STUFFED PEACHES.

Six dozen large, freestone peaches, one-half pound seeded raisins, one pint bottle maraschino cherries, chopped, onehalf cup citron, enopped fine, one-half cup candied orange peel, chopped fine, one-half cup almonds, chopped fine, three pounds brown sugar, three cups vinegar, two cups water, one lemon peel, cut in fine strips, stick cinnamon, cloves to taste. Scald the peaches in boiling water and remove the skins. With a sharp knife split the peaches enough to remove the pits, taking care to keep them as nearly whole as possible. Make a filling, using the raisins, cherries, citron, or post free. Harmful invisions and short of price. ing, using the raisins, cherries, citron, orange peel and almonds. With this mixture fill the peaches. Then with a strong thread and needle sew up the peaches. Make a syrup of the sugar, vinegar, water, lemon peel and spices. Then cook the peaches in the syrup until they can be pierced with a straw, taking care to cook a few at a time. Now place them in jars, boil the syrup for five minutes and pour, boiling hot, in the jars. Seal and let stand two weeks before ready to use.

SQUASH PUFF.

Press dry cooked summer squash through a sieve. To one and one-half pints of squash add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one-fourth cup of milk, one-half teaspoonful salt and one-fourth teaspoonful pepper and two beaten egg yolks. Mix thoroughly; fold in two beaten egg whites and turn into a buttered mould. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in the oven until centre is firm. Serve turned from the mould, accompanied by a rich cream sauce. POTATO CHIPS.

Wash the potatoes clean, part and slice with a potato slicer very thin, throw into cold water long enough to take out some of the starch; then wipe dry and drop into boiling lard a few pieces at a time. Be sure and keep the lard boiling. As soon as the potatoes are of a clear golden brown skim them out, drain in a colander or sieve and serve hot.

GIVING ONE'S SELF.

We honor the soldier because he gives himself. It is not the money he contributes to the treasury of his country, nor the genius with which he serves his generation; but he gives himself. Jesus gave Himself. There is one man whose name is often mentioned now among Christian workers, although he is not a bishop, nor a millionaire, nor does he hold any office in church or state. But whenever his name is mentioned it is with the highest respect. He is a cultured, intelligent physician, who has gone away to Labrador to bury himself among the ice and snows of that inhospitable coast, for the sake of the Eskimos and fishermen of that barren region. Why should an educated, cultivated, capable man throw away his life for such an ignorant people? What can he hope to gain? He is not after gain, but seeking a profitable investment of his life. He gave himself.

So also David Livingstone went to Africa and buried himself in that dark missionaries, 982 physicians, 2,503 men wilderness, and for many months he was lay missionaries, 5,406 married women. lost to civilization. He was living, toiling, praying, serving there among ignor-ant and benighted barbarians. Why ant and benighted barbarians. should such a man throw away his life upon a people so far beneath him, a people who could not understand the meaning of his mission nor appreciate the value of his sacrifice? What could he hope to gain there? He was not seeking gain, but an opportunity to invest his life. It was a profitable investment, far more profitable than that made by the self-centred man who seeks the best chance to make millions or to become famous. He gave himself.

Do we understand what we say when we sing, "Here, Lord, I give myself away?"—Selected.

Death After a Scratch

Morris Quatzam, an eleven-year-old Windsor boy, fell off his bicycle and scratched his wrist. He thought nothing of the injury, but blood poison set in and he is dead.

Such incidents as these-by no means i.frequent-ought to make people realize the danger that may lie even in the smallest flesh wound.

Take a simple illustration. knife, a rusty needle, a splinter of dirty wood, a barbed wire fence, or a thorn, scratches the hand, the latter is inoculated with germs, of which the air about us is full. Directly these germs are introduced through the breach in the skin, a battle royal ensues between them, and certain organisms in our blood.

