LESSON IX.-FEB. 27, 1910. False and True Discipleship.--Matt. "F: 13-29,

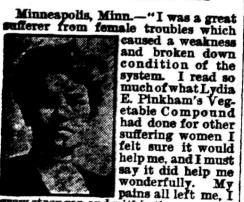

Commentary.-I. Two ways (vs. 13, 14). 13. Enter ye-Effort is required to attain the character that pleases God. Luke says, "Strive to enter in"-agonize. put forth every effort. Strait gate— "Narrow"—R. V. It is called a narrow gate for it is the only one that leads to life. It is the way of humility, repentance, confession and faith. None can enter in who still eling to their sins. Wide is the gate, and broad is the way-The contrast is clear. The gate and the way of sin are broad. The wide gate accommodates all who sin, whatever the nature and degree of their sins. It is open to receive those who are unwilling to meet the conditions of entrance into the strait gate. Leadeth to destruction -The way is not safe, although it is roomy or attractive. The broad way leads to destruction, and this destruction includes the loss of true happiness here and eternal death. Even in this life the result of sin may involve the ruin of health, of fortune and of friendship. The end of sin is destruction. Many ... go in thereat-No effort is required to enter the wide gate. One enters it unless he makes the effort requisite to find and enter the narrow way. 14. Leadeth unto life. The spiritual life, which is the true life, and eternal life. Few-They are few, not because more cannot be admitted, for there is room for all, but because few are willing to accept of Christ's way. Find it-No one enters who does not make an effort to find it. The wide gate is easily accessible, but the narrow way must be sought. II. Two characters (vs. 15-20). 15.

Beware of false prophets-In ancient times, as well as modern, men have arisen falsely pretending to possess the gift of prophecy. Jesus warns His hearers against them, for their teachings would be opposed to the truth, and destructive of true religion. In sheep's elothing-Their garb and manner gave them the appearance of prophets. Inwardly—The outward appearance was widely different from the inward condition. Ravening woives—In sharp contrast to the pious profession. These false teachers are greedy for place, power or money." It is when "the devil is dressed in his Sunday best," not when he comes out, with horns, tail and hoofs in sight, that you must look out for mischief.—H. C. Trumbull. A false profession is sure to be unmasked sooner or later. 16. Know them by their fruits The verb means to recognize, to know fully. The character of the life declares the condition of the moral nature. Grapes of thorns-The nature of the plant invariably determines the nature of the fruit, and the Good tree. . . corrupt tree As every tree brings forth after its kind, so every man acts according to his prevailing disposi-

19.—Hewn down—To this day in the East trees are valued only so far as they produce fruit.—Cam. Bib. Cast into the fire-Fire is the symbol of utter destruction. As the tree is burned, so the soul that bears no fruit for God ity, their great gifts, their employment is destroyed. Such a soul cannot be restored; the destruction is inevitable their devotion to the cause, while at and final. 20. Wherefore A conclusion heart they are not right with God and is reached. By their fruits ye shall know at the last great day wi den's characters are not to be judged by detached doings, but by the general tenor of their lives. Jacobus. Good men are liable to make mistakes, but are glad to reretify them. Bad men perform acts that appear good. It is the moral tendency of the life that in-dicates character. "The infallible test of religious profession and teaching is their practical results in the lives of those who receive them. The answer to eulogists of Buddhism and Confusianism is India and China. The answer to the papal claim of infallibility is Spain and Italy. The answer to the eulogists of atheism is Paris, during the Revolution and under the Commune."-Abbott. III. Not every one that saith, Lord, Lord-Two professions, the false and the true, are here implied. To say "Lord" indicated that Jesus was accepted as Master. Some were sincere and others stopped with a mere profession of being disciples of Jesus. When Christianity becomes popular in a community many are tempted to take upon themselves a profession of religion in order to be with the majority. Profession does not determine character, yet a holy character is openly manifested. Enter the kingdom-Have a part in Christ's spiritual kingdom-be numbered among those in whom Christ lives and reigns. He that doeth-Profession alone does not save, no matter how correct one may be in his creed. It is the doing of God's will that determines one's standing before him. The Lord through his word, through the conscience and by his Spirit makes known to us what his will is. My Father who is in heaven (R. V.)-Jesus speaks of God as his Father in a most emphatic way, and shows how affectionate is the relation. 22. Many-Not merely an occasional one, but the number will be astonishingly large. In that day-The judgment day. The day when the final accounts shall be brought in, and when each shall receive his just desert. See Acts 17: 31; Rom. 14: 10; 2 Cor. 5: 10. Prophesied-As the whole gospel is a real prophecy, foretelling the vast future of the human race—death, judgment and eternity so every preacher is a prophet. Here then are preachers who plead their ministry in vain in that day.-Whedon. fruit declares the kind of plant. 17, 18. See Paul's definition in 1 Cor. 14: 3. Cast out devils-Through their preaching souls had been converted and devils had actually been cast out of men's hearts. Wonderful works-The Greek word here is also translated miracles.

