We Are The Exclusive Agents For The Maish Comforters

EVER ON THE ALERT TO BRING TO THE PEOPLE OF HAMILTON and vicinity the very best fabrics and furnishings that man can make. The Right House has succeeded in securing the Hamilton agency for the famous MAISH COMFORTERS that have "warmth without weight" the Comforters that make sound sleep in cold, frosty air a possibility, the Comforters that are filled with laminated cotton down, the filling which when put away for a season, does not need moth balls or camphor.

Maish Comforters are so like swansdown that the difference is hardly appreciable except in the matter of cost. Maish Comforters will not pack down or mat, they are thick and lofty, luxuriously and wonderfully light in weight. There is nothing with which to compare them at the price. Any salesperson in the bed section on the third floor will be glad to show you how a Maish Comforter which has been pressed slightly through packing can be gently shaken and placed in the sun to bring back the wonderful loftiness and springiness of this remarkable bed cover.

We have Maish Laminated Cotton Down Comforters in all the new patterns and sizes. Maish Comforters are covered with Maisaline, Maisateen Maisilk. The prices are $1.90, $3.35, $4.50 and $7.75.

Orders taken for hardwood floors and interior decorating.

A very pretty wedding took place at Christ Church on Wednesday, Sept. 7th, when Miss Noble, eldest daughter of J. C. Howey was united in marriage with Harvey Ross of Jarvis. Promptly at 2.30 the bride entered the church on the arm of her father. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Leske, under an arch of evergreens, trimmed with pink and white asters. Miss Kate Ross played the wedding march. The bride wore white point d'espre, trimmed with baby Irish lace and white satin ribbon, over white tulle, and a white hat to match. After the ceremony the guests proceeded to the bride's home where the wedding dinner was served. The decorations throughout were pink and white. The groom's gift to the bride was a Roman gold brooch set with brilliants and a bracelet set with pearls. The bride's going-away costume was a black tailored suit and white silk waist with hat to match. The happy couple left on the evening train for Toronto.
