

THE RIGHT HOUSE

Hamilton's Favorite Shopping Place.

An Open Letter to The Women of Jarvis.

DEAR MADAM:—

SUMMER wearing apparel at The Right House is now marked at smaller prices than has been the case at the end of June in a number of years.

THERE IS A STRONG REASON WHY

June 1910, will go down on the weather sharp's records as one of the most stubbornly cold months of a life time, and on the records of the makers of summer apparel for women, as one of the most disastrous, outside of panic times, in their history.

THIS ALL MEANS MONEY TO YOU

The celebrated makers of Wash Suits, Blouses, Wash Fabrics, Wash Skirts, Summer Hosiery, Summer Underwear, etc., waited and hoped during early June for warm weather. They sustained prices for quite a time and then suddenly when orders failed to come in, dropped prices to such extensive buyers as The Right House.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PROFIT—NOW ASSORTMENTS ARE COMPLETE—AND NOW IS "NEEDTIME"

The most beautiful collection of stylish guaranteed Wash Suits that we have ever had the pleasure of displaying on our second floor, is now marked at only $4.95, $7.50 and $8.00—all being actually worth from $8.00 to $15.00.
Beautiful summer Silk Dresses which were made in New York to sell at $22.50 each, are now marked special at $16.50.
Repp Coats, Linen Coats and handsome practical Raw Silk Coats, are selling now, respectively, at $4.25, $5.95 and $15.95.

The Right House will Refund your Return Railroad Fare from Jarvis to Hamilton on a Total Purchase in Any One Day Amounting to $25.00

Fine Mull Waists, worth $2.00 each, selling at only $1.15. Dainty Mull and Persian Lawn Waists, worth $2.75 and $3.00, are now marked at only $2.39.
Summer Fabric Gloves—Tan Silk Gloves, strongly tipped and of elbow length, reduced from $1.25 to 89c, and 27 inch Silk Gloves in black and white, have been reduced from $1.35 to only 99c.
In the Hosiery and Underwear section you will be surprised at the wonderful extent of the assortments and styles and at the very special prices which now prevail—Hosiery at 25c, 35c, 50c up, and Underwear garments at 25c, 45c and 50c are the best values to be obtained today in Canada.

ALL RIGHT HOUSE MERCHANDISE IS FULLY GUARANTEED.

Very Truly Yours,

The Greatest of Nurses.

So feeble is the health of Miss Florence Nightingale, says a London writer, that she has not been informed of the death of King Edward, for fear the shock should prove fatal. To keep her in ignorance is not difficult, since she no longer reads newspapers, and none outside an immediate circle of friends meets her. It was thought that a year ago, when the freedom of the city of London was conferred upon her that the last honors had been paid her in life. That she would reach her ninety-first birthday and receive the congratulations of king was not expected.

The story is told that on one occasion a few years ago after the Crimean War, a number of survivors met at a dinner to "weep over their wounds" and discuss the events and personalities of the struggle. The host suggested that each should write on a slip of paper the name of the person whose services in the war would be longest remembered. When examined, every slip of paper bore the name of Florence Nightingale.

Florence Nightingale was born in the Italian city from which she takes her Christian name, on May 12, 1820. Her father was a man of ancient family and fortune, who, having no sons took a particular delight in giving a classical education to his two daughters, Frances and Florence. They travelled widely and before Florence was ever heard of by the newspaper public she had ascended the Nile to its remotest cataract. She took a keen interest in nursing and went to a famous nursing hospital at Kaiserswerth on the Rhine, where she received a course of instruction.

