Argentine Republic, which is only two-thirds the size of our farming belt, with only two-thirds our population, thrives 67,211,000 sheep, or twenty-six times our number.

Most one suggests that these may be especially sheep-raising countries, please note that Germany had two cattle and two hogs for every sheep; that Great Britain carries on all branches of farming in balanced proportions; and that in the Argentine there were five cattle for every inhabitant, while Canada had scarcely one!

It seems then absolutely certain that Canada could carry at least 60,000,000 sheep without lessening her other farming activities in the least, provided our soil and climate would give the sheep a fair show.
