Interesting Proceedings at The House of Refuge on Tuesday, June 28th.

(From The Dunnville Chronicle)

Every municipality in the County was represented in the large gathering, showing that there is a strong heart interest in every municipality for the welfare of all the people. As long as this feeling prevails we shall never be charged with lack of appreciation of our duty or its fulfillment.

The Dunnville Band was in attendance and entertained the proceedings with a fine program of musical selections.

In addition to the speakers, the east balcony was seated with all the notables of the County who were able to be present. Among those who were forced to send their regrets were Jacob Kohler, M.P.P., and Thos. Marshall.

F. R. Lalor, M.P., was the chairman of the afternoon, and discharged his duties in the most able manner, keeping the crowd in good humor. As an introductory he remarked that it was a pleasant duty to act as chairman of this gathering. Though he had occupied a similar position on many other occasions, he had never done so with so much pleasure as in presiding over the opening of this splendid House of Refuge, in which we all feel such pride and interest. The large crowd present shows the interest taken in the home for the aged and poor.

He was glad to say to the Warden and County Council of 1910 that their predecessors, that he was proud of their efforts. When he was in the County Council he advocated a home, but could not get a majority behind him. Time rolled around, and he was glad to know that to-day we in our prosperity do not forget the aged and infirm. He realized that the County Council had a task in settling the question on account of the difference of opinions as to the site. All had good points to advocate in support of their respective claims. The argument that the home should be near the other County buildings he always thought was the strongest claim. However, Dunnville was finally selected, and he sincerely hoped the wisdom of the powers that be will never be questioned. We should feel proud any way that at least we have taken action. The Provincial Government of a few years ago had adopted a law that all counties must provide these homes. We who live in comfort and luxury should obey the law—it is only our duty. The opening today reflects credit not only on the County Council, but on the people who put up the money to provide the poor with comfortable homes. The argument had been advanced that we have not many poor here, in his experience he thought there were many who had perhaps made mistakes in early life and could not provide for old age. He was glad to know that Dunnville was carrying out its pledges, and giving everything it promised should the building be located here. In closing he bespoke the active co-operation of the Ministers and church members, by visiting the House of Refuge, and otherwise making the place as homelike as possible for the inmates.

Mayor Bennett expressed pleasure at meeting with such a large and enthusiastic gathering. He extended a cordial welcome and the freedom of the town to the County Council and other visitors. As to Dunnville's promises, the site for the building had been decided over, the water-works line was being extended, which would also afford fire protection; and the sewer system main was being laid. He assured the audience that all our promises would be fulfilled to the letter. He closed with a few timely remarks along the line of the duty of all christian communities to look after its poor.

Dr. Bruce Smith said it was the first time he ever had the privilege of seeing Dunnville. He had heard of its beauties, but had never been here. Having come, he was very much pleased with its appearance. He was glad all the difficulties over the building were over, and that the choice of location was a good one. He had inspected every part of the building today, and loud applause greeted his announcement that it compares favorably with any House of Refuge in Ontario—perhaps not as costly, but as large as some, but it would meet Haldimand's requirements for years to come. The plan of the building is excellent, and it is well constructed. Referring to the uncertainties of life and the need of a home, he gave a true illustration. Last year while visiting a county home in the province, he remarked to an inmate that it was well built in the first place. The inmate replied: "I am glad to hear you say so, because I was chairman of the County Council committee under whose supervision it was built." It is an evidence of christian philanthropy that in every county west of Toronto but one we now have homes for the poor, whose care cannot be too good. For that reason we should endeavor to have our Homes such that we can look upon them with pleasure, and the farms well cultivated, etc. These inmates are human beings and worthy of charity, and providing them a home makes them feel that they are not cut off from the world. He was glad that the same kindly feeling would continue toward the institution.

Mr. Lalor remarked that one criticism of Dunnville was that the town was unhealthy. As an answer he might say that he saw in the audience a dear old Irish lady (Mrs. Kenny) who was one hundred years old last birthday.

J. A. Ross, M.P.P., said he had carefully inspected the House, and found it a fine modern up-to-date building. The County Council, he thought were doing better work than the Legislature, because they were in close touch with the people, were directly responsible to the people, and they do all the local technical work. They built this Home, and he hoped they would maintain it as a credit to the County, not sparing expense to make it sanitary and comfortable. For all this they were able to pay. There is no doubt the Homes are the proper thing. There are hundreds today—feeble old people, whose minds are deranged to a certain extent, who are dumped into asylums when they should be in Houses of Refuge. There are some who think the townships should take care of the poor, but the County is better able—and can do it better for less money. The need for a House is imperative. A man may be prosperous in his younger days—wealth may come his way—but as the years slip by he may find himself in a position where he is even without a home. The old age of the unfortunate knows no comfort, and there is little in this world for those who are old and poor. It is a sad and a question of looking after them, there is not a spark of manhood in a man who counts the cost. He congratulated the representatives of the County on smoking the pipe of peace, and that all were satisfied with the site chosen. They should be, surrounded as it is by natural resources, a fine agricultural country, good soil, thrifty farmers and unusual natural advantages.