The way to avoid serious results to cleanse the wound and apply Zambuk. Zam-kuk is a powerful, yet pain-less germ-killer, and when applied to the broken skin is absorbed into the tissue, instantly destroying the germs that spread disease and inflammation.

As soon as applied to a sore or a cut Zam-Buk stops the pain and smarting. That is why it is so popular with children.

The flesh thus soothed and purified, the wound is made perfectly healthy.

the wound is made perfectly healthy, and all poison and cause of festering removed. Having done this, Zam-Buk removed. Having done this, Zam-Buk then proceeds to heal the wound or sore, and a new healthy tissue is in a quick, painless and perfect man-

Sensational Air Race.

What promises to provide the most sensational performance yet attempted by airmen is the flight proposed in connection with the Milan aviation meeting, which opens on September 18. It is the feat of making a trip across the Alps, and three prizes of $14.000, $4,000 and $2,000 are offered to successful competitors.

Nominally the distance to be covered is only 95 miles, but the aeros planes in the course of their journey will have to fly over mountains exceeding 6,000 feet in height. No flying by night will be allowed and a maximum of 24 hours will be allowed for the journey. The race will start from Brigue, on the Swiss side of the Alps, and end at Milan.

FISHERIES DECISION.

(Buffalo Express.)

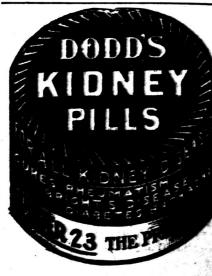

The decision of the Newfoundland fisheries dispute by The Hague tribunal appears to be rather more favorable to Great Britain than to the United States. although this country won the greate: number of the points submitted. The most important point, however, was whether the three-mile limit should be measured from the nearest land or from headland to headland across the entrances to bays. It was over this question that the most trouble has occurred between American fishermen and the Newfoundland authorities. The court sustains the British contention. The minor points won by the Americans embody some important concessions, but they hardly outweigh the loss of the right to fish within bays. However, the matter was fairly presented, fairly argued and it would be unworthy of this country to make any complaint over the decision. It is, at least, a cause for congratulation that the old quarrel has been settled at last and that both sides fully know their

GIRL READS TO CIGAR MAKERS.

A Cuban Custom Introduced Into a Chicago Factory.

Miss Ethel Vipon has the distinction of being what is declared to be the first woman reader to be emploved in a cigar factory in Chicago. Following the custom in cigar shops in Cuba and in many other parts of the world M. Newlander, proprietor of a cigar making company, has em-ployed Miss Vipon to read to the men in working hours from the newspapers, popular works of fiction and standard books of different kinds. According to the proprietor, the men like the plan and are able to make more cigars than before the custom was established

"It serves to break the monotony of making cigars," explained Mr. New-lander to-day, "and it improves the efficiency of the workers. Incidentally, it is a means of educating the. men also.

Miss Vipon arrives in the morning as early as do the men. When the latter start their work she takes her seat at a table and begins her reading. Often the first story is the account of a baseball game. Then follows the news of the day and fiction or a magazine article.
"I like the work," said Miss Vipon, whose weekly income from her reading consists of $3 from the firm and 25 cents from each worker, "though it sometimes affects my throat a little. On the whole, however, it is pleasing."—From the Chicago Daily News.

Another remarkable alloy has appeared in Germany, called Ruebel bronze, after its inventor, Walter Reubel. Its main ingredient is magnetism to which zinc, copper and alluminum are added. It is a wise plan for all horse owners to keep some well known, tried remedy on the stable shelf.

Horse flesh is heir to a good many allments. Many of them are trivial if treated properly. Most of them can be cured without the aid of a veterinary surgeon, if only the owner has some little knowledge of horses and the remedy is at hand. There will be cuts and sprains and lameness, an occasional sheep of lord or a curb or splint will developt there will be swellings, abnormal bony growths, etc. These come unexpectedly growths, etc. These come unexpectedly and surely, often without any apparent cause.
