Library Meeting at Niagara

The third annual meeting of the Niagara District Library Association opened Friday morning at Niagara Falls. The first session was called to order at 10 o'clock in the hall of the new Public Library building. President Arison of the local Board was compelled to be absent.

The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer. Rev. Mr. Moir presided and Mayor C. E. Doran was called upon for an address of welcome. He greeted the delegates from the towns of Hamilton, Lincoln and Welland. Friday was the first meeting since the first building was erected, he said and referred to Mr. Wm. Dunlop who was instrumental in starting a library in Clinton in 1878 or thereabouts. About two years ago the library board determined on the necessity of a Carnegie Building. About 10,000 books are in the Library at the present time he remarked, and on behalf of the city and the Library board welcomed the delegates.

Rev. Mr. Moir spoke in part as follows: We hold a unique position on the border. Our city is known all over the world. The Library is the people's university and it is doing much for the education of the people and is a very important part in the life of the city.

Paper read by Dr. Geo. B. Snyder of Ridgeway, Ont., on "How we started our Library on Modern Lines." Previous to 1910 our Library books were housed in an unused room of the public school of Ridgeway, which room had from the inception of our library been at our disposal free of all charge. During the summer of 1908 we were notified that on account of the increase of school attendance a new teacher was necessary, and the school room then used for Public Library would be required for school purposes. The crisis had come, as it comes in every enterprise at one time or another, and we had to face it. We had then to go to our old boom our library or sit still and see it go to pieces. The latter seemed the easier course. The board discussed the matter among themselves and also among the townspeople. All were unanimous that it would be better to have better library conditions. A good wanted to close up the institution, but most of us were pessimistic as to our ability to secure what we needed. We are incorporated village of 800 population and only able, so far, to secure an annual grant of $25 from our Township Council.

About that time the 1908 Niagara Library Institute was held and Mr. Wm. Collard and Dr. G. B. Snyder was sent as delegates to the Institute. They attended and returned with more enthusiasm. The board met, heard their report, and discussed the needs of a new library building, and new system of cataloging and lending the books. Many plans were suggested and Mr. Andrew Carnegie was asked for assistance, and he answered us as follows: "Mr. Carnegie only includes in his field the erection of Free Public Library Buildings where such are needed. He does not think that a village of 800 needs a special library building, but that accommodation might be rented to serve the purpose." This, instead of hurrying our cause, helped us; for it made us somewhat indignant, and we decided there and then to have a new library building of some kind if the board had to pay for it themselves. That point decided, the ball began to roll more easily. The board decided it would be wise to call a public meeting and lay the whole matter before the people who were to use the library. Accordingly we got notice of the meeting, in the local papers; also talked up the matter with as many as we could in the meantime. At the public meeting about 30 people were present, and the whole matter was gone into and every body began to get interested. Committees, including members of the board and also the general public, were appointed to investigate certain points and report at a public meeting to be held a couple of weeks later.

The chairman of each committee was a member of the library board. One committee was to draft rough plans and present rough estimates of the cost of buildings that might suit our purposes. Another committee was to find out as well as they could what money could likely be raised by subscription, and another was to look up suitable location. During the week the investigation of these matters increased the interest, and a good sized and enthusiastic meeting was held. The committee were also enthusiastic. The property committee reported that a gentleman had offered a beautiful piece of property in the best part of the village and would give the deed of the land to the Public Library. This we valued at at least $100 or $150. All other suggestions were passed over and this offer accepted at once. The money committee reported that a number of $50 subscriptions could be obtained, and a large number of $25, and, indeed nearly everyone was willing to help in some way. Many offered to subscribe $20, $10 or $5 in car-penter work, labor, teaming etc. Then the committee on plans and estimates, showed us some plans and estimated costs. It was decided at that meeting to build a new library on the lot offered free and the construction was commenced immediately, this was about Dec. 1st, 1908.

A subscription committee was appointed and they raised $900. The library books were then recatalogued, and a new recording system for loaning out the books. Miss Schmidt was engaged to do the work. A small one drawer shelf list cabinet for the shelf, also a six drawer card cabinet was secured and about 1600 books recatalogued were placed on the shelves. The size of our building was 36x20 feet, of bungalow type and cost us when complete, about $900.

Heard Sermon by Phone

Welland, Ont., Oct. 12.—The Welland County telephone was a means of transmitting a sermon delivered in St. Paul's Episcopal church on Sunday to the home of Mrs. James Stanton, who is in her 93rd year, and lives a mile and a half from the church. The equipment in the church consists of a double transmitter placed on the pulpit, one on each reading desk. The sermon and song were plainly heard by the occupants of Mrs. Stanton's room. Mrs. Stanton is an invalid, and has not been to church for nineteen years.

According to the Provincial Secretary's Department, there were in use in Ontario in 1909 no less than 4,479 automobiles. In June this year 305 new cars were sold in Ontario; so that it is reasonably certain that there are now well over 5,000 in the Province. If the price averages $2,000 each will represent an investment of $10,000,000 of which probably $5,000,000 is profit to trade.
