Much Esteemed Pastor Leaves.

REV. H. J. HARNWELL, the much loved and popular pastor of the Methodist church, left yesterday (Tuesday) for his new charge in Port Colborne.

Mr. Harnwell spent three years laboring among the people of Jarvis and Garnet where he has been most successful.

In March, 1909 he held revival services in Garnet and was assisted by Miss Nancekiell of Woodstock, when many professed conversion and joined the church at Garnet. Again, in January of this year, he was assisted in special services by the same revivalist in Jarvis with success and several members were added to the church.

In the summer of 1909, on account of delicate health, he spent two months in the old land, visiting the different countries of Europe, returning much benefited by his journey.

A great many of the aged—of the community have been laid in their last resting place during his stay here. Rev. Harnwell was a cheerful visitor among the sick and a host in himself as an entertainer.

About two weeks before Conference a deputation from Port Colborne was sent to Jarvis and, "unknown to Mr. Harnwell or anyone, attended service on that Sunday evening and was so favorably impressed with the sermon delivered that at Conference the deputation laid the same before the stationing committee asking that Mr. Harnwell be sent to that place.

During his pastorate on Jarvis circuit he endeared himself to all with whom he was associated, not only among his own people, but among the friends of the other churches, by his gentleness, kindness and thoughtfulness for others.

Mrs. Harnwell, his estimable wife, was President of the W. M. S. and always ready to help along any work in connection with the church. A kind hostess and sympathetic friend, and in leaving, Jarvis loses true Christians and good citizens.

We trust that in the church with whom they will be connected for the next few years their lives will be cast in pleasant places among true and lasting friends.

The W.M.S., of which Mrs. Harnwell was President, made her a life member, and in leaving presented her with an autograph quilt.

On Sunday evening Mr. Harnwell preached his farewell sermon from 1 Cor. 3:9. "We are laborers together with God," to a large and appreciative audience.

Rev. Mr. Eddy, the new pastor of the church, with his family are expected to arrive in Jarvis to-morrow (Thursday). We welcome the rev. gentleman and family to Jarvis.

We are adding new samples to our special bargain in wall paper. You are not too late to have that room papered with a good quality of paper at a small cost. —Jarvis Drug Store.

We are pleased to state that Miss Maude Parkinson has been successful in passing the Senior singing examination of the University of Toronto, she having obtained honors.

Arrangements have been made to hold the annual picnic of the Sunday schools of Jarvis at Port Dover on Thursday, July 21st. Particulars regarding the train service will be given later.

The annual reports of the University of Toronto were announced recently, and Miss Margaret Smith passed her senior piano, and Miss Katie Ross, Nanticoke, her junior theory with first class honors, both are pupils of Miss Evelyn Sowler.

The Masonic Memorial Service at St. Paul's Church on Sunday afternoon was a very hearty one. About sixty members of King Solomon Lodge and visiting brethren were in the front seats. The choir tendered the hymns very efficiently amongst these being Tenyson's "Crossing the bar." Bro. the Rev. Canon Belt preached taking for his text St. Luke xxiv 36, "and Jesus himself stood in the midst of them." It was a strong plea for making Jesus Christ the great centre of every life.

"COURTSHIP."

A Sketch of the Sermon preached in Knox Church, by Rev. D. M. Buchanan on Sunday Evening, June 19th.

Mr. Buchanan took "Courtship" as his sixth subject in his series of sermons "From the Cradle to the Grave." His text was Solomon's Song, 2:10 "My beloved spake and said unto me, rise up my love, my fair one, and come away."

Courtship is the blending of two hearts into one by the strongest passion of the human breast—"need I tell that passion's name?" It is to be distinguished from the mere friendly associations of the young ladies and gentlemen in that it is a preparatory step to marriage. Courtship and marriage are such important eras in one's life, and on them hang such momentous results for the weal or woe of human lives, that the pulpit and platform should deal with such subjects far more frequently and with far more freedom than they do at present. Our young people are left far too much to misty fate and blind chance to steer themselves through these very important crises in their lives. They need wise and helpful counsel and should get it. Parents should train their children, so that in the mind of their boys a proper ideal of what a true and good wife is, should be formed, and that their girls should know the sort of a man that would make a good and suitable husband. The parents part is not direct interference with the choice their sons or daughters make in their selection of their partner-in-life, but, they should educate their children's judgment, so that, when the time comes for choosing a partner-in-life, they will do so themselves with all due caution and intelligence. Choosing one's partner for life is decidedly the part of the individual concerned, and interference by parent or any one else can only be tolerated when a huge mistake is being made.

In the first place, let me give the young people a few words of counsel. I would say to every young man and woman keep both of your eyes open while wooing a partner for life. Remember that, if God spares you, you have a long journey to travel together and there will come many trials and testing times in your married life. To many are blinded by infatuation. Court with your head as well as your heart. Don't leave till after the wedding day to find out all your partner's faults, but see them now, and only wed when you can love and esteem your partner in spite of these faults. Remember that you are choosing your life's companion and that that companion will have a great deal to do in determining your future success and happiness. Avoid flirtation for it produces fickleness and lowers the tone of one's self respect. It is unjust and unkind, particularly to the young ladies and has been the cause of many a broken heart and blighted life. Don't permit yourself ever to become so infatuated that you shall lose the common sense you are naturally expected to exercise under such circumstances. Make no engagements that you are not reasonably certain to fulfil. This applies to minor engagements, but more particularly to the engagement to marry. No couple should enter into the solemn engagement to marry until they are well acquainted with each other. Hasty engagements have often caused trouble and disappointment.

