BABY'S SPLENDED HEALTH

Mrs. R. Yates, Montreal, Que. writs: "Baby's splendid health was obtained through the use of Baby's Own Tablets. They are a grand medicine for constipation, as their action is easy and does not give baby pain. I would recommend them to all mothers: no one should be without them who have young children in the house." This testimony is similar to thousands of others sent us by grateful mothers. Every mother who has ever used the Tablets for her little ones will tell you they are the very best medicine in the world. They not only cure the ills of the little ones, but they make them grow happy and strong. The Tablets can be given to even the youngest babe with absolute safety as they are sold under the guarantee of a government analyst to contain no opiate or other harmful drug. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good, Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville.

TEACHING THE IMMIGRANT.

(Brantford Expositor.)

Ideal Men says that an intensely interesting feature of the immigration conference held in Toronto recently was the demonstration, "How a class of foreigners might be taught." Ten Russians and Macedonians, who did not understand a word of English, were ushered into the room. Dr. Roberts announced to the conference that he was going to teach them them a primary lesson, entitled, "Getting Up in the Morning." The teacher stood up before the class of foreigners, shut his eyes, yawned, stretched himself, and said, "I wake from sleep," the class pronounced these words after him. Then the teacher went on and repeated over and over to them these sentences. It is 6 o'clock.

must get up. I throw back the clothes. get out of bed. put on my pants. wash myself. comb my hair.

put on my collar and necktie. put on my vest and coat. open the door of my bedroom. I go down stairs.

In about 20 minutes Dr. Roberts had them all telling the story above quite clearly, and the delegates were all assured that they understood what they were saying. The incident proves the importance of having foreigners taught manner by teachers who have special qualifications for the work. In Ontario and probably elsewhere the work might with advantage be grafted on the duties of the department of education.

Some pessimists constantly dwell on the fact that beef and pork are outrageously high. Why don't they look on the bright side human flesh is selling at very low figures. Note these market reports from

ON ISSUING INVITATIONS.

How They Should Read in Order to Accord With Good Form. The subject of invitations is one of general interest. First and foremost is the doubt as to when invitations should be issued in the names of the huspand and wife, or when in the name of the wife only. Practically speaking, says the Queen, there are out few occasions when the former would be correct according to ettquette. dinner invitation should be issued in the names of husband and wife. Thus when writing in the third person the note should run as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. A. request the pleasure of Capt and Mrs. is a company at dinner on Wednesday, the 21st, at a quarter to eight o'clock." This is a strictly formal invitation and only employed when the acquaintance is of the slightest. The answers to invitations so worded are 'likewise given in the names of husband and wife in this wise: "Capt and Mrs. B. have much pleasure in accepting Mr. and Mrsh. A.'s kind invitation to dine with them on Wednesday, the 21st."

The refusal should also be worded in the oint names of husband and wife, thus: joint names of husband and wife, thus:
"Capt. and Mrs. B. much regret that a brevious engagement will prevent their having the pleasure of dining with Mr.
and Mrs. A. on Wednesday, the 21st."
If a previous engagement cannot be pleaded the words "unable to accept"
should be substituted.
Invitations to dinner are more often tested in the first person than in the issued in the first person than in the third, and here again husband and wife join in them, the form being as follows with variations according to the friendship existing between the writers and the recipients of the notes: Dear Mrs. B.: It will give us much pleasure if you and Capt. B. will dine with us on Wednesday, the 21st at a quarter to eight.

Capt. B. will dine with us on Wednesday, the 21st, at a quarter to eight."

If on less formal terms: Dear Mrs. B: It would give my husband and myself much pleasure if you and Capt B. would dine with us on Wednesday, the 21st, at a quarter to eight." The husband's name should be referred to by the wife in this manner and not as Mr. A. This in this manner and not as Mr. A. This is a question which perplexes many when giving invitations.

The answers to the above invitations The answers to the above invitations should be as follows: Dear Mrs. A.: My husband and myself have much pleasure in accepting your kind invitation to dine with you on Wednesday, the 21st." or "It will give us pleasure to dine with you," &c.: or, more friendly still, "We shall be delighted to dine with you,"

Refusals vary accordingly, and run in this groove: "Dear Mrs. A.: My hus-band and I much regret that we cannot dining with you on Wednesday the 2ist;" or "Dear Mr.

A.: We are ever so sorry we cannot accept your kind invitation to dinner on Wednesday, the 2ist, but—," and here should follow the nature of the excuse.

