Canadian Forestry

As short a time ago as the year 1900 the subject of scientific forest protection was practically unknown in Canada but events have moved so rapidly that the announcement that Sir Wilfred Laurier had issued a call for a Dominion Forestry Convention to meet under the auspices of the Canadian Forestry Association in the City of Quebec, Jan. 18-19, 1911; has resulted in such an amount of interest being aroused that it is now practically assured that a great working convention will be the result. As the result of previous conventions and the work of the Canadian Forestry Association, Fish and Game Associations and similar organizations the public mind has been considerably aroused on the question of conservation and the aim of this convention will be to point out practical ways in which this aroused and enlightened public opinion can work to save Canada's forests and all that depend upon them. Upon the maintenance of forests on the non-arable lands about the headwaters of our streams depend upon the evenness of flow, the water powers and the navigation capacities of our rivers. Hence arises the importance of the forests to the manufacturer for his power and to the shipper who uses the waters of rivers and canals for the transportation of freight. Agriculture is badly affected by too close cutting, and much more by the ruthless destruction of our forests. The railways need ties and lumber, the mines the props without which mining cannot be carried on. Cities need power and good water. People need hunting and recreation grounds and health resorts. The tourist travel to a well-forested back country will be an immense trade, bringing millions into Canada when properly developed. These are apart from the first use of the forest—that of providing fuel, logs for the saw mills and the raw material for furniture factories, wagon factories, handle factories, and a hundred other industries.

The Commission of Conservation, of which Hon. Clifford Sifton is Chairman, will meet in the City of Quebec the same week, so that there will be a gathering of experts and administrators to give the statistics and the technical side, while the Forestry Convention will translate these into practical work and show what the people and the governments of Canada should do to save and develop the great asset this country has in her forests.

The names connected with this convention show how the conservation idea is gripping Canadians. His Excellency Earl Grey is Patron of the Canadian Forestry Association, Sir Wilfred Laurier is Honorary President, Senator W. C. Edwards, one of Canada's foremost lumbermen, is President, and Mr. George Y. Chown, of Queen's University, Vice President. The Ministers of Crown Lands in the different provinces are territorial Vice Presidents, as is also the Archbishop of Montreal. Mr. R. L. Borden, M.P., is also one of the directors.

On this board from the province of Quebec are Hon. Sydney Fisher and Messrs. William Little, R. G. Joly de Lotbiniere, E. Stewart, H. M. Price, Ellwood Wilson G. C. Piche, Alex. MacLaurin and Carl Riordon. Ontario is represented by Messrs. Anby White, Deputy Minister of Crown Lands; Hiram Robinson, Thomas Southworth, J. B. Miller, Hon. W. A. Charlton, Gordon C. Edwards, and Dr. R. E. Fernow. Mr. Campbell, Dominion Superintendent of Forestry is a director, as also Mr. W. B. Snowball of New Brunswick; Mr. F. C. Whitman of Nova Scotia and Mr. A. P. Stevenson of Manitoba. It is unnecessary to mention these further. Their names in their several provinces are sufficient. The Secretary, to whom all enquiries may be addressed, is Mr. Joe Lester, Canadian Building, Ottawa.

The Premier of Quebec, Sir Lomer Gouin, and the members of his cabinet are taking the greatest interest in this matter.

Hon. Jules Allard, the Minister of Lands and Forests, is personally looking after the details in conjunction with a committee of the Association in the City of Quebec. The railways have granted special rates, and altogether the meeting in the City of Quebec, Jan. 18-20 promises to be one of the most important ever held in Canada.

Rural Phone Expansion

According to figures given out at the Annual Convention of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association, there are over 500 independent and local telephone companies in Canada. A large number of these comprise the rural phone companies which form a regular net work of phones in many parts of the country. The advantage of the rural phone can hardly be over-estimated. It is cheaply constructed and can be operated by the farmers themselves through their local companies. The next five years should show an equal growth, if not wider, expansion. There are many parts of the country that have not the blessing of a rural phone. As its value to the farmer becomes known these uncovered portions will organize companies, and only a few years should elapse before every farm house has a rural phone. Like the city man, the farmer who once install a phone will never do without it. It becomes part of his very life, and he will sacrifice other things before consenting to part with the phone. Recent legislation in Ontario and elsewhere makes it possible for the rural phone to obtain connection with the big trunk lines, thus making its value much greater. At the convention, the advisability of having the government take over the trunk lines was considered. This will probably come in time, and should add greatly to the advantage of the local phone.

Women's Institutes

Of all the conventions held a few weeks ago in Toronto none were more important, no other indeed equalled in importance, that made up of delegates from the various local Women's Institutes which now pretty well cover rural Ontario. The convention was important in point of numbers; it commanded attention by the high level of the addresses delivered thereat; but its chief interest lay in the object behind it all. The object is the improvement of the home; and the home in the state. We may increase the returns of the field, the tree and the vine; we may improve the facilities for transporting these products to the ends of the earth; we may widen the markets for our products. But all will be in vain if the home is not right; and as the visitor from North Carolina well said, the man never lived who can make a home. That is the work of the woman; and the women who came to Toronto last week from the concession lines of the Province showed that they are fully alive to the duty resting upon them. The Women's Institutes which are stimulating, encouraging and directing the work of improved home-making are deserving of every possible encouragement. And Supt. Putnam is entitled to no little praise for his effective efforts towards organizing the forces now at work.

Falling Hair

Mrs. James Harris of Wappella, Sask., says:—

"I have found Parisian Sage to be the best scalp and hair tonic and dressing I have ever used. My hair has been coming out in comb full and was very dry and brittle and the scalp was always itching and full of dandruff. I have used two bottles of Parisian Sage and it has stopped my hair from falling, the itching and dandruff have disappeared and my hair is fine and soft and glossy, I would not be without this fine Hair Tonic for many times the price.

For men, women or children Parisian Sage is without any doubt the finest preparation for the hair. Daintily perfumed it is free from grease or stickiness and ought to be where every member of the family could use it daily. Large bottle 50 cents at all druggists or from the proprietors, the Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont., postpaid. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package of Parisian Sage. Sold and guaranteed by T. E. Morow.

The Night Street Habit

An exchange says that the devil's school is the night school, where not only boys, but girls, learn the first lessons in vice and immorality. It is dangerous for boys to be allowed to roam the streets late at night, but that practice is ruin for girls. While it invariably takes the delicate edge of maidenly modesty, it happens that very speedily if there is any modesty left it is not maidenly. Ruin more or less complete is sure to follow. The term "street walker" is a term of reproach, but if it does not apply to every girl who frequents the streets at night without escort in the vast majority of cases if the habit is persisted in, it is not long before the term will apply in its offensive sense.