My text indicates the two essentials for a true and happy courtship—namely love and personal esteem. There can be no true courtship where these two are lacking. "My love, my fair one" should be the expression of the heart as well as the lips. Love—that mysterious emotion that poets have sung about and have tried in vain to describe—that complex passion that philosophers have failed to analyze is the wonderful bond that binds human hearts together so that they will toil and suffer and, if need be, die for each other. Personal esteem is essential to give continuity to love.

The qualities that a young man esteems most in a young woman are: beauty, neatness of dress, culture, modesty, and above all virtue and a sweet disposition. It should be the ambition of every young woman to cultivate these qualities for they combine to make a true and noble womanhood. The most comely woman can be beautiful in the true sense of the term. Tidiness, neatness, and even stylishness in dress, according to your means, are things you cannot discard except to your loss. I believe in stylishness according to one's means. I don't believe God designed that women should be dressed in the monotony of one pattern. What a variety of flowers God has beautified this world with. On the vast prairies I have been surprised to find flowers in great variety—beautiful little flowers never planted by the hand of man. God thus gratifies our taste for the beautiful. He has made woman beautiful and it is a fitting thing to cultivate and manifest that beauty in a becoming neatness and stylishness of dress. But do not set your heart on outward trimmings and show.

"For oh, if perchance there might be a sphere, Where all is made right that so puzzles us here;

Where the glare, and the glitter, and the tinsel of time, Fade and die in the light of that region sublime;

Where the soul, disenchanted of flesh and of sense, Unscathed by its trappings of show and pretence;

Must be clothed for the life and the service above, With parity, truth, faith, meekness and love;

Oh Daughters of Earth, fair virgins beware, Lost in that upper realm you have nothing to wear."

Culture of all kinds you should seek to embrace for, after the bloom has left your cheek and the buoyancy of youth have gone, true culture will add material to the charm of your home life. But be careful above all things of your character and disposition. No young woman can afford to be sour. If it is your hope some day to be a rose, shedding forth its fragrance in some young man's home, be the rosebud now in your father's home.

The qualities that a young woman admires most in a young man are unmanliness and frugality. A woman, being of the weaker sex, naturally looks for someone on whom to lean. She wants not an effeminate, small souled creature but a MAN. Therefore, young man, cultivate true manliness and don't be mean. Remember when you invite a young lady to leave her parents home to join her life with yours that you are asking one who wants a home, therefore be frugal. A woman instinctively despises a foolish, spendthrift, weakling. Therefore avoid everything that would tend to destroy your manhood or would produce demoralizing habits.

But I want to tell you to-night of a greater wooer than any earthly courtier, Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the world, is seeking for you. He loves and esteems you. "For God commendeth his love to us in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us." "He seeks to gain your affection by His self denying life for you; by His earnest solicitations to come to Him; by His promise of a home of rest and joy. He has esteemed you so highly that he has purchased you by His own precious blood. "He gave his life a ransom for us." Will that love and esteem be mutual? Will you love Him with all your heart? Will you esteem Him as the chiefest among ten thousand the one altogether lovely? Mutual love between Christ and you will be the eternal marital tie that will bind you to Him for ever, so that "neither death nor life nor any other thing can separate you from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus, our Lord." Mutual esteem will raise you to a devoted and self denying service for Him. Do you love and esteem Him to-night? If you are bound to Him by these unbreakable bonds, you will find that, though earthly friends may fail and prove untrue, He will never, and you will find also that, when the last hour of life will come, and you fall asleep in the cold embrace of death, and part with earthly scenes, you will hear His voice from the Eternal shore saying: "Rise up, my love, my fair one, and come away."

Missionary Picnic.

The Missionary Picnic arranged for by the A. Y. P. A. of Nanticoke, Sandusk and Broadway in Evan's Grove, Nanticoke, yesterday, was a great success.

The hayting prevented many from coming, but the attendance was very good, and a fine programme of missionary addresses was given. The proceedings opened with the midday Intercession and was followed by a picnic lunch. At 2:30 the afternoon proceedings were begun with a hymn and prayers for missions taken by Canon Belt. Mr. Wm. Wicken, President of the Nanticoke A. Y. P. A. was in the chair, and presided with great efficiency.

Addresses were given by Mr. Kirwan Martin, M. A., Hamilton, Chancellor of the Diocese of Niagara, on the "Laymen's Missionary Movement." A very interesting address was then given by Mrs. Jones who is leaving for China to labor as one of the Missionaries under Bishop White in the Diocese of Honan. Canon Howitt's earnest call for more help for the Conversion of the Jews was listened to very intently. There came addresses from Rev. S. Daw, of St. John's church, Hamilton, on Foreign Missions, Rev. R. F. Ferguson, M. A., of Hagersville, Canon Belt, M. A., Jarvis, and Ven. Archdeacon Clark M. A., Secretary Treasurer of the Synod of Niagara. The Archdeacon spoke at some length on the Diocesan work and in an earnest and inspiring way commended the congregations for what they had done and urged them to still greater efforts. Several of the speakers congratulated the Rev. H. J. Leake, M. A., the incumbent, and the parish on the splendid showing of the parish in the list of contributors to the Missionary and Diocesan opportunities. The congregations of Nanticoke and Cheapside are the only country congregations in the Diocese to give more than their apportionment on both funds. This distinction is one of which they and their clergyman may well be proud.

A meeting of the Directors of the Public Library was held in the Temperance Hall on Wednesday evening, June 15th at which meeting W. Machell was appointed collector of membership fees for 1910. The citizens of Jarvis are asked to be liberal in their subscriptions to the Library in order that some new books may be purchased this year.