Dinner cards of invitations, acceptances and refusal are chiefly in use in town in ultra sets and in official sets, but seldom in general society and in country neighborhoods. The form is in the third person as regards the issue of the in-vitation, the acceptance and the refusal also, as given in the notes of the invita-tion written in the third person with a slight variation.

Wedding invitations are issued in the names of husband and wife, and are invariably written in the third person; enly under exceptional circumstances are the y issued in the first person—in the case of very quiet weddings, for instance, when only the immediate relatives are invited, when the first person would be employed in the construction of the notes. The form should be as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. A. request the pleasure of "Mr. and Mrs. A. request the pleasure of Capt. and Mrs. B.'s company at the marriage of their daughter, Frances with Mr. Edward C., at St. John's Church, on Tuesday, December 17,, at 2.30 o'clock, and afterward at The Elms," & "R.S.

The reply to the above is also written in the third person, thus: "Capt. and Mrs. B. have much pleasure in accepting Mr. and Mrs. A.'s invitation to the ing Mr. and Mrs. A.'s invitation to the marriage of their daughter with Mr. Edward C. on Tuesday, December, 17."
When the recipients of the invitation are on very intimate terms with the giver thereof the answer in convenience. are on very intimate terms with the giver thereof the answer is occasionally written in the first person, and runs as follows: "Dear Mrs. A.—Many thanks for your kind invitation to be present at the marriage of your daughter Frances, on December 17. My husband and I have much pleasure in accepting it."

In the case of refusal the not should In the case of refusal the not should un: "My husband and I very much regret that we are unable to accept it."

It should be borne in mind that although invitations are issued in the third berson either by cards or notes they may be replied to in the first person if friendship and intimacy authoriez it being done. The giver of the invitations issues them probably by fifties and over, but the receiver of the same is only called upon to write one note of acceptance or refusal to the said invitation. This disposes in a measure of the said invitation.

or refusal to the said invitation. This disposes in a measure as to how the replies should be worded.

Invitations to a garden party given by a Bishop and his wife are also issued in the third person and in the names of both husband and wife, and replied to the stike manner.

both nusband and wife, and replied to in a like manner.

Now and then invitations to a coming of age dance of an eldest son, or of an eldest daughter are issued in the names of both parents, as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. C. request the honor or pleasure of Capt. and Mrs. B.'s company at a dance to be held at the Town Hall, on him—only support of an old mohter.

Invitations to luncheon or to afternoon lavitations to luncheon or to afternoon tea are written in the first person and in the name of the hostess only and are seplied to in the first person also. In the case of an official luncheon or semi-of-ficial luncheon being given the invitations are issued in the names of husband and wife but only in such an instance. wife, but only in such an instance. It may be here mentioned that when function is to take place at a town hall or assembly rooms a home cards may be used and the invitations may run: "Mrs. A. At-home," although it is a sort of a figure of speech, but it implies that she is at home to her friends and acquaintances on the after noon or evening in uestion, although she is not receiving the mat her own home. Yet another occasion should be mentioned in the list of invitations issued in names of husband and wife, viz:..

that of a silver wedding, the invitations to which are issued as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. A. request the pleasure of Capt, and Mrs. B.'s company, on Wednesday, and Mrs. B.'s company, on Wednesday, the 23nd inst., to celebrate their wedding," or "Mr. and Mrs. A. ### Every Woman Keeks Them

With constantly aching backs, weary dragging-down pains, dizzy and nervous headaches, women have a hard burden to carry. It is wise for every woman to fortify herself against those derangements which are present when extra demands are made upon the system by Nature's laws. No better remedy exist for woman's peculiar ailments than DR HAMILTON'S PILLS, which possess tonic properties that act upon the pro-per organs at the proper time. To prevent headache, to overcome dragging weariness, backache, nervousness and pallor—to look well, sleep well, eat well and enjoy the manifold blessings of sound, regular health, every girl and woman should regulate her system by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, deal ers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston,

WOMAN MAYORS.

Oldham, England, has eleated a wo man Mayor, the third English town to depart thus from tradition. Her installation was held in the large town hall, though a small room has previously served on such occasions. When she entered the vast throng sprang to their feet and cheered and clapped interminably. Mrs. Lees, the new Mayor, made a speech, and the hall "echoed with delighted laughter," for she is very keen and witty. "She seemed," said one re-porter, "like the mother of a great familv before whom her children rise up and call her blessed." She is described as "a tall, dignified woman, with calm. beautiful, humorous face, crowned with white hair." A score or more of small towns in Kansas have woman Mayors, several of whom have been reelected term after term.—The Christian Herald.

