THE CONFERENCE

Five Years' Residence For Immigrants Before They Get the Franchise.

Importance of Maintenance of the Christian Sabbath.

Victoria, B. C., despatch says: About sixty members saw the close of the Methodist General Conference last night and a tired lot of men filed out of the church shortly before midnight. For the last three or four days the Conference has had a strenuous time, remaining in session from 8:30 in the morning until after 10 at night. An immense amount of business has been done towards the end. Reports were put through with scarcely any discussion. Several matters which would have provoked debate if introduced in an earlier part of the meeting were accepted unanimously.

The report on the sociological question recommended that persons coming into Canada from foreign lands shall not be naturalized unless they have been in the country for a period of five years, in order that more time be given for the acquisition of knowledge of the institutions and ideas of our people. It is desirable that enfranchisement should not take place without some test being applied as to the education and intelligence of the person seeking that privilege.

The Sunday School and Epworth League Committee recommended that the work of the Epworth League be carried on in four departments: (1) Christian endeavor; (2) missionary; (3) literary and social; and (4) citizenship. The last-named is a new departure, with the object of teaching the love of country, encouraging the study of Canadian history, promoting patriotic services, and investigating Provincial and Dominion questions. The active members' pledge has been simplified, and the associate members' pledge removed.

The conference approved the approval of the Lord's Day act, and declared that the very life of the church depends upon the maintenance of the Christian Sabbath in all its sacred relations. It was decided to make an earnest effort to raise one hundred thousand dollars for the Church and Parsonage Aid Society. Mr. John L. Lake spoke of the great needs of the western conference, and urged a liberal response. Dr. Carman closed the Conference with prayer.

BADEN-POWELL ON THE SCOUTS

Scout Movement Will Aid in Building Canadian Nation.

Train Youth in Character by Methods He Likes.

Canadian and Empire Clubs Combine to Give Chief Scout Luncheon.

Representative business men and educationists had an opportunity of hearing an explanation of the Boy Scout movement and the principles underlying it from Sir Robert S. Baden-Powell, its Chief Scout and founder, at the luncheon given by the Canadian and Empire Clubs jointly at McConkey's, yesterday. The audience numbered at least six hundred, and it was drawn, as the speaker declared at the beginning of his address, from the very classes of the community whom he wished to interest in his plan for the training of boys.

"I have come here with a fad of my own," declared Sir Robert, when the cheers which greeted him had subsided. He proposed to sketch the system of training which he advocated, to point out the need for it and to discuss the possibilities for its development in Canada. The frontiersmen engaged in the opening up of a new country, the men who were the best type of manhood, were held up as ideals before the boys. The young scouts were taught all the attributes of the frontiersman which made for good characters and good citizenship.

"Whether there is need for this movement in your country is for you to decide," said the Chief Scout, "an Englishman there are many boys drifting toward the parting of the ways where they must decide to be workers or shirkers. In this country you may not suffer from the diseases of unemployment and underemployment. Your boys have self-reliance and independence. The only danger is that they may get too much of them. (Laughter.) They want discipline and civility. But there is another point which will appeal to you as Canadians. You are engaged in making a great nation and naturally you have to employ a great many ingredients; to get people for your country you have to take them from many sources, from many nationalities. And you want to weld them together by some means and to make them all akin. This scout movement brings the boys together in a manner which we had not foreseen when it was started. The boys belong to a great brotherhood all over the world, no matter what their nationality, their religion or their standing in life. If you can spread this movement among all your boyhood it will have a great effect in making a nation."

Sir Robert indicated the way in which the idea of becoming a scout appealed to the young boys. Once enrolled in a troop he learned the elements of scouting and woodcraft. He was taught many handicrafts, and acquired to earn money to purchase his uniform. The organization of the movement included a council in each city or province, an association of men interested in the training of boys, the scoutmasters and the units of eight boys under a boy leader, who thus learned to command others. The scout movement did not take the place of the parent or the pastor in the religious instruction of the boy, although every scout was required to do one meritorious act each day. Neither did the scout interfere with the school movement, although the boys learned many things which would go toward making them good soldiers if they ever joined the defense forces of their country. Scoutmasters were permitted to specialize in training their troops, and in many cases sea scouts had been organized. All that is needed is an old boat or an open Toronto bay, and if any one of you has one he will know how to utilize it."