23. I never knew you—As my disciples. From this we see how easy it is to be deceived. Many are trusting in the church, their good name, their generosin the ministry, their self-sacrifice or left hand. They are destitute of the love of God, which is the all-essent a Suffer for the Cor. 13: 1-3). Depart from me Such ARRIVE Marks to PE-RUR. belong on the left hand—consigned to the regions of darkness and despair. Those who are Christ's should make the profession openly. There is a true procession of solvation, notwithstanding the act of the false.

IV. Two foundations (vs. 24-29). 24. heareth these sayings ... doeth them—
At this point Jesus further explains and emphasizes the difference between the genuine and the false in religion. Multitudes hear the gospel and know its re-quirements but only here and there one meets the obligations it imposes. wise man—One who is prudent, and puts his knowledge to the best use. which built his house. The figure was simple and impressive to those who lived in a country subject to sudden and disastrous freshets. To guard against loss, the wise builder was careful to construct his house upon a rock foundation. Each man possesses a house which is his absolutely, and for which he alone is responsible. Notice: "1. Ail men are building. 2. All builders have a choice of foundations. 3. All foundations will be tried. 4. Only one foundation will stand." —Parker. upon a rock—Our rock is Jesus Christ (Psa. 118:22; Isa. 28:16; 1 Cor. 3:11). He is the sure foundation. As we centre our faith in him, and As we centre our faith in him, and build according to the maxims which he Little Boy's Battle For Life in draw from this figure is that a changed heart is essential to a correct and Christ-like outward life. No amount of clusters of grapes tied to the branches of a thorn-bush will make a grapevine of it. An outward profession does not constitute one a Christian."

The word of God (v. 24) is a revelation of the will of God. The strongest characters are built on obedience to the word of God. Look at the fourteen in the faith chapter an . see how this was emphatically true of them (Heb. 11). The condition of discipleship Jesus gives is, "If ye continue in my word" (John 8: 31). To the woman who accounted Mary, the mother, as blessed above all women, he said, "Yea, rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God and keep it" (Luke 11: 28). A tribulation promise is, "Because those hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee" (Rev. 3: 10). And a last word of the book is, "Blessed are they that do his commandements" (Rev. 22: 14). The words of Jesus even in his agony were, "Thy will be done" (Matt 26: 42). His nearest of kin do his Father's will (Matt. 12: 50). To such he will not say, "I never knew you" (v. 23). He will say, "I know thy works" (Rev. 2: 2, 3). We are told, "If thine eye be single" to do, "thy whole body shall be full of light" to know. "If any man will do, he shall know" (John 7: 17). The will of God is revealed in his word. Many things are specially revealed: 1. Salvation (John I: 13; James 1: 18; Matt. 18: 14; 2 Peter 3: 9). 2. Sanctification (Heb. 10: 10; I. Thess. 4: 3-7; 5: 23, 24). 3. Rejoicing (I. Thess. 5: 16-18; Eph. 5: 18, 20). 4. Suffering (1. Peter 3: 17; 4: 19). 5. Well-doing (1 Peter 2: 15, 16; Heb. 13: 21). The French monk, St. Cyran, was warned that if he continued his fidelity to Christ his life would pay the penalty. His reply is one of the noblest of the ages: "Sir, it is not necessary that I live; but it s necessary that I do the will of God." In the East peasant huts are built of mud or sunburnt brick. A night of hard rain will sometimes almost demoiish an entire village. Their mountain streams are peculiar. In summer they are entirely dry and afford the best pasture. In the rainy season they are swollen streams. A gentleman travelling in Palestine pitched his tent in one of these wadies. The night was fair, the air clear, the torrent bed dry, the grass green and soft. Suddenly he was wakened by gurgling water. Before he was dressed it was a foot high beneath his bed. He escaped with difficulty. His clothing, books and manuscripts were carried off by the stream. Rain in the mountains had in a few hours filled the dry bed with a roaring torrent. So when stormy experiences of temptation come, they that build on the sand fall. The only safety is to build on the Rock. If you build on wealth, it will take to itself wings and fly. If you build on reputation, one contemptible whisper can blow it away. If you build on friendship, when you need it most it may fail you. If you build on good resolutions, they will be swept away. But if you build on Christ, neither fierce winds nor flooding streams can move you. A Christian woman lay dying. One who loved her went to see her, and asked, "How are you now? Is all well?" "I'm on the Rock," was her one answer. It was the only thing she said, and the next day she fell asleep. A. C. M.