MILD WINTER IN FAR NORTH. A letter received yesterday from Norway House, Keewatin district, states way House, Keewatin district, states that in the experience of the oldest inhabitant of that little far away colony never have they witnessed such a mild December.

The outlook for another big season's catch of fer does not look any too promising on account of this. Very few of the Indians who had just returned from their fall hunt brought in anything near the quantity of fur they did this time last year. The Hudson Bay Company had offered extra inducements to the hunters for ermine skins, which are in big demand for the coronation to be held in London next June. From present prospects the company, it is stated, doubt being able to supply much more than 50 per cent. of the huge order they

PIANO SUPPORT.

Charles Wark, a man of youthful appearance. slight in build compared with the woman, and gray as to hair, was at the piano. He understands perfectly how best to accompany the prime donna. He knows what volume is required, when shading is desirable and how much of it, and he follows every motion of the singer to detect her next requirement in the matter of piano support. He not only knows these things, but he does them. That is why he is such an excellent accompanist. He wore evening clothes. The piane was finished in black, one of the low concert type of instrument, with a little outward turn, on the top of which Madame Jomelli gracefully rested an arm occasionally. Only One-Tenth of the Population

Said to be of Unmixed Descent. The population of the United States may be classified thus: Natives of unmixed descent, 1-10; negroes, 1-10; natives of foreign parentage, 1-10; natives of naturalized parents, 6-10; aliens, 1-10. The original American stock was English, with a smattering of Scotch and Irish, more of Dutch and a little French and Scandinavian. The proportion of any of these strains in the American of to-day in unbroken descent from before the War of the Revolution will determine his approximation to a purely blood standard of American nativity The preponderance of population is of whites having one of more of these strains in their blood, the majority of such being able to trace descent by one and the other to original settlers.

Since 1820 over 29,000,000 aliens have immigrated to this country, the vast majority of whom never returned to their native land. But the intermixture of immigrants with natives and their descendants was negligible as a factor in census figures until after the War of the Rebellion. Until that time the population was counted as natives, colored and foreign born. In the ninth census (1870) the classification of native whites gave place to native whites of native parentage and included the descendants of all white persons born in the United States indiscriminately.

Of the 28,000,000 aliens who have migrated to this country one-fourth came prior to the war of 1861-63. And of the 21,000,000 who have landed since that period over one-half arrived during the ast fifteen years. Up then to 1895 the major part of the immigration was from the British Isles, Ireland principally, German and Scandinavia, with a small but steady stream from France and Switzerland and scattering groups from most other European countries. Since that year the arrivals from those countries, excepting Scandinavia have greatly decreased and the bulk of immigration has been from Italy, Austria-Hungary and Russia, and chiefly from the least advanced portions of those domains—the Russian Jew, the southern Italian, Lithuanian, Maygar, Pole and Slovak, with many Greeks and Japanese and even Mexicans.—From the Circle.

THE SNOW BLANKET.

The value of a mantle of snow in protecting vegetation in the fields in winter is fully understood in farming districts, and the cause of the protective effect of the snow has been the subject of scientific inquiry in Germany. In that country the observations on the thermal properties of snow has disclosed the fact that, the looser the snow, greater its power to protect the ground beneath from the effects of external changes of temperature. Snow generalally offers about four times as much resistance to such changes as a sheet of ice of the same thickness offers. When snow becomes closely packed, therefore, it is less effective as a protection to plant life than when it lies loosely upon the surface. Other experiments have shown that while a blanket of snow protects the ground beneath from the chilling effects of the winter atmosphere, yet the surface of the snow itself, especially in clear weather, is colder than the air, so that snow tends to lower the temperature of the atmosphere, and where broad areas of country, or extensive mountain slopes are covered by it, important climatic conditions may be produced by the influence of the snow.

A MARAT PRESCRIPTION.

Whether Marat of the Terror was a veterinary surgeon or a fashionable physician is a point which historians have earnestly debated. Some light is thrown upon it by the memoirs, just published, of the Papal Envoy of the period, who was one of his patients, and reports as "He prescribed for me some medicine which would have killed me if the celebrated chemist of the Rue Jacob had been willing to give it to me. 'I see well enough,' he said, 'this is no medicine for you: it is medicine for a horse. I recognize the doctor's signature; he is mad.' Apparently Marat had mistaken me for one of his patients at the stable at which he was a physician."-Westminster Gazette.