Warden Avery, reeve of Caledonia, stated that he had visited other Houses of Refuge, and was filled with admiration at the way they were conducted, and at the comfortable homes provided for the poor. He was proud to return home and report favorably on the proposition to bury the hatchet and build at once a Haldimand home, where the poor could receive the best care from the humane citizenship of the county.

J. J. Parsons, reeve of Walpole, and chairman of the finance committee, felt sure that our future record would be better than the past as regards taking care of the poor. After considerable discussion last year it was voted that this Home be built. After the resolution passed the County, all differences of opinion ceased, and all joined in and worked amicably. That spirit prevails today, and all realize that the care of the poor is a most important thing.

L. Werner was then called upon, and gave the early history from the Dunnville point of view of the House of Refuge movement.

J. H. Senn of York, ex-County Councilor for Onondia, said that for 25 years he had seen the cold hand of charity in many municipalities, and he thought that struck him as he went through the corridors of the building and saw the comfortable beds, and other arrangements for the home life of the inmates, what a change had taken place. The conditions were humane and christian-like. He was glad to see so happy a consummation. He also thought the location of the building here was a wise choice, because it would save traveling expenses—there were no poor in the west end—they were all down here in the east end.

T. J. Snider of Cayuga, County Clerk, said that while the House of Refuge question had been a matter of discussion for years—sometimes dead, sometimes very much alive—the severe opinions were all honest, and every claimant fought for what was considered the best interests of the county. He was glad to say there were no insurgents now.

Brief speeches were also made by David Hastings, editor of the Gazette, W. A. Fry, editor of the Chronicle, Dunnville, W. H. Fry, reeve of Pelham, A. E. Burritt, reeve of Gainsboro, County Councillors Wm. Bain, reeve of South Cayuga, T. E. Cline, reeve of Cayuga, Roland Secord, reeve of Dunn, C. J. Smelser, reeve of Rainham, David Young, reeve of Seneca, Robert Smith, reeve of Jarvis, Albert Shaver, reeve of Canboro, Robert Anderson, reeve of Onondia, Wm. W. Walton, reeve of North Cayuga, Robert Robertson, reeve of Hagersville, Wm. MacQuillen, reeve of Moulton, Julius Root, reeve of Sherbrooke, Henry Pyle, reeve of Dunnville, W. D. Houston, deputy reeve of Walpole; also D. Dille, ex-reeve of Seneca, and N. H. Wickett of York.

Chairman MacQuillen of the reception committee thanked all for their presence, and the sympathy and interest manifested in the House of Refuge movement. He invited all to visit the home, the reception day being Wednesday of every week, from 9 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. "In all my experience in connection with the opening of House of Refuge in the Province of Ontario, I have never seen so large and fine a crowd, and such a display of enthusiasm as is in evidence here to-day!"

Such were the words of Dr. Bruce Smith of Toronto, Provincial Inspector of Public Institutions, in an interview with a Chronicle reporter.

Certainly the County Council must have felt pride in the response that was made to their invitations to be present. The day was all that could be desired. A rainfall the afternoon before cooled the air, and with a clear sky the outing was much enjoyed.

Prior to the speech making the crowd went through the building, and the universal verdict was that it was ideal in every respect. The rooms are well ventilated and well lighted, and every sanitary convenience is included in the equipment. The furnishings are not cheap, but good and substantial, and on every hand was evidence that the building committee and the furnishings committee had spent their money wisely and well, getting the best value in return.

Gas Ring

For heating the house during chilly spring and autumn days

You can have the GAS RING Attachment with the Sunshine furnace. This is a recent McClary invention—and a very desirable convenience.

After you let out the furnace in the spring, and in the early autumn before the winter's coal supply is ordered, there are often chilly days when some warmth from the furnace is desirable. Then the GAS RING is appreciated. Just light it for an hour or two and the house will be comfortable.

Unlike a gas log, the GAS RING does not require removing or the gas pipe disconnected. Instead, it's a permanent feature. It simply takes the place of the lower section of the fire-pot.

The GAS RING is always ready for use. It cannot be clogged up with dust or ash. It's very economical. If your coal fire should go out you can easily start it going again by lighting the GAS RING.

If our agent cannot give you complete information about the GAS RING write direct to us.

Peter E. Stansbury relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay in bed in utter exhaustion and could do nothing. I became very nervous and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody was looking at me and my nerves were all on edge. I had a headache, my eyes were shaky, my ears were ringing, my appetite was gone, my memory poor, etc. I was in the hospital for several months. I had been treated by several doctors, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, through a friend who had been cured. I commenced the NEW METHOD TREATMENT and it cured my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have seen them many patients and continue to do so."