Detachment Making Good Progress Through the Snow.

Men and Horses Spent Night in the Open.

Kingston despatch: After leaving the local barracks yesterday, the R.C. H.A. detachment succeeded in making fourteen miles, in spite of the heavy condition of the roads and the big snowdrifts they could not possibly avoid. The battery went into action and continued manoeuvering until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, driving back from the city of Kingston a large force of imaginary enemies, and forcing them to take refuge in the vicinity of Ottawa. The work of the men and horses fully came up to the standard of the director of operations, Sir Percy Lake, and at the end of a long, heavy march and sev- $14 to $15 a ton. eral hours of severe action in a rough country, the battery passed from the Portland road into the shelter of a immense timber tract in open field action. Men, officers and horses stood the march and cold well, and all went into camp in the jolliest possible spirits. A slight accident, which broke wo poles of the limbers of the gunsleighs, was the only incident of the march, and the efficient supply officer, Captain Hamilton, had two new poles awaiting the batteriss at Murvale as they came into camp. The men and horses were quartered out in the open, without any cover whatever, as originally intended. The horses were picketed along the fringe contains where they got good the woods, where they got good the fringe canier. The land the winds winds canier. Show hard an aligne long. They were double blanketed and fed within ten minutes after they were in the lines. The men were given five blankets and two rubber sheets and they rolled themselves up in these and slept as only hardy soldiers can sleep on a camp or battle-ground. At 6 T o'clock supper was served to men and officers, all partaking of the con-tents of one pot of good old Irish stew, and they certainly swallowed it P with a relish. After supper immense O bonfires were kindled, and all gathered around these and made the sur- Ca rounding woods ring with their songs and chorus and shouts of merry laughter. Everybody was brimming over with good humor, and putting forth efforts to make the undertaking as pleasant as possible, and they succeeded. A heavy picket and guard were thrown out, and these were given liberal supplies of hot tea and coffee during the whole of the night. At 12 o'clock General Lake inspected the I have not-used it since, nor have I felt lines, and was satisfied with the conditions.

There was no lights-out sounded last night, the boys kept the light of their many fires going all night until the lurid glare of the big primitive grates, well filled with dry cedar, cast their chromatic colors across the sky and lit up the dark background of heavy and threatening clouds. During the long night, rain, hail and sleet Laporte, Pa., Feb. 21.—Ten-year-old times blew a perfect hurricane. All fell freely for hours, and the wind at nestled in under the numerous juniper bushes and fir trees, could be seen could have sought shelter better than the artillerymen did last night, and they woke up fresh and rested, declaring they had slept well. A few preferred sitting by the fireside and telling yarns of camp life in the Imperial army, out in the Yukon, or on the veldt of South Africa. The morning bugle sounded veille at 6.30, the stables at 6.40, and breakfast at 7.30, which consisted plenty of good bread, tea and coffee, with boiled ham and bacon. High Prices of Meat Result in an Extension of This Business.

Geneva, Feb. 21—Owing to the centin-uous rise in price of meat in recent years the demand for horseflesh has increased in proportion among the working and poorer classes. Ten years ago in Swiss towns there were one or two horseflesh butcher shops, but now the sale of horseflesh is a recognized business. It is not bought solely to feed dogs and cats, but also poor families. In Geneva, Zurich, Busel and St. Gall there are at present between six and a dozen horse-flesh butchers, who are doing a good business, meat having risen in price 40 per cent. during the last 12 years.

A Geneva deputy said yesterday: "if tariff reform, as you call it, which means taxation on everything, ever comes into force in England, and the people find that year by year the price of food increases, they will make short work of any tariff reform government. Free trade has built up England's greatness; let her not wantonly throw away her proud position."
