RECIPES

Puff Paste.

Wash all the salt from three-quarters of a pound of butter and work it into a quart of sifted flour. Have all ingredients and utensils very cold. Add a teacupful of ice water and when the pastry is worked to a mass with a wooden spoon turn out upon a floured pastry board and roll into a sheet three-quarters of an inch thick. Roll up and roll out twice more, then roll up again and set in a pan right on the ice for as many hours as you wish before making into pies of tarts or pastry shapes.

Cream Cakes.

Beat the whites of two eggs to a froth and add as much cold water as there were eggs originally; then beat in enough powdered sugar to make a stiff paste. Flavor with vanilla. Remove stones from dates and fill the cavities with the mixture.

Grape Juice Punch.

Put into a bowl the juice of six lemons and two oranges, a quart of grape juice and two cupfuls of sugar, which have been boiled with a little water. Have all the ingredients very cold before mixing, and last of all add one quart of Apollinaris water. Ice water may be substituted. Add slices of orange, pineapple and candied cherries.

Squabs en Casserole.

Singe; truss in good shape and put the birds in a baking pan. Place in a hot oven until browned. Make a sauce of two tablespoonfuls of butter, two of flour and a pint of stock; add a teaspoonful of kitchen bouquet, a chopped onion, a small bay leaf, a third of a teaspoonful of pepper, one scant teaspoonful of salt. Arrange the birds in a casserole, pour over sauce, cover and cook in oven one hour and a half. Serve in the casserole they are baked in.

Lettuce and Grape Fruit Salad.

Cut the grape fruit around the centre in half, separating the meat from the fibrous part with a sharp knife. Select the heart of a crisp head of lettuce, and put two pieces on each plate; over this lay several pieces of the grape fruit; a few cubes of pineapple may be added.

Frozen Apricots.

Cut one can of apricots into small pieces, add one pint of sugar and one quart of water (which have been boiled together 10 minutes), the juice of one lemon and two oranges. When frozen add, if you like, one pint of sweetened whipped cream, measured after whipping. This is delicious without the cream.

Orange Marmalade.

Slice thin and seed a dozen oranges, three lemons and one large grape fruit. Stand in a crock over night, then turn into a preserving kettle and bring slowly to the boil. Simmer until the peel is tender. Pour off the juice and measure it, then return it, with the pulp and peeling, to the fire and add the sugar, allowing a pound of granulated sugar to every pint of juice. Simmer until the skin looks clear and the mixture is jelly-like. Put up in glasses.

Fried Crumpets.

Work together a half-cup each of butter and sugar, add two well-beaten eggs, three tablespoonfuls of cream or rich milk, a teaspoonful of baking powder and flour enough to make a dough that can be rolled out. Roll very thin, cut into long strips, make a slash in the centre of each, turn one end through and boil in hot fat. When done sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Shows Motion of Earth.

Dr. Charles Forbes, of the Department of Physics in Columbia University, has installed in Barnard College the first permanent apparatus for the installation of the Foucault experiment, to show the motion of the earth. Dr. Forbes set up a temporary apparatus for the experiment in St. Paul's Chapel of Columbia University some two years ago, which was described in these columns.

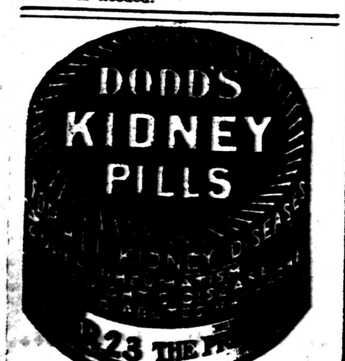
Electric Steam Shovels.

The advantages of an electrical shovel over a steam shovel have recently been portrayed, showing that wherever electricity is available at moderate rates, the electric shovel is much to be preferred. One of the great objections to the steam shovel, says the Scientific American, is the fact that the expenses of a fireman must be paid, and the fuel, as well as the water, have frequently to be carted for a very long distance. Steam must be kept up continuously, despite all delays in operating the shovel, while for the electric shovel the same arguments apply as are made in behalf of electric drive in machine shops, namely, that when the shovel is idle there is no consumption of power, yet the power is ready for instant use whenever it is needed.



"B.-P." AND KING.

How They Talked Over the Boy Scout Movement.

