of having taken from the store and post office of Hagersville on the night of Dec. 26th a coon skin coat, also a fur-lined coat and a quantity of cash. Stirling was sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary besides having to return the missing coat (as the open-shin coat was recovered at the time of his arrest) or the equivalent in cash and also all monies taken from the till. This case shows a very clever piece of detective work and we are pleased that Mr. Hager will support his loss. The hockey match on Thursday evening last between Danville and Hagersville proved rather interesting but far from being satisfactory. It was quite evident that the visiting team had come with the intention of playing to win, which they did by claiming several false goals, but as our home team wished to live to the end of the league games, when they found simple reasoning wouldn't do, took the quickest way out of it and entered a protest, the results of which we will learn later. Adaptation the Record.