"I only ask you to consider how the movement will benefit the country and the Empire," said Sir Robert, "and to give it your encouragement. I hope you will see in it a chance to build up the character of your rising generation and to strengthen the bonds of Empire."

Mr. J. E. Mackay, President of the Canadian Club, presided. Mr. J. C. Hopkings, President of the Empire Club, moved a vote of thanks to the Chief Scout, which was seconded by Sir Edmund Walker.

FIRST GIRL GUIDE PATROL. A number of North Toronto young ladies met at the Progress office and, under the instruction of Mr. A. Brightwell, scoutmaster, and Miss Alice Brightwell, the only girl guide in Canada, organized a patrol of the girl guides. The young ladies chose the name of "The Maple Leaf Patrol of Girl Guides of Canada, No. 1." The following officers were selected: Miss Alice Brightwell, Patrol Leader; Miss Pearl Leschke, Patrol Leader; Miss Kathleen Trant, Corporal; Miss Della Box, Secretary.

Suffocated in Pulp. Ottawa despatch: With several fellow-laborers standing within a few feet of him, Joseph Bergeron, aged 18, was killed this morning in one of the big paper machines at the E. B. Eddy plant. Bergeron, who was employed in No. 1 mill, was required to look after the screen on which the paper rolls. In some manner he became caught in the machinery, and was drawn in the revolving maw, submerged in pulp, and suffocated.

TO THE PALE. Expulsion of Jews Continues in Small Scale at Kiev.

Kiev, Russia, Sept. 5.—The expulsion of Jews who must return to the restricted districts set apart for them by law, continues on a small scale. A daily average of fifteen persons receive a preliminary notice to depart within a stated period. About 12 persons are peremptorily expelled every day.

From July 30 to August 29, inclusive, a total of 794 persons were sent away from Kiev or ordered to leave the city. During the same period 336 Jews were expelled from Solomenka and Demifka, suburbs.

NUNS ALARMED

Montreal Rumor That Hotel Dieu is to be Blown Up.

Police Will be on Watch While Sacrament is Deposited There.

Montreal despatch: A story was circulated here yesterday to the effect that the Hotel Dieu was to be blown up when the Sacrament was deposited there. The nuns at Hotel Dieu, alarmed by these rumors, communicated them to the police, and a strict watch will be kept by private detectives on the hospital while the repository is guarded during the night.

Preparations for the parade are nearing completion, although to-day's heavy rain will necessitate much of the decorating being done a second time. The costumes to be worn by the Cardinals and higher Church dignitaries are very elaborate. All these habits have been specially made in Canada for the occasion and are of gold cloth, costing $5,600. The chasuble of gold cloth, decorated with maple leaves, has a painting at the back representing the union of the Church and the State, with these words: "Quod Deus conjunxit homo non separet" (man should not separate what God has united). At the bottom are the coats of arms of the Pope and the Archbishop of Montreal.

The Tribunal, preparatory to the Congress, will open tomorrow evening at St. Patrick's. Father Ethelbert will be the preacher. Both men and women will be admitted to the service.

Bishop Rumeau, of Angers, France, who is here for the Eugenic Congress, stated in an interview to-day that the Roman Catholic Church had made more real and profitable progress since the separation than she had done for a hundred years before. The French Government, he said, in its desire to persecute the Church, had really given her liberty. There was at present a religious awakening in the republic, and the young men of France were deserting Freemasonry and flocking to the old faith.

HIT BY BULLET.

Charlotte-town Woman Dangerously Wounded at Summerside.

Charlotte-town, P. E. I., Sept. 5.—This afternoon Mrs. Robert Weaver, aged 60, of East Boston, was accidentally shot while in a motor-car on Summerside harbor with Roy Holman and wife, whom she was visiting, and John McKay and wife. While near the high-house a report was heard from the rifle range, and forward into Mr. McKay's arms, struck by a bullet which entered the small of her back, near the spine, passed through her body, and penetrated the side of the chest. She was struck back to the town, about a mile away, in an unconscious condition. Her condition is critical, but her doctors are hopeful. A party of fifteen men were practising all day, and as there was no stop-butt, bullets flew over the water. Complaints have previously been made of stray bullets coming dangerously near vessels, and this accident will no doubt result in a change in the location of the rifle ranges. It is not known who fired the shot.