With other Englishwomen she was horrified by the story the London Times one day printed about the terrible condition of the sick soldiers in the army hospital at Scutari, and it is a coincidence that as she sat at her desk writing a letter to Sidney Herbert, her friend and the Minister of War, volunteering to go to the front, he was at his desk asking her if she would take charge of the Scutari hospital. With Mrs. Bracebridge and thirty eight nurses, Miss Nightingale set out for the front, and arrived on the night before the wounded from Inkerman began to pour in. She made her headquarters in the great barrack hospital, a building containing four miles of corridors. These corridors were already crowded with the sick, the dead and dying. All was chaos; stores of food and medicines were lost or packed under ammunition. Red tape delayed the delivery of such as were at hand, and the trail of the grafting contractor spread over all. The death rate was fifty per cent of the wounded.

Miss Nightingale wrought a revolution in that terrible hospital, and established at Scutari, in one week the first sanitary hospital in the world for wounded soldiers. The lives she saved strengthened the British ranks like the arrival of a fresh army corps. For twenty-four hours at a stretch she was known to remain at her post, and there was no hour of the night when she might not have been seen stealing about the wards, her little lamp in her hand. To accomplish her great work, she sacrificed her own health, she returned to England at the close of the war an invalid. Since then she has lived in retirement, catching hardly a glimpse of the public, that has never lost an opportunity of heaping praise and honor upon her.—From July "Canadian Home Journal."

Watson, Sask., June 26.—Watson depot was struck by lightning on Friday night and all the rooms on the ground floor badly wrecked. The station agent and another man sleeping in the office were both struck and badly burned, but will recover. The scene resembled an explosion.

Cobalt, June 25.—Thirty thousand dollars' worth of ore were stolen from the lucky Godfrey Mine by employees. The ore was stripped from the vein matter and refuse placed in bags. The theft was disclosed upon the arrival of a shipment at a smelter. Detectives have been busy, and arrests will be made to-day.

A complaint has been filed in the United States Circuit Court at New York asking for an investigation into the affairs of the Cobalt Central Mines Company.

An Important Letter From Mr. H. Vineberg, Manufacturer of the Celebrated "Progress Brand Clothing." Mr. Vineberg Writes us as Follows:

Messrs. H. S. Falls Co. Montreal, June 18th, 1910.

DEAR SIRS—As you no doubt are aware we take stock in our factory twice a year, June and December. We have just completed our half yearly stock taking and find we have 97 high class "Progress Brand" Men's Suits on hand. These suits were made up for a customer that does a very high class trade but we regret to say a misfortune has befallen the firm in question and we cannot see our way clear to ship them the suits, as you well know we never carry a stock of line ready-to-wear clothing, our great business consists entirely of goods made to our customer's special order. So here we are with 97 of the finest suits we have handled this season. We scarcely know which of our many customers to offer them to however have decided to do you the good turn and trust you will appreciate it, not a suit in the lot is worth less than $14.00 and a portion of them are $15.00 and $16.00 suits wholesale. We will clear the lot to you at $13.50 per suit. Kindly advise us by return of mail if we shall forward them to you.

Yours very truly,
H. VINEBERG.

We Didn't Wait to Write, We Wired:
"Forward Special,
Nintety-Seven Suits,

The H. S. Falls Co."

We Are Going to Tell You Something.

If you went to the best Manufacturer of Clothing in Canada and placed an order for one thousand suits wholesale you could not buy better suits than these at $14.00, $15.00 and $16.00 spot cash. That means the retail price would be $17.00, $18.50 and $20.00 and there isn't a Clothing Store that sells these high grade suits for less than $17.00, $18.50 and $20.00 and we know some firms that get more than these prices for them.

The Part That Interests You Most Is What Are We Going To Sell Them For.

Saturday Morning,
July 2nd.

These Suits Will Go On Sale, Your Choice
$13.50

And it is one of the best Clothing Bargains ever offered in Canada. They consist of this season's best cloths and styles in fancy worsteds, fine imported tweeds, and Black and Navy English serge. Every suit is made from pure Botany Wool and not a suit is worth less than $17.00. Some of them are $18.50 and $20.00 suits. Your choice commencing Saturday July 2nd $13.50. Sizes 36 to 42 at Falls The One Price Clothier.