London Daily Mail: Major-General Sir R. S. Baden-Powell, speaking at King's Lynn on the Boy Scout movement, said:

It was only the day before he died that King Edward sent for me to Buckingham Palace to talk over the scheme for the review of the Boy Scouts at Windsor which he had ordered. He entered into the details most fully. He was interested in the movement, and saw its aim almost before anybody else in the land saw it.

At Balmoral last year King Edward took me aside and talked to me for an hour, having evidently studied the whole thing, and being acquainted with its details. He was immensely interested.

When he knew I was about to leave the Army—I do not know how he found out, but he was almost the first person to know about it—he sent for me and said: "I hope it is not true."

When I explained that I could not do two works he said, "You are quite right."

If he had only lived I am perfectly certain he would have done very great things to help us on our way. I have not yet approached our new King, but I am perfectly sure—because he also has spoken to me about it—that he will continue the interest that his royal father took in our movement.

AN UNEXPECTED PLEASURE.

I sat beside the wayside and I hummed
a little tune,
And I wished that I was sailing in a pleasant new balloon,
When all at once an airship came a-floating
to the ground,
And a pleasant little gentleman beside me soon I found.

He smiled a pleasant smile and said:
"Come take a trip with me
Across the land and rivers and the mountains and the sea."
And I said "I do accept your invitation,
Mister Sir,"
So I entered the machine and very soon
he made it stir.

Oh, the reckless little gentleman! I never will forget
The things he did! I haven't quite recovered from them yet;
By way of just beginning, as we rose
into the air,
He pulled a fence along with him and gave me quite a scare,

But that was really nothing to the things
he did as soon
As he was really settled in his airship-car- balloon
You talk of reckless aviators, they're calm and meek as a mill,
Compared to reckless airship runners,
frantic, mad and wild.

He tooped off a chimney and he toppled
down a tree,
He carried off a roof or two as easily as could be,
He set the clouds all running and the
sparrows swiftly fled,
As in the airship-car-balloon he marvellously sped.

And then we took a mountain top and flung it in the air,
A skyscraper we hurried through and
left a tunnel there;
At last I said "Oh, Mister Sir, I very greatly fear
That I had better hurry home—it's rather chilly here."

And when we landed at my house I sank upon the floor
And though I'd never go into an airship any more;
But as he went away I heard the gentleman declare,
"There's always some excitement when you're sailing in the air."

THE HORRORS OF STOMACH TORTURE

INDIGESTION OF A LIFETIME PROMPTLY CURED BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES."

Mrs. J. R. Flock, of London, Ont., for years received the best medical attention that Canada afforded.

Her husband was a prominent physician, yet his skill and that of his colleagues, was of no avail in helping Mrs. Flock.

She writes, "I was a constant martyr to Stomach Weakness all my life and no physician could cure me, but 'Fruit-a-tives' gave me entire relief and I cordially recommend this famous fruit medicine to the public."

"Fruit-a-tives" corrects all disorders of digestion, and is a positive and speedy cure for Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c, or may be obtained from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Rural Free Delivery in the South.

Throughout the mountain districts of the south the mail is carried on horseback. The pouch is about five feet long, divided in two sections and opens in the middle. Half the mail is put in each side of the sack and in this way it is carried on the horse's back.

In the rough mountain sections the work is anything but easy. Where there are no roads it is hard work, riding through storms, fording streams, climbing steep and rocky trails with almost perpendicular cliffs above and below. One misstep means death to horse and rider on the rocks below.

The postmaster is notified to have the mail ready by the tooting of the horn which every mail carrier carries. He blows the horn before he gets to the post office, as a signal to be ready for him, so that there will be no delay in making his trip on time.—Fur News.

Church Built in a Day.

The Central Christian Church of Peoria, Ill., was built in record-breaking time. It took just ten hours all told to complete the structure ready for occupancy. One hundred and ninety men, members of the congregation, started to work at eight o'clock on the morning of May 30, and at six o'clock the evening chimes on other churches throughout town were rung to announce the completion of the building. The Rev. Mr. Turner, pastor of the church, conducted memorial services in the church at night. The material for the building was given by various concerns in Peoria and other cities.—The Christian Herald.

It is estimated that seven thousand children die weekly in New York from bowel complaints mostly caused by the house fly. If there are children in your house use Wilson's Fly Pads freely and persistently, and thus reduce the risk to a minimum.

Such a Bore to Dress.

