
For the year ending March 31, 1909, the decrease was 1,673,715 gallons, and the total excise revenue was $15,046,589, a decrease of nearly one million dollars.

There has been much talk of late about Dreadnoughts, that the following from Bishop Mallieu of the United States will be of interest.
It shows what might be done with the cost of one Dreadnought, and should set sensible people thinking of the world's awful waste on war vessels that in a few years become out of date. The Bishop says:—It costs about $1,500 every time a twelve-inch gun is fired. This, of course, includes the wear and tear of the gun. But $1,500 would build a neat cottage for a laboring man.
It would support two first-rate female teachers. It would support a minister of the Gospel of peace in heaven lands for a whole year.
Then it costs $10,000,000 of good money to build one of the horrible Dreadnoughts; and $1,000,000 per annum to keep one of them afloat, and in ten years or less the junk-heap. But what would be wrought with the $20,000,000 thus spent on one engine of war in the brief space of ten years? A thousand churches could be built, each costing about $20,000; or two thousand school houses could be built, each costing $10,000; or twenty thousand school teachers, good men and college graduates, could be employed at a salary of $1,000; or five thousand farms could be bought, paying $4, 000 for each one of them; or forty thousand young men or women could be kept in college for a whole year, allowing each one of them $500. More than 14,000,000 have lost their lives in the wars of the nineteenth century, and, sad to say, most of these have been slain within the bounds of Christendom.

The Late Rev. Geo Mac- Lennan.

(From Norwood Register, Sept. 15)
On Thursday evening, Sept. 2nd, 1909, the Rev. Geo. A. MacLennan, B. A., of the Presbyterian Church, received a telegram intimating the death that morning of his father, Rev. Geo. MacLennan, Caledonia, P. E. I. The body was taken for interment to the family burying ground, Douglas Hill cemetery, Pinkerton, Ont., the funeral taking place Friday forenoon, Sept. 10th, the services being conducted by the Rev. John MacKinnon, B. D.

The Rev. Geo. MacLennan was born April 8th, 1836 at Bal Craggan, Kirkhill, Ross Shire, Scotland, being the eldest son of Geo. MacLennan and Janet Fraser his wife.
After a short residence in Falkirk in the South of Scotland, the family emigrated in 1842 to Canada taking up residence in Chingacousy Tp., near Norval. Some years afterwards the family removed to Nottawawasaga, his father having taken up land in that township and in the clearance of which the deceased took an active part. When 18 years of age he passed the examination of the County Board at Barrie, Simcoe Co., for a teachers' certificate and for some time taught school in Nottawa. Among the senior pupils of that school were the late John Long of Long Bros. and Capt. Alex. Mac-Dougall of West Superior, the designer of the whale-back type of steamship. While in Nottawa he attended the newly organized Presbyterian Mission in Collingwood and was the first preacher.

In 1857 he entered Knox College, Toronto, as a student for the ministry, graduating in 1864. On the 8th April of that year he was married to Mary Currie, Legmore, Nortawasaga, who predeceased him in 1905.

To them were born seven children all of which are now living: George A., pastor of the Presbyterian church, Norwood; Mary C., wife of Rev. P. A. Walker, B. A., Maissonnue, Que.; Malcolm C., Eastern Manager of the Excelsior Life Assurance Co., Halifax, N. S.; Simon Fraser, professor of Philosophy Oberlin University, Gberlin, Ohio; Janet F., wife of Albert Pinkerton, and Flora A., wife of A. C. McKee, both of Pinkerton, Ont., and Arch H., of Constable, N. Y.

From 1864 to 1875 he was pastor of Knox Church, Harrison, five churches now occupying this field; 1875-1885 pastor of Camlachie; 1885-1900, pastor of Pinkerton; 1900-1904 residing upon his farm in Trafalgar; 1904-1905, pastor of Granville, Vt.; 1906-1909, pastor of Caledonia, P. E. I.

Throughout his long ministry his work was that of a diligent student and untiring pastor and he made for himself many friends and ever commanded the highest respect and confidence of all who knew him.

As a scholar he was careful, accurate and widely read in the literature of his profession. As a linguist he took high rank. In theology and history his knowledge was almost encyclopaedic. As a preacher he was at his best, drawing with facility from the stores which he had gathered as a life-long student.
Although a Gaelic preacher of the highest rank, few, unless acquainted of the fact, would suspect that anything but English was his mother tongue.

A large man physically, mentally and spiritually his powers continued at their best to the last. His wish had ever been that he might die suddenly and in the harness.
This wish was granted. On the Sabbath preceding he preached in Gaelic and English to his people, after service he complained of feeling faint, on Wednesday he was in his garden, on Thursday morning he arose, partially dressed and laid down to rest and ten minutes afterwards was found by his wife dead, as if enjoying a calm and refreshing sleep. "He giveth His beloved sleep."

The funeral service at Caledonia was conducted by his friend the Rev. D. B. MacLeod, M. A., of Orwell, assisted by the neighboring ministers of the Presbytery, who paid tribute to his many excellencies as a minister, a scholar, a friend and father.

Mr. MacLennan married in May, 1907, Miss Annie Nicolson, Valley-field, P. E. I. who during their brief term of their married life, proved a loving and devoted helpmeet. She with his seven children are left not sorrowing but rejoicing that after a long and useful life and ministry he hath entered upon the rest of God's children.
"He being dead yet speaketh."
