Ready Burned.

While Albert Doughty of Nanticoke was engaged last Saturday in repairing the roof of his uncle's house at Chedoke near Hamilton, he met with an accident which might easily have cost him his life. Mr. Doughty had covered the house with steel shingles and while in the act of putting on the ridge piece accidentally touched a piece of the metal he was fitting into place, to one of the live wires of the Hydro Electric Power Co.'s line which runs directly over the house just a few feet above it. As soon as the metal came into contact with the wires 15,000 volts of electricity went through his body into the steel roof. At the time he received the shock he was on his knees on the roof, and the current went out of his body through his knees burning most frightfully his knees and hands. In a semi-conscious condition he rolled off the roof to the ground, a distance of over fifteen feet. Fortunately in falling, he received no injuries more than a bad shaking up and a slightly sprained wrist.

Mr. John Doughty, for whom he was working, drove him hurriedly to Hamilton where Dr. McGillvary attended to the burns and had him removed from his office in an ambulance to the city hospital, where he is getting along nicely. In all probability, he will be about again in a week or ten days.

That he could have received 15,000 volts of electricity and then to have been hurled from the peak of the house to the ground without having been killed instantly seems a miracle.

Hagersville.

Dr. Bone and his bride have returned to town and are busy settling in their new home. They will be at home to their friends after June 1st.

The M. C. R. have had about one hundred men, working on the grounds surrounding the station filling it with earth. They intend transforming the same into a park by planting trees, laying out in flower beds, etc. When completed this will add greatly to the appearance of the town.

George Burke exchanged his property in town for a farm near Scotland and took possession of the same only last week. We are very sorry to hear that his home was destroyed by fire on Monday night together with all their household effects. The family barely escaped with their lives. Cause of fire unknown.

Word was received here on Sunday of the death of Jude Lawson, which occurred at his home in Detroit on Sunday morning last. The family have the sympathy of his many friends here.

Two of our worthy townsmen, Earne Forsythe and George Fox, purchased autos last week. This makes four in town, and some others are thinking of following suit. Hagersville is really looking more like New York every day.