A belated traveller who was compelled to stay all night in a backwoods cabin down in the Little River country in Oklahoma says that soon after the frugal meal a tall, gaunt youth of 18 and an equally sallow and gaunt girl of 17, both barefooted, took their hats from wooden pegs in the wall and prepared to go out, whereupon the mother, taking her pipe from between her teeth, said, reprovingly:

"Go 'long an' wash your feet, Levi; you and Leoly, both! Hain't you 'shamed to go off to an evenin' party without washin' your feet?"

They obeyed, but as Levi took the washpan from a bench by the door he said with a grumble:

"I'd 'bout as soon stay home from a party as to have to fix up for it."

The Professor Knew.

An absent-minded German professor attached to a university in Washington discovered the other day that he had left his umbrella somewhere. As he had visited three stores, he thought it must be in one of them, so he started back and called at all three in turn.

"No umbrella has been found here," the professor was told in the first store. The German shrugged his shoulders and went out.

At the next store the same response was made; whereupon the professor shrugged his shoulders once more, and went to the third establishment. There he found his umbrella awaiting him.

"I must say," said he to his family, on returning home "they were more honest at the last place than at the other stores.

TALK NICELY.

N. Y. Telephone Co. Sends Abroad a Plea For Forbearance.

The New York Telephone Company, a corporation evidently not wholly soulless, sermonizes as follows in an advertisement recently sent abroad among its subscribers, wherein is a plea for forbearance, concord and gentle speech.

"Do over the telephone as you would face to face. The fact that a line of wire and two shining instruments separate you from the persons with whom you are talking takes none of the sting out of the unkind words.

"Yes, indeed, always remember that a soft answer turneth away wrath. If it should happen occasionally that you are cut off in the middle of a conversation, or you can not hear distinctly or at all, or somebody is reviewing the world's social history while holding the wire, do not take it out on the unfortunate person with whom you are at tempting to converse. Try and contain yourself, keep cool, patient and sweet, be it ever so painful. A quiet demeanor and self-abnegation saves wear and tear on the nerves as well as on the property of the telephone company. Anger, mixed with profanity of any sort, burns out too many fuses."

BRIGHT LITTLE ONES MAKE HOME BRIGHT

Babies that are well, sleep well, eat well and play well. They sleep naturally and wake up good natured. The child that is not rosy-cheeked and playful needs prompt attention for it is not well. A sickly child can be restored to health with a few doses of Baby's Own Tablets, which cure colic, indigestion, constipation, teething troubles and the other disorders from which young children suffer. Mrs. Thos. Whiting, Waterford, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets in my home for some years and would not be without them. I find them just the right medicine for little ones." The Unfashionable Cradle.

Cradles are going out; children are not wearing them any more. People tell us that rocking is unhygienic; babies, according to modern idea, should go to sleep naturally in a stationary, germ-proof bed, with antiseptic pillows and a sanitized rattle. Sentiment may save the cradle for a little while, but sooner or later it will go to the dusty attic along with the hair cloth sofa. Maybe the infant of to-morow will bear up somehow under these accumulated misfortunes, will struggle along somehow to maturity, but what about the artists, the poets, the song writers? What a world of sentiment and melody has been woven around the theme of the mother and the gently rocking cradle! What kind of song will the poor poet of the future be able to make about an enameled iron crib with brass trimmings.

Novel Rodent Exterminator.

A new rat and rabbit exterminator is being tested out in India and Australia. It consists of an outer and inner metal shell, like one small egg in a larger one. In the outer shell is sulphuric acid, in the inner metal egg is dry cyanide of potash. The outer shell is filled with the acid and placed in the rat hole or burrow, and all rat holes are tightly sealed. After an hour or so the acid eats into the cyanide and turns loose a lot of most deadly prussic acid gas.

A Psalm on Still Life.

Tell me not in warehouse numbers,
Storage life is but a dream;
For the soul is dead that slumbers,
And the fowls are not what they seem.

Trusts are real, trusts are earnest,
And the public is their goat;
Frost thou wert to frost returneth,
Ne'er was spoke or table d'hote.

Lives of storage eggs remind us
We can make our lives intense;
And, departing, leave behind us
Curses on false innocence.

Let us then be up and doing
With a heart for any fete;
Still deceiving, still pursuing,
Learn to molder and to wait.

CLOUDS AND THE WEATHER.

