

You can use direct or circulating heat for baking in oven

Suppose you are baking in oven by circulating heat (the usual method) and want to use direct heat. Simply do this: Open the slide in the oven bottom. This exposes the oven burners and brings the flames directly under your pans. This is only one of the several new features you'll find on McClary Gas Ranges this year. Go to our nearest agency and see the white enameled broiler and drip pans, the spring balanced oven and broiler doors, Anti-Rust linings and other new features.

You have your choice of eight different styles of McClary Gas Ranges. Each style can be supplied with or without two burner extension, oven thermometer, water heater, reservoir, high shelf, high closet and canopy top. Can be changed from artificial to natural gas in a few minutes.

THE RIGHT HOUSE
Hamilton's Favorite Shopping Place.

Summer Opening

JUST down the greening lane waits Summer— Summer with its boating, golfing, tennis, holidays at the seaside, in the woods, at the mountains—happy girls in "fluffy things"; cool, lacey, laughing, parasoled, bewitching—brave swains in blues and white; serene, white garbed matrons of nature loveliness making pretty pictures with back grounds of refreshing dark-green bowers in the gardens.

Are You Ready?

May We Help You?
Come to The Right House—to the Annual Exposition of Summer Things, to the great display of Summer ready-to-wear garments of that indescribable tone that we term "Superior"; of materials and accessories that go hand in hand with Summer coolness and to the Men's Section where Summer things smile and nod in anticipation of the happy laughing days to come—to the 67th Annual Summer Opening.

We Have Made More Liberal Changes In Our Refund Fare Plan

IN order to accommodate the thousands of patrons of The Right House who live within 10, 15 or 25 miles of Hamilton, we have decided to make a special Refund Fare offer. You will notice by the following, that even patrons of The Right House who only have to travel 10 miles to reach Hamilton may benefit by this most liberal plan.

We will refund to any patron the amount paid for one round trip railroad, steamboat or town within a radius of 10 miles of Hamilton whose purchases from the Right House shall amount in any one day to at least $8.00.

The amount paid for one round trip fare by any patron of the Right House who comes from within a radius of 15 miles of Hamilton and whose purchases in any one day shall amount to at least $12.50.

Any patron of the Right House who lives within 25 miles of Hamilton will have his or her round trip railroad, steamboat, or trolley fare refunded on purchasing from The Right House in any one day merchandise amounting to $20.00.

The amount paid for one round trip, railroad, steamboat, or trolley fare from any city or town within a radius of thirty-five miles of Hamilton will be refunded to each individual whose purchases from The Right House shall amount to at least the sum of $25.00 in any one day.

A round trip fare will likewise be refunded to any person who comes from a point within forty-five miles and more than thirty-five miles of Hamilton, whose total purchases at The Right House amount to at least $35.00.

Patrons of The Right House who live within seventy-five miles and more than forty-five miles of Hamilton will have the amount of their transportation refunded to them on Right House purchases which amount to at least $50.00.

Any person living within one hundred miles and more than seventy-five miles of Hamilton who purchases at The Right House amount to at least $75.00 will have the amount of his or her transportation refunded.

Realizing What's What.

The United States are waking up to the fact that Canada is fully competent to conserve her natural resources for the use of her own people. Time was when popular opinion in the United States tended to regard Jack Canuck as a hewer of wood and a drawer of water for Uncle Sam. But certain expressions of opinion of a contrary sort that are now continually cropping up in the American press show that this attitude towards Canada is fast giving way. Here is a sample from the American Forestry Journal:

"Canada is measuring her timber resources and preparing to protect them by progressive and drastic measures against exploitation for the benefit of wasteful foreign countries, including her next door neighbor. We cannot look to the north for our salvation. We must husband all our remaining resources and plant trees wherever they can be grown more profitably than other crops, in order that our own future may be assured. This is the only way. Canada has not the resources of her own needs and ours too, and she is sufficiently wide awake and intelligent to guard her own. The only way that our timber resources and Canada's can be made inexhaustible is by the application of the highest scientific knowledge and the broadest common sense."

How Farmers Can Practice Conservation.

Canada, being a nation of farmers, has to pay a very large seed bill each year. Last year our crops called for 33,000,000 bushels of seed grain—wheat, oats and barley, and we are constantly increasing our agricultural acreage. This being so, the economy of sowing good clean seed is at once apparent. The advantages to be derived from it are like the proceeds of a sum of money laid out at compound interest—they are cumulative in their effect and grow in ever increasing ratio. Some years ago a competition was carried on in some 450 places in Canada to see just what actual results of using clean pure seed would be. If we reason what the results obtained from it, we find that our grain yield last year would have been increased by 190,000,000 bushels had clean vigorous seed been sown on every acre under cultivation. Now 190,000,000 bushels of grain would fill 1,500 miles of railway grain cars. It is such a large amount that it is hard for the mind to comprehend, but, at any rate, it goes to show that it would pay our farmers to be particular about the kind of seed they sow.

Did you ever stop to think that it was one thing to talk about people and another thing to have people talk about you. If those of us who use our tongues a little too freely about our neighbors would stop and reflect about the matter and know the great evil that comes from too much talk and tattling, we are sure we would call a halt and gossip no more forever.

Yesterday we were asked if we ever saw a bald headed woman. We answered "No," we never did, nor did we ever see a woman waiting around town in her shirt sleeves with a cigar in her teeth and running into every saloon she saw. We have never seen a woman go fishing with a bottle in her pocket, sit on the damp ground all day and come home drunk at night. Nor have we seen a woman yank off her coat and say she could lick any man in town. God bless her she's not built that way.

That the churches in any community exercise a most potent influence for good is conceded by all except the most rabid or blatant inbred whose egotism and self-conceit blind his mind to the inestimable value of Christianity. But to what extent are the churches valuable in this community? The Gallian teacher said of His disciples: "Ye are the light of the world," "Ye are the salt of the earth." Hence, if all His disciples are the light of the world and the salt of the earth, the logical as well as the scriptural conclusion is that they are the light of the community in which they live. These declarations, however, do not preclude the possibility of the light going out—being hid under a bushel—or the salt losing its saltiness. But certainly no reasonable or fair-minded person would accuse the churches of being wholly composed of uninitiated bands of hypocrites. For it matters not to what extent sin, in its many forms, may prevail the ranks of any church, you will find within its membership, consecrated men and women. And it should be born in mind that it only requires a few of the above-mentioned class to become the light of community.