Forecasts of Thunderstorms and Hail —Violent Drops in Temperature.

Cloudy weather forecasts made by Dr. A. de Quervain, of Zurich, are of the utmost scientific and practical importance. His deductions are based on the familiar cumulus cloud of warm summer days.

When reaching heights of six or seven miles it becomes a trundle cloud. The high floating top assumes the shape of a fleecy ice needle cloud and extends sideways in anvil shape. The ordinary cumulus cloud undergoes similar transformation at a level of three to four miles, and so does not lead to the formation of thunder clouds, but merely to the production of fleecy clouds.

This sort of cloud can be regarded as a presage of good weather. The veil-shaped hooded clouds have not been sufficiently explained. Often they encompass the top of a quickly rising cumulus cloud and until recently were thought to be instrumental in the production of hail. They are always found to be intimately connected with existing fleecy clouds, and on the other hand presage bad weather, occurring previous to thunderstorms.

Even such relibale presages of thunderstorms are the remarkably delicate variety of fleecy clouds which are mostly found floating about four miles high. On a darker layer they are superposed, delicate white heads. These lofty curly heads, generally in the morning, safely predict a thunderstorm within twenty-four hours. By balloon ascents it was found that the occurrence of these clouds coincides with a violent drop in the temperature.—Chicago Tribune.

National Dish of Canada.

One cannot be long in any hotel or restaurant in Canada without seeing halibut on the bill of fair. In this respect it assumes the position of a national dish.

It is there on Christmas Day and again on Midsummer Day, and there are not many days between these two dates when halibut finds no place on the menu. So plentiful is halibut in the waters of the west coast of Vancouver Island that Mr. Ernest McGaffey on one ocasion watched a few Indians with their crude fishing arrangements catch 21,000 pounds in Clayoquot Sound in one day. When it is remembered that a halibut sometimes weighs as much as 300 pounds perhaps this achievement will lose a tiny part of its glory.—From Canada.

More Heat in Soft Woods.

Contrary to the widespread belief that hard woods give more heat in burning than soft varieties, the scientists at Washington was contending that the greatest heating power is possessed by the wood of the linden tree, which is very soft.

Fir stands next to linden and almost equal to it. Then comes pine, hardly inferior to fir and linden, while hard oak possesses 8 per cent. less heating capacity than linden, and red beach 10 per cent. less.—Fur News.

Death's Terrible Toll.

Congressman Bennett, of New York City, states that the coming report of the Immigration Commission will startle the world with its figures on the killing of workmen in American factories, and especially among workers in factories which are unorganized and unable ot force measures of protection. Rev. Charles H. Stelzle quotes figures showing that 30,000 industrial workers are killed every year; that the railroads alone kill 12,000 and injure 120,000 more. He says the death rate among the poor is 100 per cent. greater than among the rich, and that infant mortality in the laboring class is more than one-third greater than among the employing class.—The Christian Herald.

Little Brother to G. K. C.

There is another Chesterton in the field, who appears to be anxious to turn the world upside down, with his pen for a lever, as the more distinguished bearer of the name. Cecil Chesterton is, in point of fact, the younger brother of the redoubtable "G. K. C." whom he resembles in features, though not in stature.

The younger Chesterton, in addition to being an able writer, is a redhot Socialist, and in his new book, "Party and People," which Alston Rivers is about to publish, he will probably reveal a capacity for treading on the toes of the politically and socially orthodox as pronounced as that of his "big brother" himself.—The Bookseller.

Detecting the Culprit.

"There is a woman in the front of the car that hasn't paid her fare," said the conductor to the man on the rear seat, "but I can't place her."

"Perhaps I can give you a pointer," said the helpful man. "Pick out the woman who fingers her hatpins all the time. That is the latest wrinkle of the female street pirate. Reading her neighbor's newspaper and gazing into futurity are out of date. Everybody got on to those tricks. But the woman who beats her way has to do something to hide her guilt, so she fiddles with her hatpin."

"Maybe you're right," said the conductor. "Anyhow, I'll try."

After a little he reported to the helpful man.

"That worked all right," he said. "She owned up. She said you would pay for her."

"Me!" exclaimed the helpful man. "What have I got to do with it?"

"Everything, apparently. She happened to look back and said she knew you and that it would be all right. There she is now, standing up and nodding at you. Know her?"

"Yes," said the helpful man, weakly. "She is my wife."
